Summer Session Streamlined and Tuned to War

Special summer courses especially designed to fit the needs of war plant workers and army officer candidates were included in the curriculum of the annual Centenary college summer session which began June 1.

The courses are so arranged that a full year's work may be completed by Aug. 1. Several courses that are not usually offered during the summer have been scheduled for this session in order that the college may assist in meeting the demand for trained workers in war industries.

For this purpose, a wide selection of courses will be offered in commerce, chemistry, engineering, mathematics and physics. Pre-medical courses are also being stressed. By starting work in a giving department this summer, students will be able to take two or three years of college in a subject within 12 months' time.

The Centenary summer session will run for nine weeks, enabling a student to earn a full semester's credit of three hours in each subject. In each science course, a credit of five hours is earned.

In advanced courses, it is possible for a student to take work for six weeks, earning a credit of two semester hours for each course pursued. The shorter term is recommended only for those who are unable to attend during the entire session.

Through more frequent meetings in each class, a full year's course is offered during the summer session in chemistry, economics, French, history, Latin, mathematics, music, physics, psychology, Spanish and zoology.

Centenary is trying through its summer session to make as great a contribution as possible to the needs of the country. Because of the war emergency, the college this summer will conduct a short session from Aug. 3 to 22 in addition to the regular summer session. In this short session, students will have an opportunity of earning three semester hours in a single course. Only courses for which there is the largest demand will be offered during this short session.

President and Commencement Speaker

Dr. Pierce Cline, president of Centenary, and General C. B. Hodges, president of Louisiana State University, discuss the International situation before leading the Academic procession into the open-air theater.

Defense Courses Fit Hundreds for Nation's Use

More than 400 persons have enrolled in the Centenary college war training program since it began at the college in January, according to Dr. F. E. Lowance, director of the program at Centenary for the United States office of education.

Since January, two courses designed to equip workers for war plant jobs have already been completed and 10 others are still in progress. The Centenary faculty has been enlisted to teach these courses which are offered to the public without charge. Only textbooks and other essential supplies must be furnished by the student.

The 10 courses now in progress and the enrollment in each are: Industrial organic chemistry, 35; explosives, 35; office management, 35; cost accounting, 39; three classes of beginning radio and one class of advanced radio, 154; mechanical drawing, 27; surveying, 20.

Centenary Grad Heads Education At Randolph

Capt. John D. Whitt of Mount Vernon, Texas, who received his degree from Centenary college in 1938 while he was stationed at Barksdale Field, has been appointed director of the academic department of the "West Point of the Air" at Randolph Field, Texas. In his new capacity, Captain Whitt assumes complete charge of the classroom sessions of hundreds of aviation cadets entering Randolph Field every four and a half weeks.

He completed two years' work at Centenary college by attending night school classes while he was a flying officer at Barksdale Field. Previously, he had attended the University of Texas, where he participated in collegiate swimming and basketball.

Captain Whitt was commissioned in October, 1934, and has served at five air force bases in as many states. In 1940, he was stationed at France Field, Canal Zone.

General Hodges Speaker at 117th Commencement

The first graduating class to receive degrees during the fifth United States war in Centenary college history heard at its commencement exercises in the Centenary outdoor theatre a high ranking army officer discuss the responsibilities resting upon educated men and women in time of war.

The officer was Major Gen. Campbell B. Hodges, president of Louisiana State university.

"You are graduating into a world torn by war's turmoil," General Hodges told the 92 graduates of the college. "All normal processes are upset. Many nations under the dictator's heel are in a starving condition and we are warned that only the energetic and co-ordinated efforts of our people can prevent the gaunt figure of hunger from stalking more widely through our own bounteous land before this war is over.

"These things being true," he said, "the greater is the responsibility resting upon educated men and women."

He reminded the graduates that this is not the first war which Centenary college has known and then recalled the Mexican war, the War Between the States, the Spanish-American war and World War 1.

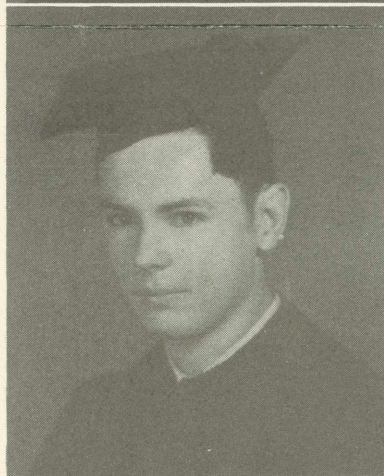

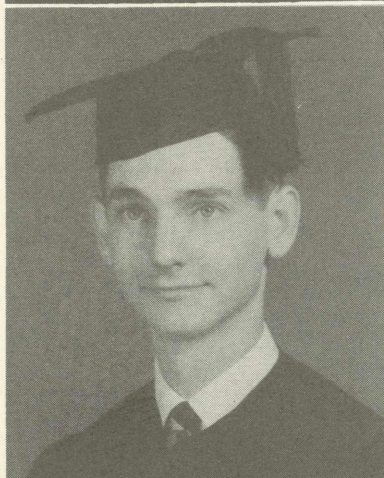

"An educated mind is a luxury and a trained mind is a necessity, but blessed is he who possesses both," the general told the graduates. "The young man or woman who must sacrifice one or the other should strive to secure a 'training'. There is a vast amount of real work, hard work to be done in the world and only those who have fitted themselves to do some of it can expect to share in the world's richest rewards.

"Get an 'education' by all means, if you can, but recognize its true purpose—to lend vision, power and guidance to a mind trained to do one useful thing exceedingly well."

General Hodges recalled some advice which Gen. Leonard Wood once gave a graduating class at West Point.

Highest Honors

Summa cum laude honors were won by these three Centenary college graduates of the 1942 class. Left to right, they are Gilbert Lewis Hetherwick, John Wilcox Marshall, Jr., and Sidney Malcolm Vickers, all of Shreveport. Hetherwick was also president of the student body, editor of the "Conglomerate," the college newspaper. Marshall was a member of the Student Senate and the Commerce club. Vickers was a member of Cercle Francaise and the Commerce club.

Fred Waring has composed and dedicated a song to Centenary College.

Centenary was the first college in Louisiana to cooperate in the CAA Pilot Training Program.

Degrees Conferred On Graduates of May and August

Seventy-two seniors were awarded degrees at the May convocation held in the Centenary college outdoor theatre and 20 others are candidates for degrees at the August convocation.

Degrees were awarded at the May convocation as follows:

BACHELOR OF ARTS, literary course—Claude Corinne Blackburn, Cecil Emmett Bland, Jr., George Lee Blaxton, Jr., Mabel L. Boddie, Edgar Eugene Burks, Carolyn Ray Canon, William Ernest Carter, Jr., Carlos Wade Davis, Helen Lillian Dwire, Lillie Ruth Estes, Camp Rogers Flournoy, Peggy Hawkins.

Mary Alice Nash, Jane Harwell Nicholson, Addye LaRue Powell, Anne Elizabeth Robinson, Ethel Williamson Skeeters, Irma Merrie Taylor, Howard Clinton Teacle, Claude Andrew Teel, Alice Martin Wallace, Eva Margie White, Margaret Douglass Williams, Bobbye Audrey Wilson.

BACHELOR OF MUSIC—William Payne Alston, Margie Wells Giles, Sara Menefee.

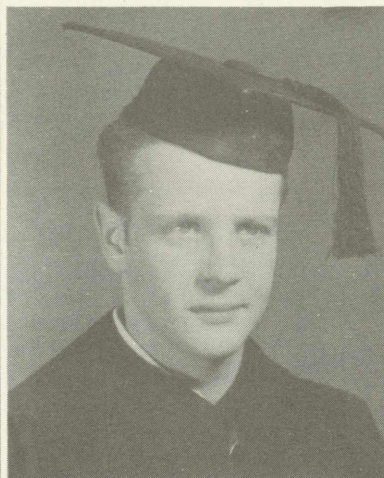

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE, in natural science—Imogene Atkins, Jack Kenneth Carlton, Philip Kirker Clifton, Uma Saintignan Collins, Sol Joseph Freeman, Ray Winston Goens, William Carlton Graff, Irl Allen Harper, Edward Hoynoski, Collier A. Kinnebrew, Pauline Lamb, Faye Katherine Ross, Rosabel Lieber Shavin, James Knox Smith, Georgia Ella Till, Jarvis Rudolph Waller, C. Warren Williams.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE, in social science—John Calvin Bains, Mary Kathryn Blackwell, Dorothy Ouida Durr, Richard Clarence Gibbs, Lillian Lucienne Gibson, William Karr Graham, Meredith Miller Lawless, Walter Byron Jacobs, Jr., Marilyn Dickson McCrocklin, John Wilcox Marshall, Jr., Wade Hampton Peters, Thomas Foster Philyaw, William E. Swyers, Sidney Malcolm Vickers.

Degrees are to be conferred at the August convocation on the following:

BACHELOR OF ARTS—Mary

In Army

Walter Jacobs, Jr., one of many Centenary students now serving with the armed forces, had to fly from Fort Custer, Mich., to attend the 1942 commencement exercises but because of bad flying weather, he was unable to reach them on time. Now serving with the motor transport division of the quartermaster corps, Jacobs won his degree even though the last few months of the college year were spent by him in the army.

Lester Bell, Ann Burnette, Mildred B. Davenport, Dorothy Jeanette Freeze, Barbara Guice Harris, Ouida Marie Harris, Stanley Ernest Kirkland, Betty Conway Lawrence, Frances Tull O'Neal, Martha Virginia Walker, William Curtis Yancey, Jr.

BACHELOR OF MUSIC—Constance Marie Fulco.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE, in natural science—Kenneth Graham Burgess, Vincent Eugene D'Asto, Lanford DeGeneres, Warrick Jeter Dickson, John Robert Gilcrease.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE, in social science—Virginia Elizabeth Breithaupt, Lucile Miller, Rethie Berniece Ward.

Student Officers

Joe Stephens of Shreveport was elected president of the Centenary college student body for the year 1942-43. Other officers named were:

John Woods, vice-president; Jimmie Thibodeaux, coed vice-president; Jimmie Brown, secretary; Roland Achee, treasurer.

The art school is offering a course in camouflage.

The enrollment in the Summer School is the largest in recent years.

Fifteen former Centenary students received advanced degrees at Louisiana State University in the past twelve months.

"General Wood told the young West Point graduates this: 'When you young gentlemen join your companies after four years of training in this excellent academy, you may find that your captain seems a little rusty and that you really know a lot more than he does. But if you find that to be the case, my advice to you would be to break it to him gently.'"

General Hodges added that he thought that to be good advice for jobs in civil life as well as for jobs in the army.

The general was introduced by James E. Smitherman of Shreveport, member of the L.S.U. board of supervisors. Degrees were conferred by Dr. Pierce Cline, president of the college, assisted by Dean John A. Hardin and Mrs. Arthur Campbell, dean of women. William K. Graham, president of the senior class, gave the senior class pledge. The invocation was given by the Rev. F. M. Freeman and the benediction by the Rev. George F. Pearce, Shreveport Methodist ministers.

Music was furnished by the Centenary band under the direction of Billie Causey and the Centenary choir under the direction of Alvin C. Voran.

Honors were conferred as follows: Gilbert Hetherwick, Malcolm Vickers and John Marshall, all of Shreveport, summa cum laude; Margie Wells Giles and Clinton Teacle of Shreveport, magna cum laude; William Payne Alston, Lillian Gibson, Ethel Elizabeth Kramer, James Knox Smith of Shreveport and Ray Winston Goens of Atlanta, Texas, cum laude.

Ethel Elizabeth Kramer was awarded the Chi Omega prize of $25 for excellence in social science.

At baccalaureate services held on the previous Sunday at the First Methodist church of Shreveport, the Rev. Franklin N. Parker, dean emeritus of Emory university, Atlanta, Ga., delivered the baccalaureate sermon using as his text, "The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me." The services opened with the procession of the seniors in their caps and gowns led by Dr. Cline, Dean John Hardin, Mrs. A. R. Campbell, dean of women, and R. E. Smith, dean emeritus.

The Rev. Dana Dawson, pastor of the church, led the group in prayer. The church choir with Mrs. A. M. Serex as soloist sang, "O Divine Redeemer."

Centenary has served America through four wars, and is now serving in the fifth.

Annual Dedicated To College Heroes Of Five Wars

"To Those who March Today" the "Yoncopin," Centenary college student yearbook of 1942, was dedicated in this the fifth war of Centenary's history.

"Centenary's heroes of the past gaze down from on high upon the college they once left to wield a flashing sabre in 1846, to shoulder the first modern rifles in 1860, to man the first rapid-fire guns in 1898 and follow the wobbly course of the first tanks in 1917," the yearbook's dedication foreword reads.

"In humble tribute to those who march today, in reverent memory of those who marched before and in supreme confidence that those of the present will keep faith with the past by preserving the future, this 1942 Yoncopin is dedicated."

The Yoncopin reveals both graphically and in words that Centenary was born in the aftermath of the War of 1812 and since then has sent its youth into the Mexican war, the War Between the States, the Spanish-American war, World War I and now World War II.

A splendid reproduction of a picture of a conference of Methodist leaders in Jackson in 1858, as the Civil War approached, is one of the features of the book. While the Yoncopin lacks space to go into such details, it was at such meetings that the Confederacy really was born.

The rifle gained its first great prominence as a weapon of conflict in the Civil War and it is the decoration for the Civil War page. In 1861, Yoncopin records, this notice appeared one morning on a classroom door, written in long-hand by a Professor Pugh:

"Students have all gone to war, College suspended. And, God bless the right!"

Centenary's college buildings at Jackson were the scene of fierce fighting. First they became Confederate hospitals. Then, captured by the Union army, they were used for the same purpose by the captors. Many a Centenary student or alumnus was listed in the college records of those days as "killed in battle."

In appearance and makeup the 1942 Yoncopin probably surpasses any previous edition. The maroon cover is embossed with soldiers of the five wars against a background of a college building with a big Victory "V" standing out over the college seal. Illustrations are especially good, with unusual excellence of photography. Offers have been received from photographic companies wishing to use some of the pictures in advertising as examples of fine photography.

Civilian pilot training at the college is given a special section—the first time that aviation ever has appeared in the college annual. Likewise, the section on inter-collegiate athletics is the last for some time, since such competition has been abandoned because of war conditions.

Large Enrollment Indicated for Fall Session

The prospects for a good enrollment at Centenary College during the session of 1942-1943 are encouraging. Information gained from contacts made by representatives of the College with prospective students and their parents in this area indicates that a high proportion of young men and women will continue their education during the war period. The College has followed the example of other educational institutions throughout the country, as well as agencies of our national government, and has emphasized the importance of college and university training for young men and women who desire to serve their country in the most useful way.

The College is continuing to take advantage of its opportunity to assist the war effort by adding to its program of studies and activities as rapidly as possible; and because of the expanded program many young men will be on the Centenary College campus this fall who might otherwise be in other educational institutions or with the armed forces.

Also, because of the war there is a marked disposition on the part of parents to favor colleges close at hand. Therefore, indications point to a large patronage from the Shreveport area.

Grads Make Plans

Eighteen of the 92 Centenary graduates of 1942 indicated during a survey taken in the last week of spring semester that they would enter the armed forces of the United States on graduation and 10 others planned to accept civilian jobs in various war plants and air bases.

Twenty-six of them announced their intention to teach. Only two planned to marry soon after graduation; 11 indicated they would pursue graduate courses.

Seven had jobs or had arranged to get them in various Shreveport firms. One indicated he would enter the Methodist conference. Two announced a preference for fashion designing and one, for home demonstration work. Only 10 were in doubt about their plans after graduation.

Every economics major graduating in the class of 1942 will enter some branch of the armed forces.

Reigned at May Fete

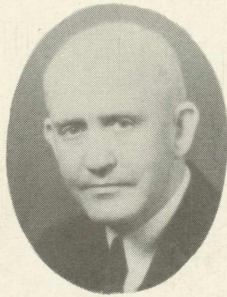

Queen of May for the annual May Day fete held at Centenary this year was Miss Lou Dell Liston of Elysian Fields, Texas, shown above on her throne. Beside her on the left is her maid, Mathilde Levy, and on the right her maid of honor, Anne Robinson of Homer, La. The theme of the pageant was "The United Nations," featuring costumes of democratic lands.

Founders' Day Visitors

Eight Faculty Members Have Served College a Total of 155 Years

Eight members of the present Centenary faculty were with the college when it completed its first century of educational service in 1925. They are pictured and are, from left to right, above: Dr. Pierce Cline, president of the college from 1933 to the present, and head of the history department from 1920-1933; John A. Hardin, dean of the college and head of the mathematics department since 1924; Mrs. A. R. Campbell, dean of women, and associate professor of English since 1923; Dr. R. E. Smith, dean emeritus and head of the department of Biblical literature since 1920. Below: William G. Phelps, head of the department of classics and professor of German since 1923; Dr. S. D. Morehead, now head of the economics department, formerly associate professor of history and economics since 1923; Dr. Stewart A. Steger, head of the English department since 1924; and Dr. Katherine Jackson French, professor of English since 1924.

Pastors' School Successful Event Of Early June

One hundred seventy-six pastors and laymen from sixty-two towns in Louisiana and Texas attended the annual Pastors' School and Conference for Christian Workers held at Centenary, June 8-12. Analysis of the registration showed seventy-five pastors and one hundred-one laymen present.

The dean of the school was Dr. B. C. Taylor of Alexandria, and the educational director was Rev. G. W. Dameron, Executive Secretary of the Louisiana Conference Board of Christian Education.

The faculty of the school was one of the strongest of recent years and included Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton of Adams, New York, who taught a class in "The Christian Message for our Day"; Dr. C. M. McConnell of Boston University, teaching "The Church and its Redemptive Ministry"; Dr. F. L. Gibbs of Nashville, Tennessee, "The Church Working with Young Adults"; Mrs. J. A. Bays of Knoxville, Tennessee, "Understanding Youth"; Dr. R. E. Smith of Centenary, "How to Study the Bible"; Mrs. G. W. Dameron of Shreveport, "Missions in Latin America"; and Mrs. Roy Scales of Shreveport, "A Laboratory Class for Workers with Children."

The guest speaker at the daily platform hour was Dr. Edwin Lewis of Drew Theological Seminary of New Jersey.

Classes were conducted for two one-hour periods each morning. Mrs. Overton also conducted a daily forum for ministers' wives. Mrs. Scales' class observed the daily Vacation Church School being held at the First Methodist Church.

Gent Athlete Now Scoring For Uncle Sam

A former Centenary college pass-snatching football player who learned to fly at Centenary's own civilian pilot training school and has since put his training in the grimmer game of war was one of seven men who went through a harrowing experience when their bomber was forced down off the coast of India and lived to tell about it.

Now an army pilot, Lieut. Thomas Lavelle Murphy, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Murphy of Shreveport, was engaged with his crew in extensive reconnaissance along the Burma coast when his heavy bomber was forced to land in the sea after being damaged in a raid on the Burma port of Akyab.

In the bomber were five other American airmen and an RAF sergeant who were missing from June 7 to 15 when they sailed their rubber raft up the Bay of Bengal to a tiny Indian village and returned to their base. The bomber had swooped along the Burma coast to within 30 feet of the Akyab airfield and was met by machine gun bursts which struck the portside engine.

Flying a seaward course, the bomber was forced to land on the water at nearly 100 miles an hour. It sank in 15 minutes and in that time the crew inflated their rubber rafts and salvaged emergency rations. They reached an uninhabited island where they replenished their water but failed to find food. Then they bound their rafts together, hoisted an improvised sail and headed for India on a long and grueling voyage.

Plunging through a pounding surf which capsized their frail craft, they reached the coast at dusk, four days after their crash. The famished castaways were taken in the next morning by friendly natives. Another American bomber later rescued them.

In the Mexican War, Centenary College furnished a completely manned and equipped company of soldiers.

Bill Stern paid glowing tribute to Centenary's patriotism in five wars during a recent NBC nationwide broadcast.

Training Pilots Major Activity At Centenary

Doubtless few realize that Centenary College and Badgett Flying School started in the fall of 1939 to play a major roll in the training of pilots for the Army Air Forces. At this time under the Civilian Pilot Training Program flight training was being offered on a voluntary basis to anyone interested. Centenary College acted as Ground Contractor and Badgett Flying School as Flight Contractor. Claude L. Hamel was appointed as Coordinator, it being his job to see that all operations functioned smoothly. Since that time approximately 400 trainees have graduated from the four courses offered, Primary, Secondary, Cross Country, and Instructor. These boys have enlisted in the Army and Navy Air Forces and are now serving as Flight Instructors, Ferry Pilots, and Combat Pilots, and all are playing major rolls on the several war fronts of the world.

On July 1, 1942 the colleges and flight schools having shown what they could do, were called upon to do an even greater job. The Civilian Pilot Training Program began to work directly for the Army and Navy and is now training pilots for duties in the Plans for selecting new members, the status of chemistry students in the war effort and a report of the many former members who are now either employed in defense industries, hospital and research laboratories, or doing graduate work in universities was given.

$15,000 Trust Fund Given the College

A bequest of $15,000 to Centenary college, with the stipulation that it be used to educate young ministers, has been announced by Dr. Pierce Cline, president of the college.

The fund was left by the late Angus A. Stewart, 85, former Minden and Shreveport merchant and a devout Methodist churchman, who willed his estate to Centenary college to establish a Stewart Memorial fund "in memory of myself and my wife."

The gift is the first of its kind to Centenary, and Mr. Stewart's will expressed hope that his action might become an example for others to follow.

Dean R. E. Smith, of Centenary, was named trustee and executor of the fund. Dean Smith said the money has now been turned over to the college and, while interest from the principal will not be immediately available, in time it will be used to provide scholarships for young ministerial students of any Protestant denomination.

Mr. Stewart died Sept. 2 in a local sanitarium after an illness of several years. His wife, the former Nannie Leon Kelly of Haynesville, died 10 years ago, and their only child died when eight months old.

Centenary Training Prepares Men For Commissions in Army or Navy

Centenary Courses Planned to Extend Around The Clock

In an all-out effort to aid the war effort in every way possible the entire facilities of Centenary College are being used both day and night to take care of the educational needs of the men and women of the Ark-La-Tex area. More than 870 students are now attending classes in all divisions.

In the regular day school more than 425 men and women are now enrolled. In the war training courses of Engineering, Science and Management, sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education 300 students are now taking courses. Most of these classes are given at night.

In addition to the regular classes there are now 55 Army and Navy aviation ground school students taking both day and night courses. The regular night school is being conducted as usual and has an enrollment of over 100 students.

Recently a naval officer, who addressed the young men of Centenary College at a special assembly, said, "If you have the stuff in you to become an officer in the armed forces, you can best serve your country by pursuing your work here at Centenary College." This sentiment was reiterated by other officers representing the Army and the Marine Corps at the same gathering. The present war, as these officers pointed out, is a war of precision and technical knowledge which can be gained only from an intense study of mathematics, physics, meteorology, and other scientific courses.

The armed services will need thousands of new officers each year, and they expect about one-third of the number to receive their fundamental training in the colleges and universities of the country. Centenary College received early approval for this work, and many of its men students are members of the various military branches, assigned to inactive duty, and are continuing their college training. If they

There are two courses in radio now open. The first for teaching the fundamentals in the shortest possible time and the advanced course open to advanced students or those have the equivalent background and experience in radio. These courses are offered tuition free by the government and are under the direction of Centenary College. New classes in radio and other government sponsored courses will open February 1st, 1943.

Centenary Training

pursue their work in a satisfactory manner and complete it in as short time as possible, they may finish their college course, after which they will be given an intensive course of military training. Upon the satisfactory completion of the latter, they will receive commissions as officers.

The objective of the joint ERC plan is to channel into the armed services a continuous and regulated stream of college-trained manpower. Students who enroll in the enlisted reserves, are actually members of the army, navy, or marine corps. While they maintain an inactive military status for the time being, they are regarded by the services as cooperating patriotically in the fulfillment of an important phase of the over-all war effort, for they are being qualified to fill definite needs.

Any student in the enlisted reserves is subject to call to active duty as an enlisted man if he fails to graduate with his class or to meet the standards set by the respective services for officer material.

"The age limits for the army are from 18 to 26 and for the navy from 17 to 26. In order to be eligible for enlistment a student must be carrying certain required courses, and any student, freshman, sophomore, junior or senior, is eligible for one of the services if he can meet the physical and educational requirements.

The Navy programs for college students are known as V-1 and V-7, the former being for freshmen and sophomores, the latter for juniors and seniors. In the middle of the sophomore year, enrollees under the V-1 plan will be given an examination prepared by the Navy. Those passing satisfactorily will be transferred to V-7 and will be permitted to continue in school until graduation, unless acute conditions should necessitate their being called into active service before that time.

Under the enlisted reserve plan for the Marine Corps, the Army, and the Army Air Corps, the provisions are similar with regard to the continuance of the enrollees in college. Liberal quotas have been assigned to Centenary, and the college hopes to be able to take care of all qualified students who desire to be included under the various enlisted reserve plans.

Many Centenary men are now serving with the armed forces on scattered battle fronts and in training camps at home, a high proportion of whom are commissioned officers.

Full information can be secured from the office of Dr. E. L. Ford, Centenary College, who is in charge of the ERC program.

John Quincy Adams was president when Centenary became a state institution in 1825.

Air Forces as flight instructors, service pilots, combat pilots and material for highly specialized personnel to maintain the vast system of military training and air transportation lines throughout the country. The training is accelerated and is on a full time basis. Trainees are housed and fed at Centenary College where they are also given their ground training; their flight training is given at the Badgett Flying School. Since July 15 the Naval Cadet Selection Board has sent to the college 65 trainees enlisted in Class V-5. A class of 35 has been graduated having gone into more advanced training. These trainees have completed ground courses consisting of mathematics, physics, Civil Air Regulations, Navigation, Radio Code, Military and Physical Training, Aircraft Identification, Military Science and Discipline, Meteorology and General Servicing of Aircraft, and a flight course of 35 to 40 hours.

Thirty of the group sent to naval flying school are still in training and will be graduated about November 15th at which time a new group will be sent in for training.

Since July 1, 15 boys have been trained for the Army, these being enlisted in the Army Air Forces Enlisted Reserve Corps. They are for the most part over 27 years of age and under 37. Men who cannot qualify for combat duty will become flight instructors and ferry pilots. They have passed a rigid mental exami-

New Secretarial Courses Offered

With more and more positions being open for trained young women the new accelerated war time courses in Secretarial Science at Centenary offer an opportunity for qualified young women to secure responsible positions. The average student should be able to complete in nine months the basic secretarial courses to qualify for a secretarial or general accounting position.

Students may work toward a B.S. degree in commerce, which can be secured in three years under the new war time program. Courses include beginning and advanced shorthand, typewriting, secretarial accounting, business correspondence and advanced accounting. Full college credit is given and students are able to meet the requirements of governmental agencies for secretaries, office supervisors and junior accountants.

nation and qualified physically for a commercial license. Their ground and flight course is similar to that of the Navy trainees. The courses are of six to eight weeks duration and trainees must spend their entire time in study, drill, flight and ground school.

These young men are all anxious to do their part in helping to make the United States Air Forces the finest in the world. To Ed Nilson, Regulations Superintendent of the CPT in Fort Worth, credit should be given for the smooth operation of the program in this region.

Centenary "Scrap Queen"

Miss Tilly Broussard was crowned "Scrap Queen" at a recent student meeting as a result of her sorority having collected more scrap metal than the other organizations on the campus. Representing Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Miss Broussard and the sorority girls collected 53,800 pounds of scrap.

The collections by the other sororities were: Alpha Xi Delta, 15,180 pounds; Chi Omega, 13,585 pounds, and Aufait, 7,960 pounds. The combined collection totaled 90,585 pounds, or more than 45 tons of scrap for Uncle Sam—and Hitler and Hirohito.

R. B. Schall Directs Athletic Activities

Many friends of Centenary College were disturbed by the decision of the school to abandon football, as well as all other intercollegiate sport, for the duration in favor of a complete program of intra-mural sports in which all students, women as well as men, could participate.

This year Centenary will have a complete physical education program with sports for all, under the supervision of R. B. Schaal, director of physical education and Mrs. Bryant Davidson who will direct the physical education work for women students.

Played Football Under Norton

Schaal, who graduated from Centenary in 1928, is a native of Beaver Falls, Pa., and transferred to Centenary from Geneva college.

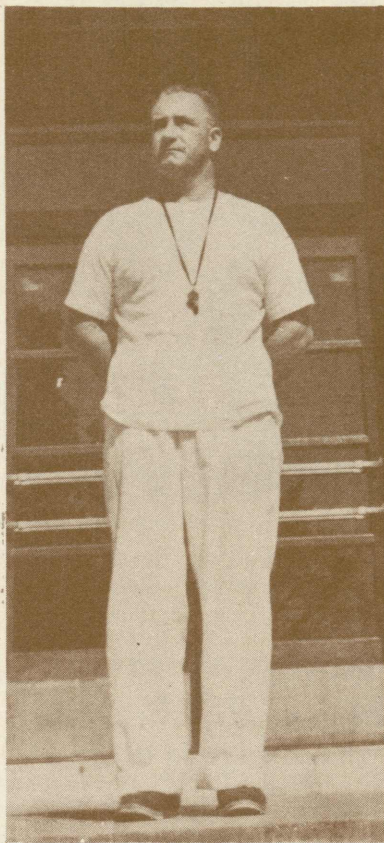

After graduation Schaal served as coach and taught for eight years at Ida, La. In 1936 he became assistant coach and science instructor at Fair Park high, Shreveport. In 1941 he received his master's degree in health and physical education at Louisiana State.

Physical education is a required study for all freshmen and sophomores and is optional for juniors and seniors.

Intra-Mural Sports

The intra-mural sports program is designed to give every student, both men and women, a chance to take part in their favorite sport and to build up keen competition between groups and to furnish recreation for both participants and fans.

Director

R. B. Schall, former Centenary athlete, now director of physical education program.

Centenary stadium will be used for outdoor games, and instead of finding the students in the stands rooting for the Gents, you'll find them on the field playing. Championships points will be awarded winning teams in each sport during the year and the class or division which wins the most points during the year will be awarded medals or other suitable trophies at commencement time.

8 New Members Are Added to Centenary Staff

Eight new faculty and administrative staff members were added to the Centenary faculty at the opening of the 118th session in September.

Kenneth P. McLaughlin, of Baton Rouge, has been appointed assistant professor of geology to replace William Wallace, Jr., who is on leave of absence to complete his work for the Ph.D. degree in geology. McLaughlin holds B.S. and M.S. degrees in geology from the University of Missouri and has been a member of the faculty at Missouri and Louisiana State for the past three years.

R. B. Schaal, Shreveport, a graduate of Centenary college, who received his M.S. degree in physical education from Louisiana State in 1941, is director of physical education. He replaced Jake Hanna, who recently received a leave of absence to accept a commission in the navy.

J. R. Marcellus, Denton, Texas, replaced William Causey, who recently joined the Coast Guard, on the faculty of the Centenary school of music and will direct the college band. Marcellus is a graduate of the Eastman school of music and holds an M.M. degree from North Texas State Teachers college.

Miss Lorene Cunningham, of Fort Worth, Texas, is registrar. She received her B.S. degree from Texas State College for Women and her M.A. degree from Texas Christian university.

Dr. F. M. Sparks of Cullman, Ala., has been added to the staff of the Mathematics department. Dr. Sparks received his B.S. degree from Auburn and his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Illinois. Dr. Sparks was head of the department of Physics and Engineering at Edinburg College, Edinburg, Texas, before coming to Centenary.

Professor Joe Cherry of Shreveport is instructor in ground school courses in the pilot training program sponsored by the army and navy air forces.

Mr. Cherry holds the B.S. degree from Texas A. & M. and was for several years a member of the research staff of the Superior Diesel division of the National Supply Co. of Springfield, Ohio.

Miss Mary Wartens returned from a year's leave of absence to resume work as associate professor of biology. She has been doing graduate work at the University of Texas for the past year and has completed her residence courses for the Ph.D. degree.

Mrs. Edith McCrocklin Johnson, Shreveport, is assistant to the bursar, and Mrs. H. B. Horwood is matron of Rotary dormitory.

Fifteen Shreveport lawyers received their pre-legal training at Centenary.

At one time, Centenary was the only college or university in the south whose credits were accepted by England's great Oxford University.

Among the many "firsts" in the educational world was the establishment of the first medical school in the South at Centenary College in 1840.

It's Pledge Night on the Campus

A fine old Centenary tradition still is popular as ever when the pledges of the three men's fraternities, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma and Lambda Chi Alpha serenade the three sororities, Chi Omega, Zeta Tau Alpha and Alpha Xi Delta on pledge night. More than 70 girls and 50 boys were pledged this year.

Banquets Feature of Frat "Rush Week"

Short speeches at fraternity banquets keep the guests happy and help to make newcomers feel at once the value of the new friends made during the opening weeks of school. Many such happy occasions keep the social life at Centenary of interest to all students during the entire college year.

Former Faculty Member Makes Discovery

Dr. J. M. Sullivan, a Centenary graduate class of '87, and a former member of the college faculty, now a member of the faculty of Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss., has recently brought to light the discovery of an entirely new genus and species of extinct animal, the Notiotitanops Mississippiensis. He is co-author of a bulletin published by the Smithsonian Institute concerning this discovery.

Last spring the jaw bone of the animal was found protruding from the bank of a small stream near Quitman, Miss.

Dr. Sullivan went to the location of the fossils, and after careful digging in the bank of the stream, brought several bones back to Millsaps for classification. After weeks of work on the bones, he established his concept of the classification of the animal. He sent to the National Museum data and pictures of the bones. The museum confirmed his accurate classification of the animal.

This specimen is the only one ever found east of the Mississippi river. Although somewhat similar to the Titanotheres found in the far western section of our country, the new fossil is varied in enough characteristics to warrant its new genus and species nomenclature.

The bones are now deposited with the Smithsonian Institute, being one of a group of Dr. Sullivan's many contributions to this organization.

Makes Important Discovery

Dr. J. M. Sullivan, class of '87 and one of the oldest living graduates of Centenary College, has recently made a most important scientific discovery in the field of Geology. Dr. Sullivan was secretary of the Centenary faculty from 1889 to 1902 and prepared the minutes of the faculty meetings, in longhand. In 1903 he became head of the Geology department of Millsaps college of Jackson, Miss.

Home "Ec" Department in War Time Role

Miss Mary Lou Ware, head of Home Economics Department, has stepped up her program to war-time pace. Courses are designed to teach students how to buy and how to best spend their dollar.

Centenary Debate Club Plans Work

One of the outstanding clubs on Centenary campus is the Debate Club. This organization encourages public speaking and debating, and offers to its members not only a chance to improve their public speaking, but also a chance to travel with the debate team throughout our state and neighboring states.

John Woods is now holding the Presidency of the Club. The debate team is composed of James Dixon, E. W. Harris, Joe Stephens, and John Woods. The Debate Club is sponsored by Dr. Overdyke.

The Centenary Debate Club is affiliated with the National Forensic Society, Pi Kappa Delta.

Centenary Steps Up Home "Ec" Program

It was just before the last world war that the first of the vitamins was discovered and the public for the first time realized that there is a difference between eating for fitness and just eating.

Since that time great progress has been made in the science and practice of nutrition and today an interested public is clamoring for information. Always abreast of the times, Centenary's Home Economics department, under Miss Mary Lou Ware, is offering to students today complete courses in nutrition, in line with the suggestions of the government's "Food for Fitness" program. Courses are designed to show how to buy foods and how to spend the food dollar. The preparation of the right kind of foods, how to serve and what to serve to have a properly balanced meal and how to avoid food waste are among the many subjects covered. Courses in sewing, dress design, dietetics, child development, family clothing problems and table service are only a few of the many important and timely subjects covered.

See, Entrikin Head War Training Courses

Director of the War Training courses in Engineering, Science and Management at Centenary this year is Robert S. See, head of the Commerce department. Supervisor of the technical courses, offered under this program, is Dr. John B. Entrikin, head of the chemistry department. Professor See received his A.B. degree from Howard Payne college and his M.B.A. from the University of Texas. He has been at Centenary since 1926.

Dr. Entrikin is graduate of Southwestern University, and received his Ph.D. from University of Iowa. He has been a member of the Centenary faculty since 1929.

The war training courses were established by the United States office of education as a means of providing technical training in engineering, science and management, for men and women essential to war industries. Courses are offered by the regular faculty of Centenary in science and management. The engineering courses are conducted at Centenary in co-operation with the school of engineering of Louisiana Tech.

No tuition or other fees are charged, but each student must pay for his own supplies and textbooks. The teaching staff consists of the regular members of Centenary's faculty and of highly trained men from regional industry. No academic credit is allowed, but certificates will be issued for work satisfactorily completed. Courses now being given include ordnance inspection, office management, industrial accounting, cost accounting, industrial analysis and principles of radio. A course in industrial organic chemistry and a course in photogrammetry will be offered soon.

Purchase of Dodd College Means a Greater Centenary

The acquisition of Dodd college property by Centenary college is not only a very satisfactory settlement of a serious question but is also a long step for the creation of a greater college for Northwest Louisiana. It will mean an expansion in educational facilities that will be very advantageous to young men and women of the Ark-La-Tex.

The acquired property will be perpetuated as "Dodd Campus of Centenary College."

The acquisition of the property will provide facilities for immediate expansion for army and navy specialized training at Centenary and will after the war be converted into a first rate scientific department of the college. Plans are to use it in offering courses in chemurgy, scientific research, technical training of many kinds, business education and so forth.

At present it will provide excellent facilities for housing and training of specialists for army and navy service.

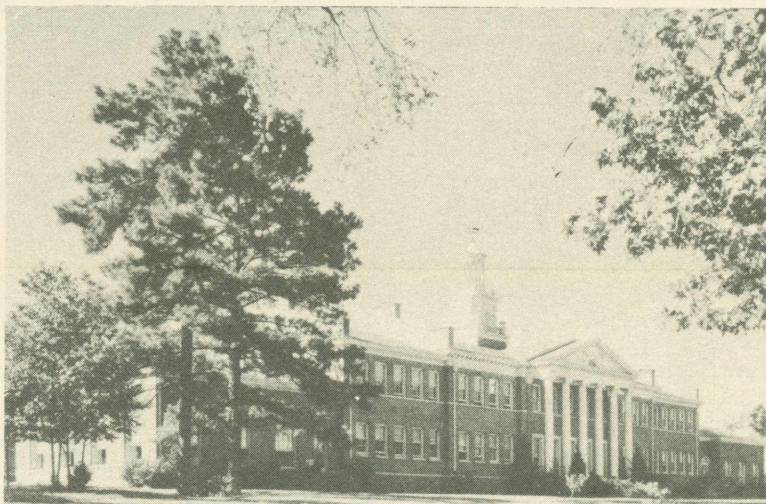

The authorization of sale was voted unanimously by the executive board upon the report of a special committee composed of the Rev. C. W. Culp, chairman;

Dodd Building Memorial to Mrs. Haynes

The academic building on the Dodd College campus, which was acquired by Centenary College in December, 1942, was named Annie Haynes Hall almost immediately after the transaction was completed. The Board of Trustees of Centenary College took this means of honoring Mrs. James Buchanan Haynes of Shreveport whose family during recent years have been outstanding benefactors to the college.

Within a month after the Annie Haynes Hall had been renamed, Mrs. Haynes died at her home on Rutherford Street, near the main campus of Centenary College. Passing from this life at the age of eighty-six, she left behind her a record of consecrated living and service for which the beautiful college building bearing her name will stand as a fitting memorial.

Annie Haynes Hall, memorial to the late Mrs. Haynes, former administration building for Dodd College, now part of Centenary and to be used as a physics and engineering center.

Spring Semester Opens at Centenary

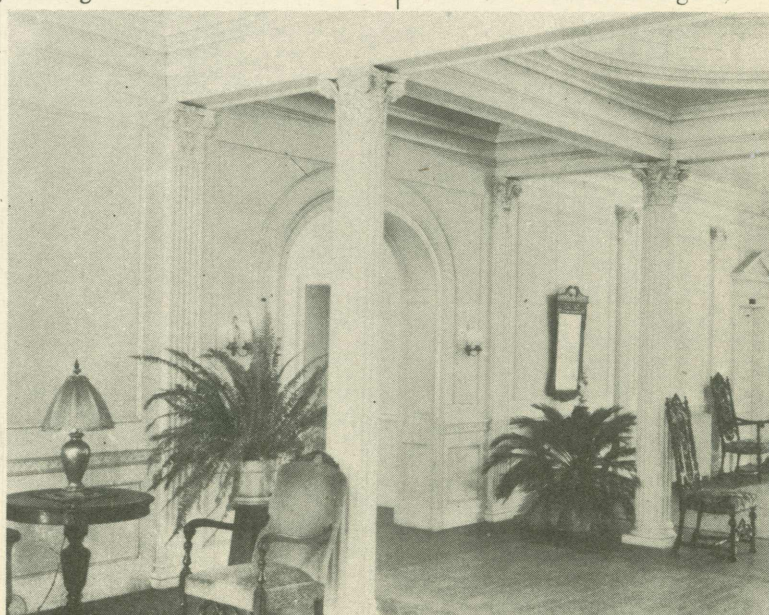

According to an announcement by Dr. Pierce Cline, every young man enrolling for the second semester this year at Centenary will, if called for military service before the end of the semester, receive full credit for all school work completed and a tuition refund in proportion to amount of credit not received. This will make it possible for all Centenary men to remain in college without loss of credits or money until they are inducted into service under Selective Service or from the reserve programs.

In speaking of plans for the spring semester which opened with registration on January 29 and 30, Dr. Cline said: "While it is true that many new courses have been added to our regular curriculum as an aid in training young men and women for war work, from the standpoint of the large number of civilians now in school, it will be 'college as usual' as far as they are concerned, but with work speeded up amid an atmosphere of war. Despite the fact that we are at war, and that this is the day of specialists, Centenary believes that a liberal education is necessary if the young men and women are to know how to live and to compre-

Traditional Candle Lighting Service

The traditional candle lighting service was held this year in the college chapel. The theme of the service as shown here is the lighting of the candle of knowledge by a senior while the junior, whose candle is being lighted, will carry on the traditions and fine ideals of Centenary College. The service is held each year the week before Christmas and after the ceremony a Christmas program is given. Edwin Whitehead is lighting Susie Mulkey's candle after lighting his own at the large candle, which is placed in the center of the stage. The service this year was directed by Mrs. John Wray Young of the Department of Speech and Dramatics.

Rev. John Caylor, secretary; O. C. Butler, Claire C. Clark and W. E. B. Lockridge.

Under the terms of the sale Centenary college assumes the refinancing of the property estimated at $105,000. Funds for this have been pledged by a generous Shreveport citizen who has requested that his identity not be disclosed.

The action which will insure the continuation of the property for Christian educational purposes, was hailed with approval from several quarters. Dr. M. E. Dodd, founder of Dodd college, while expressing disappointment that the college was not continued in operation by the Baptists, expressed pleasure that the college would continue for Christian educational purposes. Gratification was also expressed by Dr. Pierce Cline, president of Centenary, and Dr. W. H. Knight, secretary of the Baptist convention.

"Religious education, therefore, is a fundamental requirement for world permanent prosperity!"—Roger Babson.

Aviation Training Given Many Cadets

Centenary has 65 young cadets in the CAA as a part of its war training program. Through the CAA and various colleges and universities, working in conjunction with established private flying schools, these boys are selected and given preliminary training which the army and navy are not prepared to give—not prepared because of the vast size of the program.

Receive Board and Room

The cadets are housed in the Centenary dormitories, fed in the college dining room, hauled back and forth from the airport in college buses. The first four months of their training is divided into two months of primary instruction and two months of secondary, or advanced.

Dr. Cline Likes It

The CAA War Training program is one of the pet projects of Dr. Pierce Cline, president of Centenary, the college which has seen its students take part in five wars.

"Our pilot training program is the largest of any college or university in the state," Dr. Cline said.

He has received letters from Centenary-trained boys all over the world and they stack up with the best fliers everywhere.

Is Centenary making a profit on the training?

Dr. Cline puts it this way: "The program is an excellent means of compensating for losses in regular students due to the war."

"The foundation of every state is the education of its youth"—Diogenes.

Gentleman And Lady

Mr. Joe Stephens and Miss Jimmie Thibodeaux of Shreveport were honored by their fellow students recently when they were selected as the Centenary Gentleman and Lady of 1943. The selection of a boy and a girl who typify the traditional traits of character and ideals of the ante-bellum Centenary gentleman and his lady is an annual event of importance at the College.

The calm, unhurried days of the Old South may have departed forever, but the ideals of chivalry and gallantry still remain, and the Southern beau and belle of the ante-bellum period find their counterpart in the modern Centenary Gentleman and his Lady recently selected by the students of the College.

hend, life. For this reason Centenary will carry-on during the war period so that students may acquire the fundamentals of a liberal education and gain the knowledge of such subjects as history, ethics, philosophy, science and economics so that when they have finished with their education they will be able to go out into the world and meet the problems and take their places at the head of their respective communities."

Dr. Cline believes that in view of political and other developments today, the importance of a liberal education today is more important than at any time in the history of our country.

Certificates Awarded in War Work Classes

Former students and other friends of Centenary can well be proud of the fine work being accomplished in the War Training courses in Engineering, Science, and Management under the direction of Prof. Robert S. See, director of War Training courses, and Dr. John B. Entrikin, supervisor of the technical courses.

Certificates of completion of courses in radio, engineering, ordnance inspection, chemistry, cost accounting, office management and industrial accounting will be awarded on February 15, to more than 150 men and women by Dr.

New Orleans States Praises Centenary

And God Help the Right!

Amid the red hills of North Louisiana within the city limits of Shreveport, shaded by majestic oaks and stately pines, is Centenary college.

This institution, now more than one hundred years old has been a citadel of patriotism since its founding. As a builder of character, it stands high among the educational institutions of the country. Today, as always its teaching facilities rank with the best.

Centenary college passed through and did its part in the War Between the States, Spanish-American War, World War No. 1, and is now devoting its efforts toward winning World War No. 2. Always its students and its faculty have fought for the right as they saw it.

It was one of the few institutions in the War Between the States that suspended operations because all of the students had entered the armed forces of the Confederacy. So burning was the desire of the students to enter the service of their state, that they all left, and on the minutes of the faculty meeting are inscribed this glorious record:

"Students have all gone to war. College suspended, and God help the right."

Today the men and women of

One of the features of Centenary's Kollege Kapers Variety show this year is dancer Jean Elder who is shown here doing her own interpretation of the Spanish castenet dance.

The 1942-43 edition of Kollege Kapers will soon close a most successful year, despite transportation troubles and other difficulties occasioned by the war, and will be presented to the home folks at Byrd High school auditorium late in February, under the direction of Dr. S. D. Morehead.

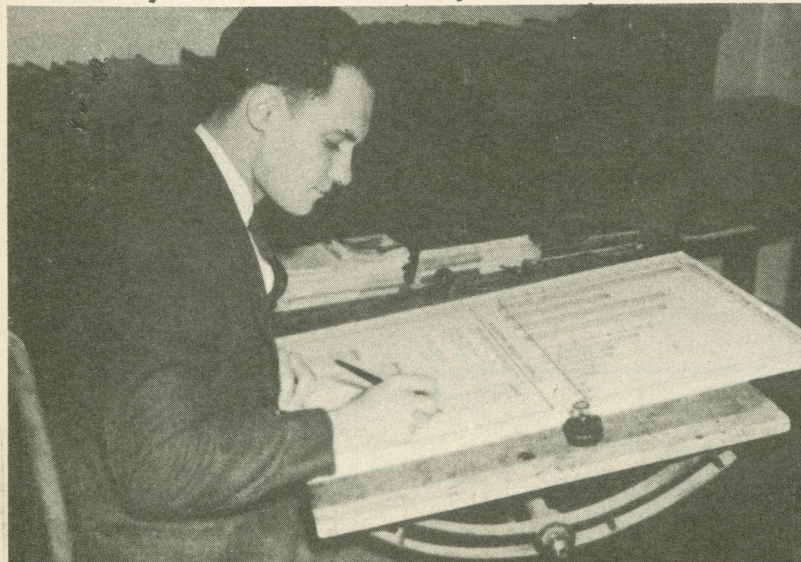

Rare Books at Centenary Library

Centenary College students enjoy a taste of nineteenth century book learning as they browse through rare old books on exhibit in Jackson Hall in celebration of National Book week.

Miss Nan Banks is looking at some of the Audubon quadruped prints and some handsome plates of outstanding Indian chieftains, which are being displayed. Miss Banks of Minden, is a sophomore at the college.

Centenary Offers A Complete Course In Secretarial Science And Business Administration

Gene Hilliard, Waskom, Texas, a senior majoring in Accounting is shown working on cost analysis charts which depict current business operations.

Famous Scientist Joins Faculty

With the opening of the second semester, Dr. C. D. Keen will be head of the Physics and Engineering department at Centenary, according to an announcement by Dr. Pierce Cline, president.

Dr. Keen, Shreveport business man and scientist is not a stranger on the Centenary campus, for he was in charge of the same department at Centenary during 1938 and 1939, at which time he gained the highest respect from the faculty and students for his teaching capabilities and scholarship.

Has Doctor's Degree

His doctor of philosophy degree in physics was received by Dr. Keen from the University of Chicago. He also holds the rating of mine surveyor, second class, City and Guilds of London institute; a degree in mining engineering from the Technical university, Delft, Holland; and has done graduate work in the department of geophysics, Colorado school of mines.

For the war's duration, the work of Dr. Keen and his department will be carried on at Centenary. After the war, however, Dr. Cline said, it was planned to enlarge the engineering, science and scientific research department and to locate them in the recently-acquired Dodd college buildings.

Archery Popular With Centenary Girls

All Centenary Coeds enjoy the benefits of a well-balanced physical education program, including archery, volleyball, handball, swimming, riding and a complete intra-mural sports program for both men and women.

the student body of Centenary are again serving their country. Their devoted faculty is teaching them all the freedoms so necessary for the world to endure as God would have it endure.

Dr. Pierce Cline, president of the institution, heads a carefully selected faculty of men and women whose sole interest is in instructing the boys and girls under their tutelage in those things that make for good citizenship.

The editor of this newspaper recently had the privilege of spending a few hours on Centenary campus, viewing its faculty and meeting some of the members of its faculty as well as students. We have never seen a happier, cleaner, more purposeful student body than that at Centenary. The chivalry and beauty of that institution are pleasing and comforting.

We have often wondered since visiting Centenary why its resources are not greater. They should be. The citizens of Shreveport and the wealthy men of the state could perform no greater service than in aiding Centenary expand its facilities so as to reach a greater number of students.

Centenary, down through the years and now, has been fighting the battles of right and decency. Those able to do so, should help it to continue and enlarge its work.

The schools of America are one of the greater assets of America. They insure the perpetuation of those freedoms which the world must have if it would survive.

Centenary college fought to the last man in 1861. Its boys and girls of today stand ready to do the same.—New Orleans States.

War Record Published

Dr. A. M. Shaw, Jr., of the English faculty recently published a pamphlet titled "Centenary Goes to War in 1861" which recounts the history of the College in the days of the War Between the States and brings to light the glorious deeds of valor performed by her sons in that war.

Many new courses will be offered with the beginning of the next semester, February 15, including ordnance inspection, radio, junior engineering for women, physics, engineering mathematics, government contract procedure, personnel management, industrial statistics, and auditing. These courses are sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education and are under the direction of Centenary College and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Out of 700 institutions of higher learning in the United States, only 54 are older than Centenary College.

Proving that Centenary's "most athletic" boy and girl really go in for exercise. Miss Gladys Tippet, voted most athletic girl at Centenary and James "Cotton" Robbins, most outstanding athlete in school. Miss Tippet is a member of the Student Senate, WHO's WHO and vice-president of Chi Omega. Mr. Robbins is member of Alpha Sigma Pi scholastic fraternity and Kappa Alpha.

AN INVITATION

Students entering Centenary College inherit a set of rich and alluring traditions and soon become aware of a vigorous student life and vital scholarship. A friendliness prevades the atmosphere, and the finest kind of companionship exists between faculty and students. Intellectual development goes hand in hand with high ideals and character. A program adequate for the fuller and better life is offered and all who aspire to better things are cordially invited.

Outstanding Bishops Hold Chapel Services

Following a custom of many years, Centenary College observed Religious Emphasis Week again this year. The dates were April 19 to 22. In past years the series of chapel services have brought to the campus many fine personalities with inspiring addresses, but in no single year has the College been so fortunate as this one, for two of the outstanding bishops of Methodism conducted the chapel services during Religious Emphasis Week.

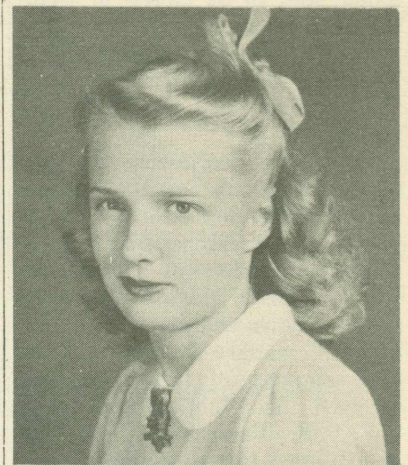

Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston, Texas, and Bishop W. C. Martin of Omaha, Nebraska, both of them gifted and consecrated ministers who were reared in the South, delivered addresses to the Centenary student body. The administration and faculty, as well as the student leaders of Centenary College, were much gratified by the good fortune of the College in securing such splendid spiritual leaders during such a critical year.

Chemistry Majors To Graduate School

Four of the ten chemistry majors of Centenary for this year have received appointments as instructors or research workers in leading graduate schools.

Carolyn Lunny has been appointed a research assistant in physical chemistry at the University of Wisconsin. Alexander May will be a graduate assistant in organic chemistry at the State University of Iowa. Billy Hamner and William Keenan will be graduate assistants in chemistry at Texas University.

Centenary chemistry majors are not new-comers at Wisconsin or Iowa as Owen Carter and Paul Entrikin both took their doctor's degrees in chemistry at the University of Wisconsin, and Henry Shuey and Knox Smith are both there now working towards the doctor's degree. Arthur LeRosen took the doctor's degree in chemistry at the University of Iowa.

Summer School Offers Several New Courses

The summer session at Centenary College will begin this year on May 31 and will run until July 31. A short session of three weeks will run from August 2 to August 21.

Special attention is called to the fact that a full year's course may be taken in the following subjects during the term of the Summer School: Art, Bible, Botany, Chemistry, Economics, French, History, Latin, Mathematics, Music, Physics, Psychology, Spanish, Zoology, and Accounting.

Centenary Upholds Wartime Traditions

BY HALL LYONS

From the time of Centenary's founding in Jackson, Louisiana in 1825 our school has actively participated in five wars. When the Civil War broke out in 1861, the effect was so far-reaching that the school had to be closed in October of that same year. One page from the faculty minutes read: "Students have all gone to war. College suspended and God help the right!"

Immediately following the war, the friends of the college began to restore Centenary to its former position as a cultural and educational institution of the South. Even the prior Mexican War had found troops training for action on the Centenary campus. At least one company of men, who had received their fundamental training from Centenary instructors participated in that conflict.

Except for the brief excitement caused by the Spanish-American conflict, the same patriotic spirit slumbered quietly through the following years until it was awakened suddenly by the outbreak of World War I. The educational purposes of the school were once more interrupted by the tramp of drilling feet. Boys received instructions in the art of warfare which could be compared with those taught in any other school in the country. Yes, sir, Centenary was doing her duty in 1917-1918 just as she had always done before.

In an effort to carry her share of the burden of training men for this war, Centenary has had to increase greatly her normal facilities in order to accommodate so many new trainees.

Music Students Win FMC Dixie Awards

Two students of the Centenary College School of Music recently distinguished themselves in contests held in Birmingham, Alabama. Edgar Davis, of Bossier City, won first place in piano, competing in the Student Musicians' Contest of the Federation of Music Clubs for the Dixie District, which comprises almost all of the Southern states. Miss Eleanor Roquemore, of Shreveport, won third place in voice in the same series of competitions.

Mr. Davis is a student of Professor Ralph Squires, the head of the Piano Department at Centenary, and Miss Roquemore is a student of Mrs. Helen Ruffin Marshall, the head of the Voice Department.

Former Football Star Praises Publication

A letter was received within the past few days from Jimmie Welsh, a former Centenary football star, who is now the mayor of Steubenville, Ohio, one of the fine cities of that state. It has been Jimmie's practice for the past several years to send the College a nice check without solicitation from anyone. The letter follows:

I have just finished a publication of This Is Centenary, and I cannot describe in words how pleasant it is to receive some news of what is going on at the old Alma Mater. Perhaps those who are close to the school do not quite appreciate the value of these publications as much as we who are twelve or fifteen hundred miles away. Such a publication is of unlimited value in holding together the alumni of Centenary.

I have enclosed a small check which I would appreciate your putting in the proper channels—either to help defray the expense of the future editions of This Is Centenary or to the Alumni Fund.

I, personally, feel that this is

Liberal Education Is Most Important

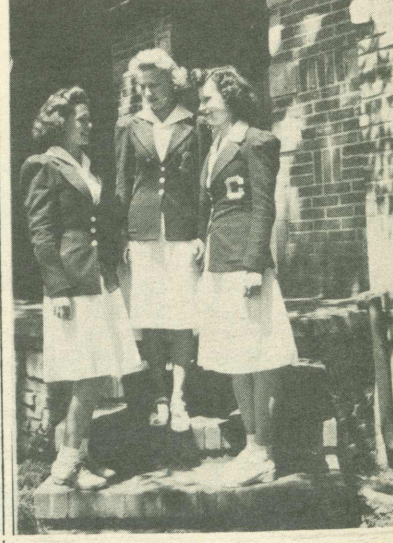

In speaking of plans for the summer semester which will open with registration on May 31, with classes starting Tuesday, June 1st, Dr. Cline said: "While it is true that many new courses have been added to our regular curriculum as an aid in training young men and women for war work, from the standpoint of the large number of civilians now in school, it will be 'college as usual' as far as they are concerned, but with work speeded up amid an atmosphere of war."

"Despite the fact that we are at war, and that this is the day of specialists, Centenary believes that a liberal education is necessary if the young men and women are to know how to live and to comprehend life. For this reason Centenary will carry on during the war period so that students may acquire the fundamentals of a liberal education and gain the knowledge of such subjects as history, ethics, philosophy, science and economics so that when they have finished with their education they will be able to go out into the world and meet the problems and take their places at the head of their respective communities."

the propitious time to get the alumni together to sponsor some project that the College is in need of. The acquisition of Dodd College should motivate any sincere alumnus to help the College.

It is difficult for me to realize that I have been out of school for approximately twelve years and have done so little for the College that did so much for me.

BUY WAR BONDS

Mrs. Bryant Davison and R. B. Schaal, Athletic directors, have just concluded a most successful year with a sports program enjoyed by all students. Beginning with the opening of school "sports for all" was the slogan adopted by the Athletic department, and the program was enthusiastically approved by the student body. One of the favorite sports was field ball, being played by the group above.

A group of Maroon Jackets, official college hostesses, are talking over plans for commencement week.

Commencement Will Begin Sunday, May 23

Centenary commencement exercises will be held Wednesday, May 26, at 8:30 p.m., in the open-air theatre on the campus. At this time the address will be delivered by Lieutenant Colonel A. B. Butts, chancellor of the University of Mississippi, and President Pierce Cline, assisted by Dean John A. Hardin and Mrs. A. R. Campbell, will present degrees to seventy graduates.

The exercises of Commencement Week will begin on Sunday, May 23, with services at the First Methodist Church, where the baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston, Texas. From 3:30 to 5 p.m. on that day, the annual Art Exhibit will be held in the Student Union Building. On Tuesday night, May 25, at 8:15, the senior play, "Letters to Lucerne," will be presented in the open-air theatre on the campus.

CENTENARY UPHOLDS

Just as friends of the college helped restore the school after the Civil War, so have friends come to her aid recently. One of these friends, Mr. Arch Haynes, made possible the purchase of the Dodd College properties. His kindly gesture was the incentive required for other Centenary friends to join in a common interest and cause. Only through this fine man's concern for our institution have we been able to maintain our traditionally high patriotic effort and spirit.

As before, our Alma Mater is the scene of war preparation where young men find knowledge which will one day be used to defend our native land.

and later with the 12th Air Force. He is really a splendid fellow, so interested in everyone's welfare and so friendly.

"I am sure you will be glad to know that he is extremely well thought of by the commanding general of his post. The general has remarked to me several times that Captain Waldrup is real officer material, that he has a real feeling of what it means to be an officer in the Army."

An extract from Captain Waldrup's letter to Dean Hardin:

"It is hard to comprehend that in the course of one rapidly moving year I have been through so many experiences and on so many different soils. I've been in the Pacific, in Greenland, Labrador, Iceland, Scotland, England, Gibraltar, and North Africa, not to mention a few 'social calls' to, or rather over Continental Europe. I hope to take part in the war against the Japs before this thing is finished.

"Of course, I realize it is not exactly the prerogative of a junior officer such as myself to comment on the course of the war, but I actually believe that the days in which the axis powers have armed troops on African soil is definitely numbered. I hope that we shall be able to completely bomb Italy until Mussolini begs for the mercy I hope he doesn't get. I don't think it is the way lots of people look at this war, but if I've grown 'tough' I'm proud of it. The fact that, as today when one of our ships was shot down, enemy fighters shoot defenseless boys in parachutes and on the ground, even though already badly wounded, shows just the type of men we are fighting. The only way I know of to teach our enemies a few things is to fight fire with fire. That's the language they understand, and if I have anything to do with the conduct of the war, this will be one war when the 'defeated' armies will never again have cause to say that they were never defeated."

Yoncopin to Feature Alumni In Service

The "Yoncopin," Centenary College yearbook of 1943, which is to be off the press May 22, has been dedicated to the "Sons and Daughters of the College now serving their Country in the Armed Forces."

The three-color introductory section artistically presents the varied activities of the more than two hundred graduates known to be in the service of our country on the battlefields of the world.

The honor roll of graduates in each of the four branches of the service—Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Marine Corps—will be featured in three-color original drawings by a local artist.

Summer Term Offers Secretarial Course

The Commerce Department of the College will offer a wide range of courses in Secretarial Science and Accounting during the summer session. Several of these courses are designed to meet the needs of young women high school graduates who wish to prepare themselves for positions as secretaries and secretarial accountants and at the same time earn college credit toward a B.S. degree in Secretarial Science.

For those who wish to complete a full semester's work during the summer session, intensive courses in typing, shorthand and office practice and secretarial accounting will be offered. Courses in advanced accounting and business law may be offered for those prepared for more advanced work.

BUY WAR BONDS

Don Brown, Art department head, who is also teaching mechanical drawing in the Physics Department, takes time out from his regular work to discuss several of Fitzpatrick's nationally known cartoons which were on display in the Art building.

Miss Betty Lawrence, instructor in Costume Designing and Interior Decoration now offers a course in Industrial Design. Students learn the art of designing many everyday articles, such as hardware and ceramics that appeal to the eye.

Second AAF School Opens On Old Campus

The second training squadron of the Centenary Army Air Forces Technical Training school has set up a post on the main campus of Centenary College with Lieut. Stanley Guess of Houston, Texas, as commanding officer. Here prospective aviation cadets will take a five months' course which includes 60 hours each in English, modern history, geography, mathematics through trigonometry, 10 hours of flight training and 190 hours of physics. After completion of the course men who qualify as aviation cadets will be classified as pilots, navigators, or bombardiers and sent to schools of the army flying command for training in these specialties.

Members of the second squadron are younger than those of the original squadron on the Haynes (former Dodd) campus, and many are from Southern states. Several of the soldier-students are residents of the Ark-La-Tex area.

Among the new arrivals is Private Louis Fraser, of Many, Louisiana, a former Centenary College student whose two brothers and sister were students here also. Private Fraser is greatly pleased to be back on the campus and takes pride in acquainting his squadron mates with the familiar features of his Alma Mater.

What greater, better gift can we offer the republic than to teach and instruct our youth?—Cicero.

Friends You Will Meet at Centenary

Mrs. A. R. Campbell, Dean of Women, and Professor John A. Hardin, Dean of the College, are two of the many persons on the Centenary College faculty who are always anxious to assist each student in every possible way.

Help Complete Honor Roll

The Publicity Committee of the College is anxious to complete its record of graduates and ex-students now serving their country in the armed services. It is hoped that a suitable plaque bearing the names of Centenary's honored sons and daughters may be erected when a complete list of names is available.

Relatives and friends of graduates and ex-students now in the service are urged to notify the committee, giving the graduate's or ex-student's name, rank, and branch of service.

All communications should be addressed to Robert S. See, Chairman Publicity Committee, Shreveport, Louisiana.

Former Students Now At Service Schools

Centenary boys who are now enrolled in the United States military schools are making fine records in their scholastic work. William Steger is leading his class in mathematics at West Point, and Lester Moore ranks high in his studies at Annapolis. Steger, who graduated from Centenary in 1941, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Steger, of Centenary College; and Moore, who attended Centenary College last year, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Moore, of Shreveport.

James Dixon, who is now completing his sophomore year at Centenary, will enter West Point at an early date; and because of his record in high school and college, he will doubtless measure up to the standards set by Steger and Moore. Dixon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dixon, of Shreveport.

NEW COURSES OFFERED

summer session to make as great a contribution as possible to the needs of the country and is offering several courses that are not usually offered during the summer. The War Program calls for large numbers of workers with special training, and the College has received many more calls for specially trained workers than it has been able to supply. Attention is directed to the wide selection of courses offered. By starting work in a given department this summer, it will be possible to take two or three years of college work in that subject within twelve months' time. Last year's summer enrollment was the largest in the history of the college.

Because of the war, the College this summer will again conduct a Short Session in addition to the regular Summer Session. In it students will have the opportunity of earning three semester hours of credit in a single course. Only courses for which there is the largest demand will be offered in the Short Session.

Dr. Shaw Publishes Book On Johnston

The Louisiana State University Press has recently released its announcement leaflet of books for spring publication; and among the books listed is a biography of William Preston Johnston, written by Dr. A. M. Shaw, Jr., a member of the English faculty of Centenary College. The designs for the jacket and the title page were done by Don Brown, the head of the Centenary College Art Department. The description of the biography as given in the announcement leaflet is as follows:

William Preston Johnston, oldest son of the great Confederate general, Albert Sidney Johnston, was a Kentucky lawyer when the Civil War began. He immediately volunteered, and served first as a field officer and later as an aide-de-camp to Jefferson Davis. From this time forward, his services for the most part were devoted to education. He became the third president of the Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge and the first president of Tulane University at New Orleans.

Mr. Shaw's scholarly work on the life of William Preston Johnston provides an interesting commentary on education and social affairs in the South during the transition period.

Degrees Conferred Upon 1943 Graduating Class

Centenary's 118th regular session ended on Wednesday night, May 26, when degrees were conferred upon seventy seniors by Dr. Pierce Cline, president, assisted by Dean John A. Hardin and Dean of women, Mrs. A. R. Campbell. Ten members of the class were in the armed forces and their diplomas were presented to members of their families or friends by Dr. S. A. Stegar, head of the English department.

Honorary degrees conferred were, Doctor of Divinity upon Rev. Leroy H. Johns, pastor of the Rayne Memorial church of New Orleans, and Doctor of Laws upon Galloway Calhoun, attorney of Tyler, Texas.

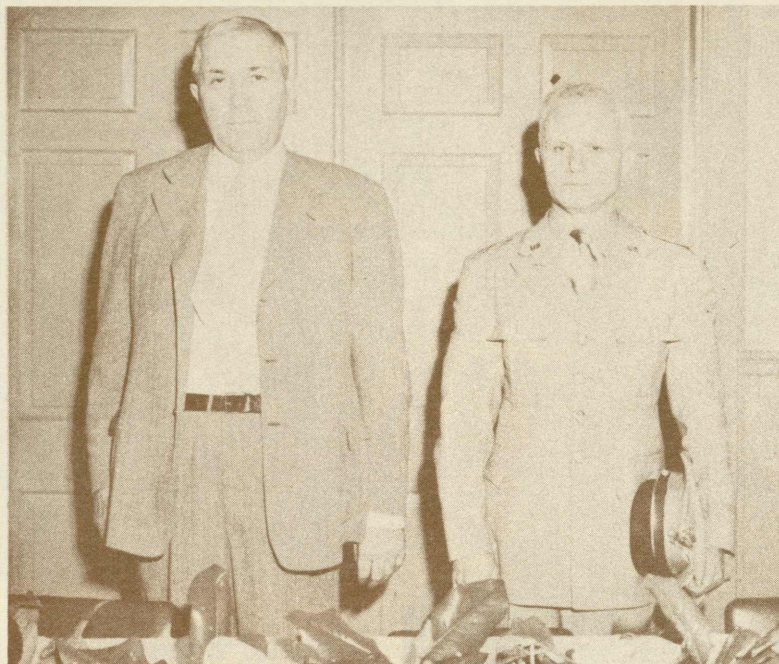

Lieut. Col. A. B. Butts, chancellor of the University of Mississippi, now on leave at Second Army headquarters, Memphis, Tenn., was speaker for the occasion and used as his subject the four words engraved above the entrance of the United States Supreme Court, "Equal Justice Under Law."

Senior chapel was held May 19, and the baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Bishop A. Frank Smith, D. D., Bishop of the Methodist.

Ensign Helen Knox, of Dallas, Texas, who completed her pre-law work at Centenary College in 1931-32, was probably the first Texas woman lawyer to receive a commission in the WAVES. Ensign Knox entered Smith College early in October, and after her indoctrination course there, was assigned to the Northampton, Massachusetts, Midshipmen's School as an instructor in naval court martials and naval boards of inquiry and investigation.

She was admitted to the Texas bar in 1938 and up to the time of her induction into the WAVES was a practicing attorney. Her picture appeared on the front cover of the Texas Law Journal for December, 1942.

College Conference Elects Middlebrook

Dr. A. J. Middlebrook, head of the department of education, was elected chairman of the education and teacher training division of the Louisiana College conference at the sixth annual convention recently held at Louisiana State university.

Record Enrollment At Summer School

The enrollment of the Centenary College summer session which opened May 31, 1943 is the largest in the history of the college. According to college officials, this gratifying increase in numbers is due to the fact that many young men and women are taking advantage of their opportunities to pursue an accelerated program of studies in order that they may finish college more quickly or may train themselves for competent service in the war effort. A satisfactory enrollment for the fall session is anticipated also.

Former Student Now Major In Air Forces

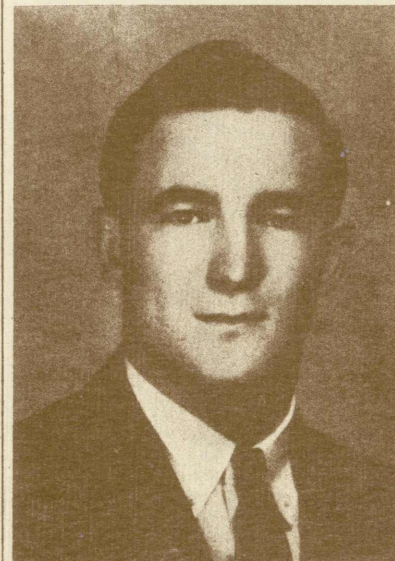

Major John L. Bradley, '40, former football star and later freshmen football coach has been knocking down German fighters over Tunisia. He has been awarded the Silver Star, the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf clusters and the Purple Heart.

He was recently featured by the Associated Press in a story describing the part our P-40's are playing in the air battles in North Africa.

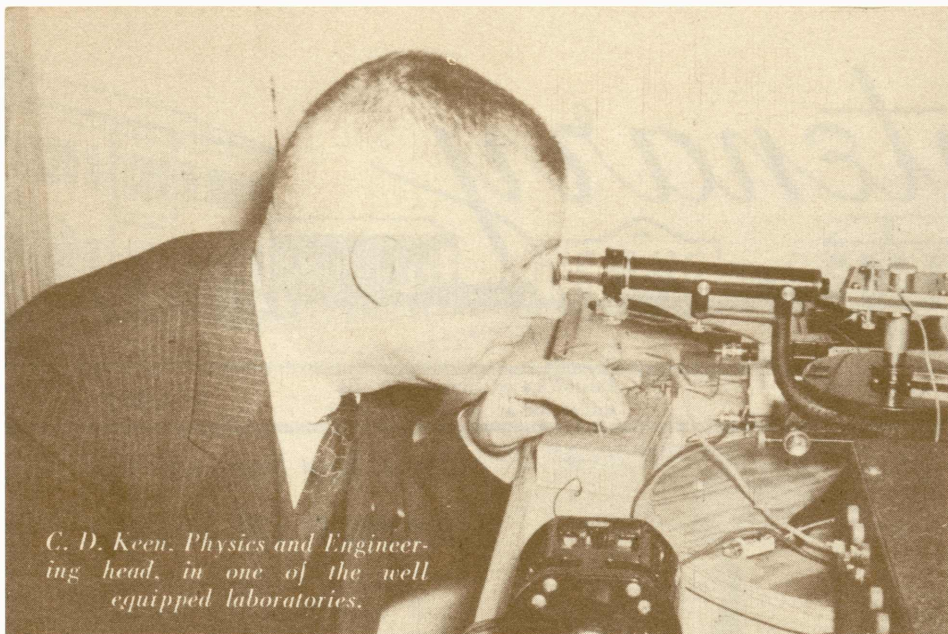

Plans Now Underway For Opening of Fall Session

Centenary College of Louisiana will open its 119th session on Tuesday, September 14, 1943. Although considerable attention and energy are being devoted to courses related to the war training program, all of the work of the regular curricula will be offered also. Besides the work leading to the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Bachelor of Music degrees, students at Centenary have an opportunity to take pre-law and pre-medical work of unexcelled quality. In the many years that pre-law and pre-medical work have been offered at Centenary no student taking either of these courses has failed afterwards in the law school or medical school which he attended; and many of these Centenary students have stood high in their classes. The American Association of Medical Colleges, in its report of 1941, ranked Centenary third among all the colleges and universities of the Southwest on the basis of the records of its students who attended medical schools. This record covered a ten-year period.

Editorial Praises Centenary Training

The war manpower commission lists four Louisiana colleges among 281 institutions in the country for utilization by the war department in special training of men and women needed in the armed forces. Centenary college of Shreveport is one of the colleges selected, the others being Louisiana State university, Tulane university and Louisiana college. While detailed announcements have not been made, it is understood that the local institution will begin immediately the training of students.

The naming of Centenary College for this important assignment shows the wisdom of its management in taking over the Dodd college properties, with dormitory, a few months ago. Without these facilities, of course, Centenary could not have taken care of any such number of trainees; indeed, there has been some discussion of its ability to care for so great a class, but The Journal is informed that before the choice was made agents of the war department made a very careful check of space and other conditions and found the local school able to do the job.

It will be a proud day for this grand old institution, oldest in the state, when Uncle Sam's soldier-students begin their training, and one of the first things they

Despite wartime conditions hundreds of students, alumni and friends joined to celebrate the completion of another milestone in the history of Centenary, and to review the splendid work the college is doing in the present crisis. As a result they gained a deepened appreciation of the fine work being done by the trustees and faculty in making Centenary a cultural and spiritual power in the territory it serves.

Many Former Gents Star On U. S. Team

Centenary alumni in wartime service are scattered over the face of the globe, serving on sea, land and in the air. Reports by press, radio and in letters tell of the distinguished service these men and women are contributing toward victory.

Nedd Looney, '40, former Gent star, now a Captain in the air corps, has been over seas for 18 months and has served in every theatre of operation except Australia and the Aleutians. He recently received his first copy of "This Is Centenary," and took time off from war duties to write Prof. See how much he enjoyed it and asked for a copy of the 1943 yearbook.

George Fair '40, of Mansfield is now on active duty in Africa serving as a Lieutenant of infantry.

Another former student to make the headlines is Lieut. Jimmy Patterson of Ruston who paraded his troops down the main street of his home town before a large crowd of old friends and neighbors, including his mother and sister.

First Lieut. Clarence L. Harmon of Church Point, La., has recently been awarded the Air Medal and Oak Leaf cluster for antisubmarine patrol duty.

continued to flourish. The Centenary College School of Music, which is accredited by the National Association of Music Schools, has had a satisfactory enrollment in all departments; and the music school staff now in daily conference with persons who expect to attend the fall session.

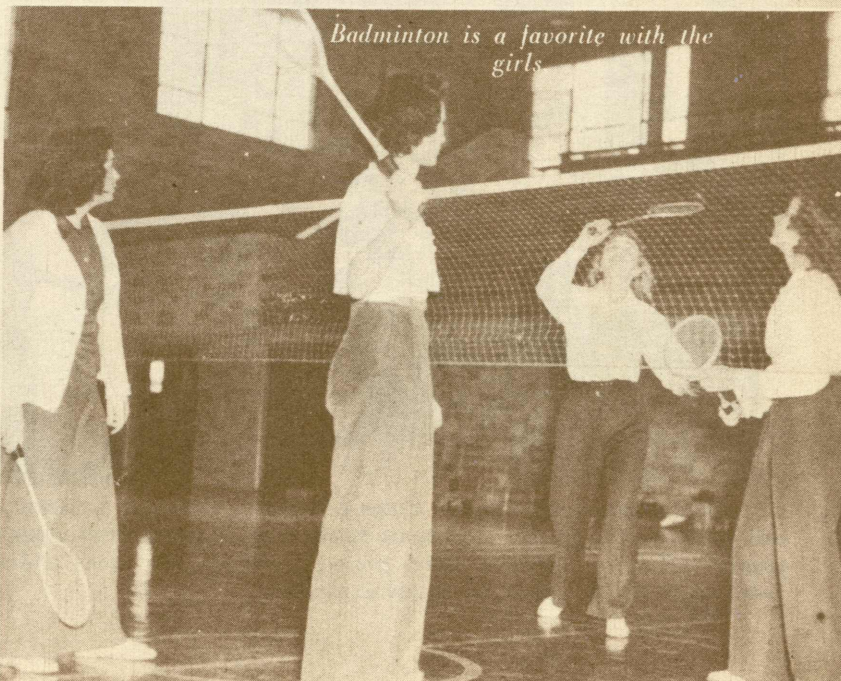

The Art Department, under the direction of Don Brown, a nationally-known artist, has been expanded to include a course in industrial design. At a recent exhibit of his students' work much favorable comment was made upon the drawings, etchings, paintings, and designs which were on display. The courses in drama, under the direction of John Wray Young, director of the Shreveport Little Theatre, and Mrs. John Wray Young, have enjoyed a constant popularity.

Wins Art Scholarship

Miss Patricia Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harper, Shreveport, has received a scholarship to Colorado Springs Summer Fine Arts Center. A student of Don Brown at Centenary, she received her B. A. degree on May 26. She is affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta sorority. After the summer session at Colorado Springs she will become a member of the Art Students league in New York.

Room for All Despite Wartime Activities

For the fifth time in its history, Centenary finds itself again facing wartime problems and the necessity of making necessary changes in its curriculum to meet the new situations. But in making these changes the college is careful not to lower standards or the quality of its work.

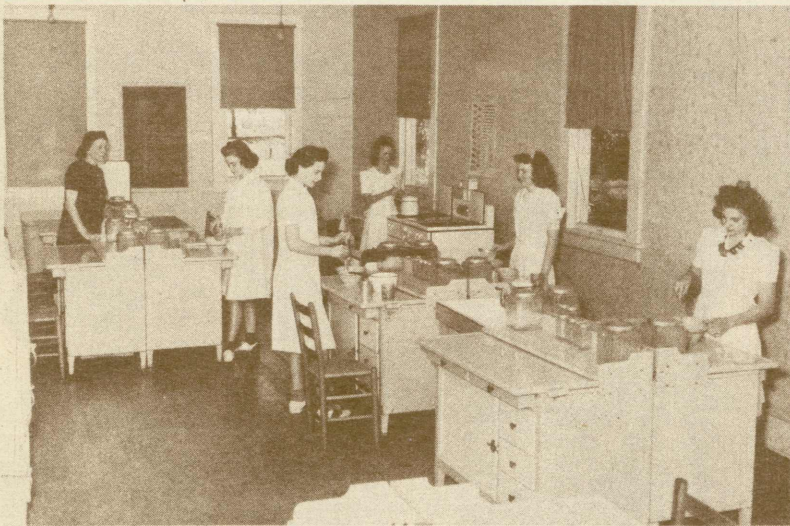

In spite of the fact that a liberal portion of the facilities at Centenary are being devoted to war training purposes, all of the needs of civilian students pursuing academic courses will be taken care of.

Dormitory accommodations for both men and women are available. Colonial Hall, comfortable residence for women, will house out-of-town girls. Mrs. Cox, dormitory hostess, is anticipating a large enrollment from this section.

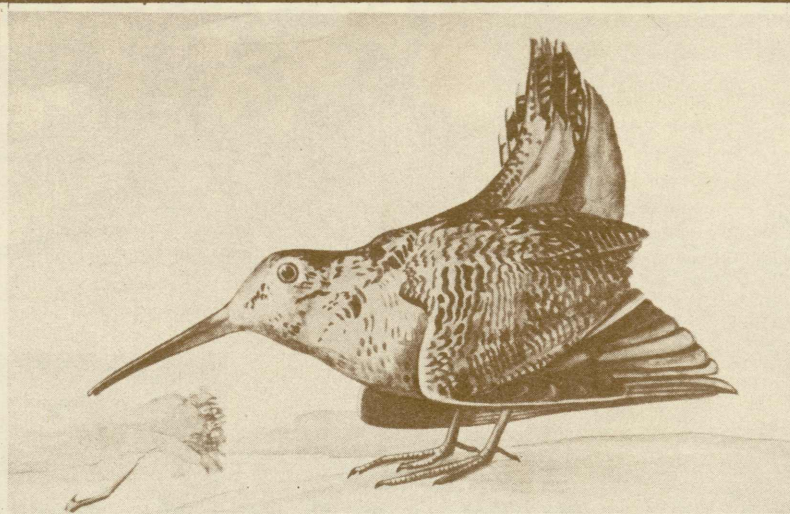

Men and women students who expect to reside on the campus should make reservations at once.

Increased emphasis has been placed on mathematics, engineering courses, physics and chemistry. Courses in the history, economics and geography of Latin America, and in the principles and practices of trade with Latin America have been added. The course in contemporary history emphasizes the analyses of contemporary events and present-day problems in the light of their historical background. Time will also be given to the problems on world peace, based on a study of peace treaties of modern history.

Brown and Woods Win Leadership Awards

Miss Jimmye Brown of Beaumont, Texas, and John Woods of Shreveport received the Centenary college leadership awards presented annually to the senior boy and girl selected for the honor by the faculty and students alike.

Miss Brown, an officer of Chi Omega sorority, received her B.A. degree in art at commencement this year. She had been named "Miss Centenary," the most versatile girl, for two years; has been a member of Kollege Kapers cast and was editor of the college year-book, "Yoncopin."

Woods, who received his B.A. degree in history, has been president of Kappa Sigma fraternity, vice-president of the student body, an outstanding debater, a member of the student senate and an officer in several college scholastic societies.

Art Department Head Shows Bird Pictures

War has resulted in an acceleration and broadening of art activities at Centenary College and the recent annual student exhibition in the Student Union Building was the largest and best in the history of the college.

Fundamentals of sound drawing and painting needed to prepare the student for the varied fields of art have always been stressed at Centenary and there will be no let-down in these standards. In addition engineering drawing, needed by future draftsmen in the many fields of war production, is now being taught in the art department under the supervision of the physics department. This course is also one of those required of pre-engineering students who will tackle the complex industrial problems of the peace to come.

Exhibited with the students work at the annual exhibit were two additional features of interest; five original Audubon birds loaned to the college by Mrs. Charlton Lyons, of Shreveport, and a collection of twenty watercolors of birds from the vicinity of Shreveport, painted by Don Brown, head of the college art department. The bird watercolors have been presented to the college biology department by the artist and will be framed and hung in the science building.

Teachers Trained In Most Modern Methods

Present conditions have caused a serious shortage of trained teachers and the teaching profession now offers rare opportunities for advancement and as a public service.

Centenary's teacher training program, under the direction of Dr. A. J. Middlbrooks, has for its primary purpose the training of elementary and high school teachers in order that they may be qualified for, or extend, state teaching licenses.

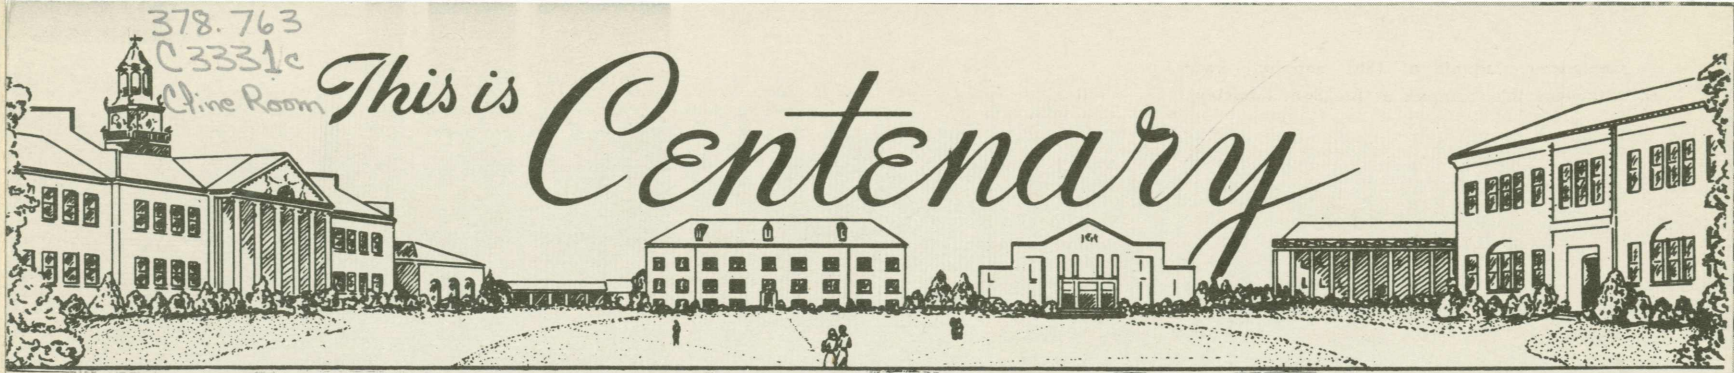

Practice teaching in elementary school work is done in an elementary school on the campus. High school practice is given at Byrd high school, of Shreveport and other approved high schools.

Problems which arise during practice teaching are later discussed with experienced instructors of the college staff and in class discussions. Students also learn the latest trends in educational practice. At Centenary's Model school, for elementary pupils, teachers are taught the advantages of the Standard Achievement Tests. How diagnostic tests can determine the exact difficulties of most students and what remedial work is necessary.

All requirements for a Louisiana teachers certificate are provided for in the program.

Glorious Past Recalled By Old Faculty Records

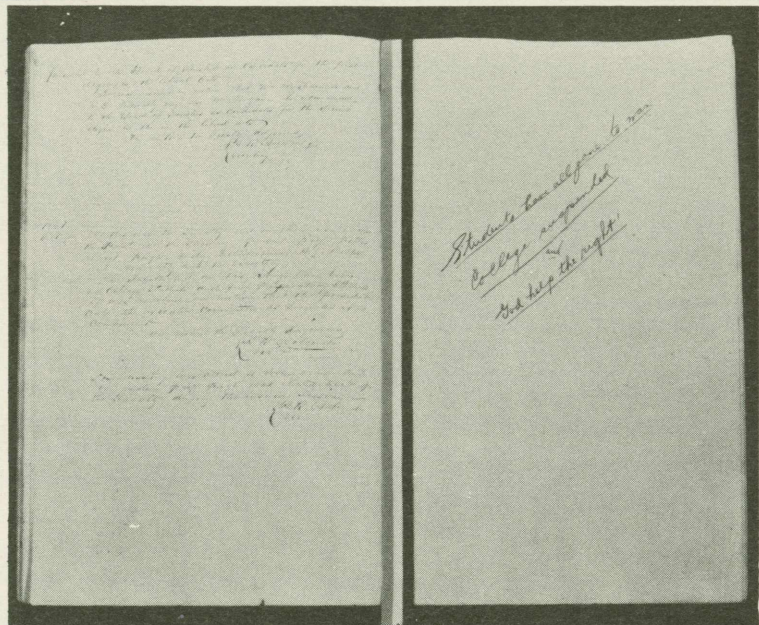

October 7 was a historic anniversary for Centenary College.

On Oct. 7, 1861—82 years ago—the faculty of Centenary College of Louisiana, then located at Jackson, assembled for what had been scheduled as the first meeting of the new college year.

Instead, it turned out to be the last meeting for several years. As the official minutes of the meeting reveal: "The faculty met this morning. There being no college students and few preparatory students, it was resolved on motion that the president call the executive committee as soon as it is convenient."

Of all circumstances connected with the long colorful history of Centenary, none stands out with such dramatic effect as the words written by the secretary of the faculty on the page opposite the minutes of that meeting. In bold, clear handwriting, diagonally across the page were inscribed these four brief historical lines: "STUDENTS HAVE ALL GONE TO WAR, COLLEGE SUSPENDED, AND GOD HELP THE RIGHT!"

The students had marched

Oct. 8, 1861 "Students have all gone to war, College suspended, and God help the right!"

"On Oct. 8, 1861, the sons of Centenary were displaying valor on the battlefields of a great Civil War. College was suspended.

"In 1943 the sons and daughters of Centenary are carrying on in a global war for Democracy and Christian civilization. Then, as now, faith was placed in a righteous God and labor accordingly. Methods then were at variance with methods now. In those days they literally stepped from class room to front lines. Now, a period of careful training and preparation is in order. Centenary seeks to serve the interests of government and people.

"As in the past, Centenary is today providing leadership, under standing and education—training which is needed more than ever before to help solve the problems of war and the difficult problems we will face after the victory is won."

—Dr. Pierce Cline.

Former Students Win Air Medal and D.F.C.

Two former Centenary students, who made a name for themselves in the classroom and on the campus while in school, recently made the headlines in the press for outstanding exploits in the African theater of war, as members of the U. S. Air Forces.

One of these heroes is Major John L. Bradley, a fighter pilot who has been on at least 60 missions during which he accounted for 15 enemy planes, was shot down, and who safely came through numerous bombing and strafing raids, and was recently away to fight in Centenary's second war in the first 36 years of its history, the college having sent a full equipped company of men to the Mexican War in 1846.

War Ravaged Buildings

When the boys marched away they left behind them a beautiful campus, studded with towering oaks, stately pines and beeches and scattered among these giants of the forest were flowering magnolias and cherokee roses. Here on the campus was a fine main structure which stood between two dormitories. Erected with slave labor and completed in 1857, it was one of the largest and finest college buildings in America.

The calamities of war and defeat fell heavily upon the college. Its beautiful buildings were used for a time as a Confederate hospital. After the fall of Vicksburg on July 4, 1862, and the surrender of Port Hudson, the college buildings were used as headquarters by the Union army. As a result the buildings suffered much damage including loss and destruction of many books belonging to Centenary's fine library.

To Shreveport in 1908

After the war friends of Centenary began the job of rebuilding and the restoration of the college as a vital force in the educational and cultural training of the youth of the South. Because of the zeal, devotion and fortitude of friends and alumni, Centenary survived the dark days of the Reconstruction period and succeeding years, and in 1908 was moved to Shreveport, where she has contributed generously to the enrichment of the highest type of leadership in religion, art, business and education throughout the South and the Nation.

Truly, Centenary's glorious past is a great heritage, and her sons and daughters today, in her fifth war, are writing another chapter which future historians will also record, with new names, new battle fronts and new deeds, all of which the next generation can look up to with pride when they read the entire history of Centenary, the oldest college west of the Mississippi River, which this fall opened its doors for the 119th regular session.

Civilians and Soldiers

And so, this year, despite another war, hundreds of young women and young men still in civilian life, are learning the lessons which will equip them for leadership in their respective communities. In addition several hundred boys, army air forces cadets, are learning fundamentals which will enable them to take their place and aid the U. S. Army Air forces in building and maintaining the finest air force in the world. And as an aid to civilian war work the Centenary War Training division is training hundreds of men and women for jobs in essential war industries.

Fine Enrollment in Centenary's 119th Year

On Tuesday morning, September 14, Centenary College opened its 119th session with the first chapel service of the year. Mr. A. C. Voran presided, and President Pierce Cline, Dean John A. Hardin, and Dean Mabel Campbell addressed the large freshman class. The remainder of the day was devoted to freshman tests and the general orientation program.

On Wednesday and Thursday both freshmen and upper classmen were enrolled. Later enrollments which continued until October 4 brought the total civilian enrollment up to 387, which number was somewhat beyond expectations. A very gratifying aspect of the enrollment was the large number of freshmen boys in this class, the number almost equaling that of the girls.

On September 28 the Board of Trustees held an annual fall meeting for the first time in the history of the college, at which time reports of excellent progress were made and plans for a larger service and influence were set forth. In the future two annual meetings will be held each year, and the business of such fall meetings will be chiefly devoted to plans for the college.

On the evening of September 28 the Board entertained the faculty at a banquet which was held at the 40 and 8 clubhouse on Cross Lake.

The administration, board of trustees, and faculty of Centenary

College express themselves as highly gratified with the prospects of the college and with the enlarged opportunities for service which are offered now. With a satisfactory civilian enrollment, a large pre-flight army contingent, an effective night school for war-training work, and an excellent academic night school, Centenary College is now offering a more varied program of training than at any time in its history.

Grad Ranks High in Harvard Navy Class

Proof that the training received at Centenary prepares students for the stiffest kind of competition, after leaving the campus, comes in a letter from John W. Marshall, Jr., class of '42, a major in economics.

At Harvard University, in the Navy Supply Corps school, where only the leading students from the best colleges and universities are accepted, John finished fifth in a class of 70. In the class were men who had ranked at the top of their classes at Yale, Princeton, Penn State and other leading institutions.

John writes that he is not bragging about his achievements, but is proud to have graduated from Centenary and that he is just another example of the ability of Centenary trained students to compete with the graduates of any university in the country.

One of Centenary's significant contributions to the war effort has been her Civil Pilot Training program—over 600 men trained before 1943 school.

As sponsor of U. S. Night War Training courses, the college has provided technical training for over 1,000 civilian war workers.

High School Students Given ROTC Training

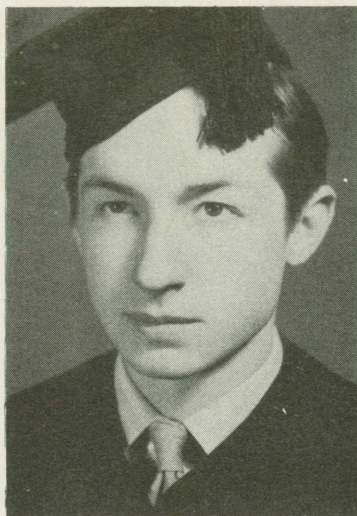

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 21-23, Centenary College held on its campus an intensive military training school for the benefit of high schools in northwest Louisiana which are interested in the development of a military training program on their campuses.

Several boys from many of the high schools in this area took the course in training, which included not only military drill but other subjects in the military field; and these boys will return to their own high schools and assist in developing a military training program there.

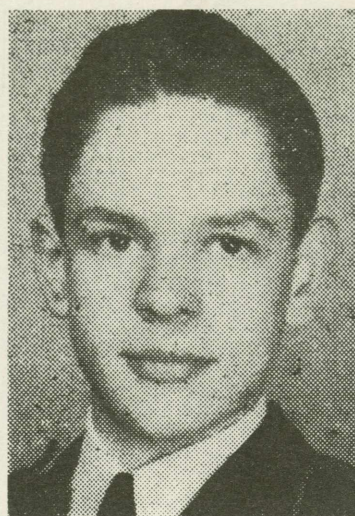

This school was a part of a nationwide program, of which Dr. A. M. Shaw, Jr., executive secretary of Centenary College, is the director for Louisiana. An excellent training staff was provided, which consisted of the following persons: Lieut. Col. R. W. Holderness, of Shreveport; Maj. P. H. Sherwood, commandant of the ROTC; Lieut. A. C. Lewis, Louisiana State University; Coach R. B. Schaal, Centenary College; Sgt. G. R. McMorran, Sgt. J. W. Weinheimer, and aviation students H. B. Park and J. H. Garraux, of the 36th College Training Detachment, Centenary campus, and Centenary student instructors Sam Lieber, Randall Fuller, George Moe, Ralph Laenger, and Edgar Jemison. This is the first of a series of four training schools which will be held at participating colleges throughout the state this year.

Dr. William E. Wallace, Jr., who received his Ph. D. degree from Louisiana State University in August, has resumed his duties as Assistant Professor of geology.

Cecil E. Ramey, Jr., of Shreveport, led the August graduating class with Summa Cum Laude honors. Richard Prindle, right, Shreveport, has received an appointment to Harvard Medical School starting in 1944. Young Prindle is a sophomore pre-med student.

Women's Club Active in Aiding Students

The Centenary Women's Club, for many years a moving force in the development of Centenary's program of service to young men and women, has adopted a far reaching program for this year. Mrs. M. W. Drake, president, has outlined a comprehensive program of activities for the year which has been accepted with enthusiasm by the membership.

Dr. Pierce Cline Dies

Dr. Cline, Centenary president, died October 25, just as this bulletin went to press, as the result of an infection resulting from a carbuncle. He had been president of Centenary for the past ten years and was one of the South's leading educators. His philosophy of education was that of character building under Christian influence for service to the community, and he did his job with outstanding success. He will be missed by students, faculty and friends throughout the world.

soldiers in a manner which has been of inestimable aid in our path to victory and a finer world after victory is won.

A partial list of these young men, graduates, ex-students and ministers now serving as chaplains in the several branches of the service include; Lt. Commander Roland W. Faulk, Navy; Lt. David Tarver, Army; Lt. Alfred Smith, Army; Lt. (J.G.) George Pearce, Jr., Navy; Lt. Willard B. Smith, Army; Lt. William Hattaway, Army, and Lt. Joseph C. Shaw with the army in India.

sent home to Shreveport for a well deserved rest.

For his outstanding service Major Bradley has been awarded the Silver Star, the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with ten oak leaf clusters, and the Purple Heart.

Another Centenary Ace is Capt. Lloyd K. DeMoss, pilot of the now famous plane, originally called "The Gentleman" and later dubbed "Bad Penny" by the crew members after it had made many sorties over enemy territory and always returned safely.

He wears the Air medal with 13 clusters and has been cited for the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Captain DeMoss, now at his home in Shreveport, on leave, has been overseas almost a year and has been in the army two years. Before he went overseas he flew on the west coast, spotting subs. From the states he first went to England and then to North Africa.

The P-38 which Captain DeMoss flew in Africa was named by him "The Gentleman" in honor of Centenary. Later the title "Bad Penny" was added at the request of his crew members. Now the plane carries both names and everyone is happy.

During his under-graduate days he was president of Kappa Sigma fraternity at Centenary College.

Music School Announces Faculty For '43 Session

When Ralph A. Squires, director of Centenary's School of Music since 1941, left for the armed services, Miss Ray Carpenter was named acting director. Miss Carpenter has been a member of the faculty since 1932, teaching piano and theory. Other members of the faculty include Miss Lillian Ponder, instructor in violin and theory; Helen Ruffin Marshall, instructor in voice; J. Robert Marcellus, instructor in wind instruments and director of the band, and A. C. Voran, business manager.

Joining the faculty with the opening of the fall semester, the newest member is Earl Douglas Stout, a former member of the faculty of Syracuse University School of Music.

Mr. Stout is a graduate of Syracuse University School of Music and has studied with Ernest Hutcheson, Max Sandow, Tina Sernor and Franklin Cannon, teacher of piano at Carnegie Hall, New York.

Although Mr. Stout has had outstanding success as an organist and choir director his chief interest is teaching piano.

A Centenary Family

Leonard F. Hattaway, who received the B. S. degree from Centenary in June was the fifth member of his family to receive a degree from the college in the past 15 years. Leonard is now a Naval Reserve medical student at Tulane.

Max W. Hattaway, first member of the family to graduate, received his degree in 1930. He is now a surgeon with the navy on foreign service. William L. Hattaway, now a lieutenant with Army Chaplain Corps, received his degree in 1935. Mary E. Hattaway, now an officer in the SPARS, received her degree in 1937. Kathryn A. Hattaway, a teacher, received her degree in 1939. Mrs. C. C. Hattaway, mother of Centenary's Hattaway's, resides in Waskom, Texas, and is the widow of the late C. C. Hattaway, for many years a prominent merchant of that community.

All Centenary Mourns the Loss of Her Beloved President Dr. Pierce Cline

A great leader passes and Centenary mourns the loss of Dr. Pierce Cline who died on Oct. 25, 1943 after a short illness. He came to Centenary in 1920 as professor of history and in 1933 was elected president, serving in that capacity until his death.

Dr. Cline was one of the South's leading educators and his philosophy of education was that of character building under Christian influence for service to the country. His office was open to everyone at the college — students, faculty and janitors.

One of his last acts was the adoption of a faculty retirement plan, to which both college and faculty members contributed.

When he took over as president of Centenary its enrollment was 320. At its peak in 1938-39 this had risen to 728 regular students.

Ten Students Given Degrees At End Of First Semester

Ten Centenary students completed their work for college degrees at the end of the first semester of the 1943-44 session. The list of those who finished at mid-term included: Matilda Abraham, Roland Achée, Betty Jane Autrey, Mantez Babin, Betty Heath Drafts, Blanchard Iles, Finis Lowe, Russell McLain, Jeanne Maynard, and Webb Pomeroy.

Two of the mid-term graduates are already in the service. Finis Lowe is in the Army and Webb Pomeroy is in the Navy.

Candle Lighting Service Is Impressive Ceremony

A ceremony which is symbolic of Centenary's christian ideals and traditions is the candle lighting service which is held annually at the College during the week before Christmas. This year the service took place in the college chapel on December 15th.

A large candle, burning in the center of the stage, served to symbolize the light of knowledge. By lighting a smaller candle at its flame, a member of the senior class signified faith and devotion to that knowledge. When the senior then lit a candle in the hands of a junior classman, the ceremony became an inspiring expression of the continuity of tradition and the growing and enduring values of college ideals.

Following the candle lighting service a Christmas program featured carol singing by children from the Demonstration School under the direction of Mrs. Paul McBride.

G. A. Wilson Named PAW Official By Ickes

George A. Wilson, who received his A. B. degree from Centenary in 1930 is now director of transportation in the Petroleum Administration for War, according to a recent announcement by Harold L. Ickes. He succeeded Major J. R. Parten, resigned.

Wilson was graduated Summa Cum Laude, majoring in History. He took an active part as a member of the debating and oratorical organizations. In 1933 he received his law degree from Tulane University.

During the years 1933-1940 Wilson maintained a private law practice in New Orleans as a specialist and consultant on oil and gas, and during this period he served part time as professor of oil and gas law at the Tulane University law school. In 1940 he was appointed general counsel to the Louisiana Conservation Commission and to the State Department of Minerals. He aided in the reorganization of these two agencies. He joined the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana in July, 1941, and also served as a director of the Mid-Continent Oil

Methodist Minister Is Honored for Service

In recognition of more than fifty years of service in Methodist church work Dr. N. E. Joyner was recently honored by the congregation of the Vivian, La., Methodist church with an open house which was attended by hundreds of his friends.

Dr. Joyner was graduated from Centenary at Jackson, La., in 1893 with an A. B. degree. Centenary conferred the Doctor of Divinity degree in 1926 in recognition of N. E. Joyner's outstanding service to his church. During his undergraduate days he was an outstanding student as well as an athlete of ability. He played quarterback on the first Centenary football team. He received his B. D. degree from Vanderbilt University and was sent to Mexico where he was pastor of the first American Congregation in Monterey. In December, 1897 he was married to Miss Sallie Austin and went to Mexico City and organized the American congregation.

Returning to Louisiana in 1903, Rev. Joyner was appointed pastor of the Methodist church at Lake Charles, later serving at New Orleans. In 1909, after touring the United States, England, and

Centenary Mourns the Loss of President Dr. Pierce Cline

At present the college has 387 civilian day students, 140 regular academic night school students, 350 in war training courses, and several hundred pre-flight students under the Air Forces Technical Training Command.

Dr. Cline secured the old civilian pilot training program for Centenary which had turned out 600 pilots prior to 1943. He opened a new department of geology, reorganized the music department, and brought to Centenary the Engineering Science and Management War Training program which has trained 1,400 persons for war jobs.

Dr. Cline dreamed of creating a post-war center of engineering and chemical research and a school of advanced business training on the Haynes campus (old Dodd College). His thought was that Shreveport would train its own men for expansion of business and industry in this section.

The high esteem in which he was held in the community is illustrated by a paragraph from an editorial in the Shreveport Times:

"A man whose philosophy of life embraced so closely the factories and the farms, the churches and the schools, necessarily was something of a dreamer at times. But, Dr. Cline's dreams were dreams that could always come true. They were ambition—not for himself, but for the things and the people with which he concerned himself."

& Gas Association up to the time he joined the staff of PAW.

Deputy Administrator Ralph K. Davies pointed out that Wilson had been executive officer of the PAW transportation division since coming to the agency, and as such had worked closely with the retiring director on all phases of oil transportation—pipe lines, tank cars, barges, lake tankers and tank trucks. Because of this experience, Davies said, he is regarded as well qualified to carry on the job which Mr. Parten has directed through the emergency period.

Information Needed to Aid in Compiling War Record of Centenary Men and Women

When the last shot has been fired and the world again becomes a place in which men can live in peace, it will be possible to write in full a history of the men and women from Centenary who have served their country with distinction and to pay fitting tribute to those who have paid the supreme sacrifice. But in the meantime every effort is being made to record the names of alumni and ex-students and their part in this war.

Among those cited and decorated for bravery in action, according to records compiled by Dr. A. M. Shaw, are Capt. M. M. Waldroup, Capt. Thomas Lavelle Murphy, Lt. Edward Railsback, Lt. E. A. Conway, Lt. Thomas Paul Carter, Lt. Samstone Holmes, Major John Lewis Bradley, Sgt. Perry Doty, Pvt. Winford Norris, Capt. Lloyd K. DeMoss, Lt. Harry N. Morris, Jr., Lt. Henry V. Earnest, Lt. Cleon Worley, RCAF., Sgt. C. E. McDonald, Capt. Jack Kelly, and Lt. (j.g.) E. S. Heim.

The list of those who have died in the service of their country includes Lt. Leon C. Allen, A/C W. H. Snyder, A/C Tom Griffith, Lt. Michael Majcher, Lieutenant Commander R. M. Raymond, Lt. Joseph E. Slattery, Jr., Capt. Cedric White, Lt. William R. S. Jones, and Capt. Gus W. Thomasson, Jr.

Prisoners of war and men listed as "missing in action" include Seaman Tom M. Hale, Flt. Officer Don M. Yancey, Marcy H. Levy, Sgt. John A. Dixon, Radioman W. H. Ellis, Lt. Wilbert W. Council, and Capt. M. M. Waldroup.

Information about Centenary men and women in the armed forces will be appreciated. All communications should be directed to the Public Relations Committee at the College.

Mexican Student Is Granted Scholarship

Miss Isabel Soledad Cuzman of Mexico City is the first student to attend Centenary under arrangement with The American School Foundation of Mexico whereby a scholarship is given to an outstanding student of this school by Centenary each year. The scholarship is given in order to establish closer contact with Mexico and to bring the Centenary students first hand information about Mexico.

Miss Cuzman was graduated from the American Foundation school in 1938 and later attended Normal school in Mexico City, D. F. She is an accomplished secretary, taking shorthand in both Spanish and English and is majoring in Social Science at Centenary.

H. L. Cain, Superintendent of the American Foundation School, is a graduate of Centenary, class of 1924, and it was through his cooperation that Miss Cuzman was selected to represent Mexico.

Kollege Kapers Praised By Men in the Services

The 1943-44 edition of Kollege Kapers, Centenary's variety show, under the direction of Dr. S. D. Morehead, has played almost entirely to audiences made up of men in the services and more than 40,000 of Uncle Sam's men have cheered and been cheered by the splendid performances of its all-student cast of players.

So far this year shows have been given at the Harmon General Hospital, Longview, Texas; Barksdale Field, La., Camp Claiborne, Camp Polk, Shreveport USO center, and Selman Field, Monroe, La. Other camps to be visited include camps Livingston and Beauregard.

Historical Documents Memorial to Dr. Cline

A special collection of historical documents and books on history and related subjects is being formed at Centenary College to be known as the Pierce Cline Historical Collection. This collection is being gathered by friends of the late Dr. Cline who feel that his influence and leadership in the field of history, where he served for many years as an instructor, can best be perpetuated through a collection of works of history which may serve students doing research in the field.

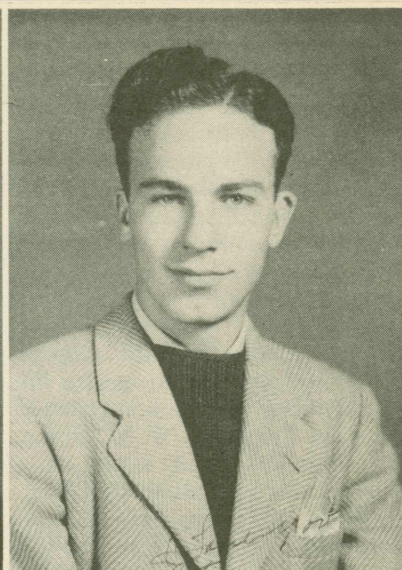

Books to be purchased for the Pierce Cline Historical Collection with funds contributed will be selected by the chairman of the committee, Dr. E. L. Ford and members of the faculty of the history department. When this collection is complete it will meet a long felt need at Centenary for adequate historical material suitable for advanced students doing research in the field of history. The collection will be located in the main library and will be available to the public as well as students of the college.

Special Services department of the Army, and from individual soldiers all express appreciation of the fine job being done to entertain the service men and congratulate the college and Dr. Morehead for Kollege Kapers.

The Camp Polk newspaper, "Armoredread" said of the show given for the men there: "Space alone forbids extended mention of all the Kapers players and their songs, skits and novelties but it was a sparkling evening . . . The GIs whooped their heads off for more after every act. If the Kaperers hadn't had to get back to Shreveport the show could have gone on all night."

1944 Yoncopin Staff Is Announced

With the announcement of the appointment of Miss Harriet Lieber, left, as editor and Harrell Larry, right, as business manager of the 1944 Yoncopin, work was started on the twenty-second annual issue of Centenary's year book—the permanent printed record of the year's achievements in every field of endeavor and a keepsake which will be treasured through the years by all students now in school.

But as we look at this year's record we wonder how many remember the first issue of the Yoncopin, or even how many know to whom Centenary is indebted for the founding of this outstanding yearbook. The founder was Dr. George S. Sexton who became president of Centenary in 1921 and who is today still honored and revered by thousands of alumni and former students. In the foreword of the first issue you will find this statement: "Doubtless no institution of

College Is Member of Council on Education

Centenary College has been accepted as a member of the American Council on Education. The Council numbers among its members the leading Universities and Colleges of America. Established in 1918, the Council is a voluntary agency which serves to coordinate the needs and resources of higher education in America. Much of the Council's interest is now being directed to constructive planning for the post-war period.

similar nature ever experienced a more rapid growth of college spirit than that which has so gloriously budded and blossomed in the school year . . . We hope that the reader may catch something of this spirit of New Centenary."

We think the Yoncopin has been a great aid in preserving that "Centenary spirit" exemplified in that first issue of the college yearbook and full credit should go to Dr. Sexton and to the hundreds of others who have helped carry on through the years.

And it's another encore for this Coed trio shown on stage during a performance given for the service men at Camp Polk.

It's time out for a snack for members of the Kollege Kapers troupe while visiting with the soldiers at Camp Polk. (Photos by U. S. Signal Corps).

Drake Family Attends For Five Generations

For five generations the Drake family has been associated with the history of Centenary College, beginning in 1839 when Dr. B. M. Drake founded Centenary as a Methodist institution and served the college as a trustee and president pro tempore.

The Rev. W. W. Drake, Sr. was the only graduate of the class of 1868, and the first to receive his degree when college was resumed after the Civil War. W. W. Drake, Jr., who served his school as a Trustee was graduated in 1888.

Marlin W. Drake, now a member of the Board of Trustees, left Centenary in 1917 to join the Army during World War I, and two of his sons, Marlin, Jr., and George came to Centenary to carry on the family tradition.

Marlin, Jr., left school in 1942 to join the Army and in 1943 George Drake enrolled as a freshman, a member of the fifth generation of Drakes at Centenary and representative of one of the most prominent families in the affairs of the college.

In 1919 he was made executive secretary for missions in Louisiana and was director of the drive which raised more than $851,000 for missions for the southern churches, Louisiana's part of a $50,000,000 campaign, in which Louisiana led the entire denomination.

Since that time, Rev. Joyner has served several Louisiana churches as pastor and has twice been presiding elder of the Alexandria district. He served as

U.S.S. Destroyer Escort Named for Raymond

A new destroyer escort, U. S. S. Raymond, was named for the late Lieut. Commander Reginald Marbury Raymond, USN, when it was recently launched at Orange, Texas, at the shipyards of the Consolidated Steel Corp. The ship was sponsored by Mrs. Helen M. Raymond, Lieut. Commander Raymond's mother.

Lieut. Commander Raymond left Centenary in 1928, where he was an outstanding student, to enter the U. S. Naval Academy. He was naval observer at the American legation, Cairo, Egypt from February until June 1942. He was killed in action on April 29, 1943 in the Pacific war theatre.

pastor at Vivian, Louisiana from 1940 to 1943 and is now pastor of the Gibsland church. He was licensed to preach at the old Carondelet street church in New Orleans in August, 1889, and is now in his fifty-fifth year of service to his church, one of the outstanding records of service in Southern Methodism.

One of the most popular men on the campus is "Brother" S. L. Riggs, manager of the college Post Office and Supply Store for the past 14 years—a student at Centenary before the turn of the century and a retired Methodist minister whose chief hobby now is "his" school.

Five To Take Final CPA Examinations In Spring

Four Centenary men have passed three out of the four required sections of the examination for the Certified Public Accountants certificate given by the State Board of Certified Public Accountants of Louisiana, during the past six months.

Preston Petty and William Burroughs, students in the College ESMWT Night School, passed the law, auditing, and theory of accounting examinations at the State Boards November exam and Austin Robertson, a Centenary graduate, completed three out of the four required examinations by passing the theory section, after having passed law and auditing at an earlier examination. These men have only one section of the examination, accounting practice, to pass to qualify for a certificate. Robert Webster and Lewis Finnell, both Centenary graduates, have passed three and two sections, respectively, of the four required examinations. All of these men will sit for the State Boards examination in May to complete the remaining requirements for their certificates as Certified Public Accountants.

Story By Brown In New G. S. Perry Book

Don Brown, head of the Art Department at Centenary College, has scored again as an author. This time in a new book entitled "Roundup Time," edited by George Sessions Perry, author of last years best seller, "Texas, A World In Itself."

This time Mr. Perry has published a collection of the best southwestern writing, which includes "Ragged Individualist," a short story by Don Brown, together with other short stories by well known southwestern writers, chapters from outstanding novels depicting life in the Southwest, a short series of biographies and criticisms. In his spirited introduction and intimate biographical notes Mr. Perry introduces the writers of the stories in a manner which establishes a close bond of friendship between writer and reader.

Other stories of Don Brown's to gain recognition include "Flying," which is included in Rose Adelaide Witham's "Essays of Today," which is required reading in many college and University English courses. He has also written for Southwest Review of Dallas, and many remember his illustrated series of articles which were written for the Shreveport Times on "Life Along the Mississippi River." At the present time, Mr. Brown is working on a book on the Cajun people of the southern Louisiana bayou country with illustrations by himself.

Dean John A. Hardin of the College recently announced the appointment of Dr. Roscoe Stinetorf as Assistant Professor of Physics.

Dr. Stinetorf is a graduate of Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., and received his M. S. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Pennsylvania.

Captain Lloyd K. DeMoss Is Killed In Plane Crash

Capt. Lloyd K. DeMoss, '40, hero of 150 missions over enemy territory in Europe was killed in an airplane crash on Feb. 11, near Ontario, Calif.

During his college days Capt. DeMoss was outstanding as a student and for his campus activities. Due largely to his efforts the Epsilon chapter of Kappa Sigma fraternity was reinstalled at Centenary and he served as first president of the new chapter in 1939-40.

After his graduation from Centenary he attended L. S. U. law school. After finishing flight school he did anti-submarine and coastal patrol duty before going overseas in November 1942. He first served in England and then in North Africa where he hung up a record which brought him the title of ace and won for him the DFC, the Air Medal and 13 oak leaf clusters.

Pvt. Ralph Squires Is Guest of Music School

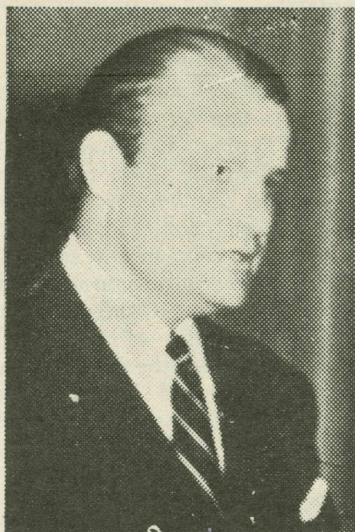

Pvt. Ralph Squires, former head of the Centenary School of Music, returned to Shreveport to play a concert in the Music School auditorium before an enthusiastic audience of friends and former students on March 13. He was on leave from his regular duties at Camp Hale, Colorado, where he is a skii trooper.

Rev. Bob Goodrich Leads Religious Meetings

Rev. Robert Goodrich, Jr., a Centenary alumnus and now pastor of the Riverside Memorial Methodist church in Houston, Texas, recently concluded a most successful Religious Emphasis week on the campus.

Each day during the week of March 21 to 24, inclusive, meetings were held from 12 until 12:45 p.m. in the college chapel which were well attended by large groups of students and faculty members. In addition there were numerous group and private meetings, all most interesting and of great benefit to the students.

Religious Emphasis week has been a regular feature at the college for a number of years and has resulted in the bringing to Centenary many of the leaders of the Methodist church, whose teachings have been of great value to the students.

War Mural By Brown To Honor Students

Capt. William G. O'Neill of the U. S. Army Air Forces has recently taken over command of the 86th College Training Detachment at Centenary.

Capt. O'Neill is a native of Boston and before entering the army was with the International Harvester Co. He studied at West Point and has had considerable experience with other student aviation groups. He came to Centenary from Mount Union College, Alliance, Ohio.

The arrival of the new commanding officer coincides with the beginning of Centenary's second year as a cadet training center. During that time more than a thousand cadets have completed their training here.

College Summer Session Will Open On June 5

The Centenary College summer session for 1944 will run from June 5 to Aug. 5 and will offer a wide variety of courses in social science, language, music and natural science.

Since the beginning of the war, Centenary has been trying through its summer sessions to make as great a contribution as possible to the needs of the country and has trained many workers for specialized service connected with the war effort.

By starting work in a given department this summer it will be possible to take two or three years of college work in that, subject within twelve months' time. Special attention is also called to the fact that a full year's course may be taken in the following subjects during the term of the Summer School: Art, Accounting, Bible, Botany, Chemistry, Economics, Engineering, Drawing, French, History, Mathematics, Music, Physics, Psychology, Spanish, and Zoology.

In its Summer School, Centenary offers courses in Physical Education which satisfy the requirements of the State Department of Education in this field.

Leadership Winners Honored in Yoncopin

A new feature page in the 1944 Centenary yearbook, The Yoncopin, will show the winners of the annual leadership award. Nominations for the award are made by the students and the winners are selected by a group of faculty members. To qualify a student must be a leader in religious, scholarship, and extra-curricular activities, departmental organizations and campus activities.

Winners will be placed in a special section of the yearbook titled, "Typical Centenary Lady and Gentleman." In addition to this honor the winners will be given a cash prize, the gift of a prominent Centenary alumnus who is anxious to encourage leadership among the students. Harriet Lieber, editor of this year's annual originated the idea for this special honor and it should become another Centenary tradition.

Ens. Burgess Serves At Tarawa and Kiska

Another Centenary graduate, Ensign Kenneth Graham Burgess, '42, a chemistry major, has made a name for himself in the records of the men and women serving in World War II.

A naval communications officer, he took part in the landing at Tarawa beachhead. As liaison officer between the marine commandant of the landing task force and the commander of the naval task force, Ensign Burgess cleared information from one group to the other and correlated action between them.

During the recapture of Kiska, Ensign Burgess was stationed aboard a Dutch merchant ship, chartered to land troops ashore. His job was the same as at Tarawa—to keep communication lines open.

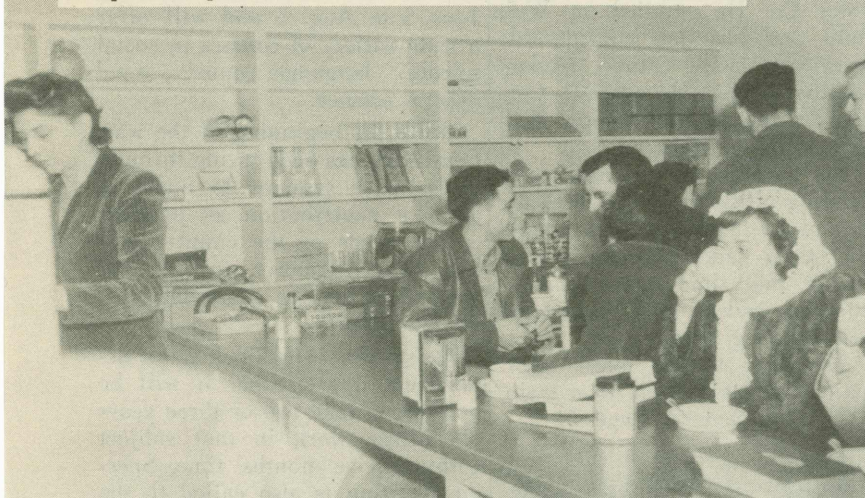

Ensign Burgess is the son of Mrs. W. M. Burgess, 4950 Line Ave., Shreveport. He recently enjoyed a two-week leave at home after eight months of combat duty and has reported back to the west coast for further duty.

Capt. Waldroup Is Prisoner in Germany

The war department has confirmed reports that Capt. M. M. Waldroup, class of '41, is a war prisoner of Germany. Capt. Waldroup, pilot of a B-17, was listed as missing-in-action after a raid over eastern Italy Nov. 27 when other fliers on the same mission reported seeing his plane go down.

Capt. Waldroup was a member of the first heavy bombardment group to go to England. He took part in the first raids over Europe and served in the invasion of North Africa as a member of General Jimmy Doolittle's air force. Fifty combat missions as a Flying Fortress pilot entitled Capt. Waldroup to retire but he chose to keep in the fight. He wears the Air Medal and several oak leaf clusters and has been decorated for his outstanding bravery.

Col. John S. Hardy Is Awarded D. S. M.

The Distinguished Service Medal "for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services" has been awarded to Col. John S. Hardy, according to word recently received by Mrs. Hardy, the former Virginia Doyle.

Col. Hardy is now serving in the Mediterranean theatre of war as a member of the staff of Lieut. Gen. Ira Eaker. He was attached to the Eighth Air Force at its inception but moved from England to the Mediterranean when Gen. Eaker was transferred.

Col. and Mrs. Hardy were members of the class of 1938.

Former Co-eds Now In Medical School

Three former Centenary girls are now attending medical school and upholding the high standing Centenary has established as a pre-medical school.

Beverly Blood, '40, a zoology major, received her M.S. degree from Tulane in 1943, and is now in her Junior year in Tulane Medical school. She was laboratory instructor in the Anatomy department for two years. A review of Miss Blood's thesis appeared in a recent issue of the Tulane bulletin "Graduate Record."

Veree Simpson, another Centenary pre-medical student, who received her B.S. degree from Sophie Newcomb, is also a senior at Tulane. Hannah Van Ingen Woody entered Louisiana State medical school last January. Her husband, Norman Woody, is a captain in the U. S. Medical Corps somewhere in Italy.

Shuffle board is a favorite with Colonial Hall girls.

Many girls select horseback riding as their required Physical Education activity.

Volley ball, under direction of Mrs. Bryant Davidson, attracts many girls.

A tune on the "juke box" at the Student Union provides entertainment.

The 'Conglomerate' Has Historical Past

The Conglomerate, Centenary's student newspaper, is in name older than most of the students and in age dates back before their father's time. When the college was located at Jackson, La., "Cap and Bells" was the title of the journal, but with the removal to Shreveport it became the Maroon and White. The graduation issue of May 24, 1922 was the last published under this name.

On Friday, October 13, 1922 the first issue of the Centenary Conglomerate was published and holding forth as editor was D. B. Binford. This was the year Dr. George Sexton came to Centenary, the school reopened its Department of Commerce, and the famous Bo McMillan was football coach.

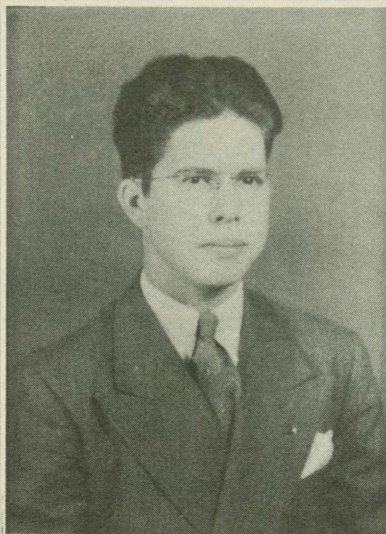

Today, the Conglomerate is published every two weeks under the editorship of Madeline Pilgreen. The paper has seen football come and go, has watched the school enlarge, and watched its sons go off to war but it still is a publication by and for the students.

Sgt. Robert C. Topper Aids New Army Program

Dr. Robert C. Topper, now in the Army Air Forces and former professor of Psychology, has been transferred by order of Gen. Arnold to the medical department for assignment to duty with the Convalescent-Rehabilitation program of the Army Air Forces.

Sgt. Topper was commended by Gen. Arnold for his excellent record as a professor while at Centenary and is at present psychologist for the regional hospital at March Field, Cal. While Sgt. Topper is serving with the armed forces his post on the Centenary faculty is being most efficiently handled by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Topper.

"Pete" Spitzkeit Is Student Body Head

Walton "Pete" Spitzkeit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spitzkeit of Bogalusa, was elected president of the Centenary student body in an election held February 18. Ike Muslow, son of Mrs. Sylvia Muslow, of Shreveport, was elected vice president.

Spitzkeit is president of the Ministerial club and a senior. The new officers were elected to fill the places vacated by Roland Achee who recently entered midshipmen's school at Notre Dame and Bob Eatman, vice president, now at the Navy radar school in Chicago.

students and alumni are now serving.

In the foreground will be a scroll bearing the names of Centenary men and women now in the armed services. In the background battle scenes featuring these men and women. This is to be a companion mural to the one painted by Don Brown some ten years ago showing life at Centenary in peace time.

The completed mural will be 24-feet by 10-feet and will be a permanent part of Centenary's history. But . . . to make it complete will take the cooperation of parents, wives, sisters and friends of all Centenary graduates and ex-students. Send in the names of any ex-student or alumnus, man or woman, whose name should be on the Roll of Honor. Be sure to give the branch of service and any other information available of his service record. Do this today!

Methodism Mourns Death of Bishop Hay

"One of the great bishops of Methodism"—such was the tribute paid to Bishop Samuel Ross Hay whose death in Houston on Feb. 4 marked the end of a half century of service to the church.

Bishop Hay was born in Decatur County, Tenn., in 1866. He received his education at Centenary and other southern schools and was licensed to preach in 1886. After serving as a junior minister at Paris, Texas, he went on to pastorates in Texas, Colorado, and Missouri.

After his election as a bishop in May, 1922, Bishop Hay was put in charge of all Methodist work in China. In 1930 he was sent to Mexico to establish the church in that country. In 1937 he returned to Centenary to assist in a fund raising campaign.

into military service before completing their college work are able to take courses in mathematics and science, which will materially enhance their chances of promotion after they are inducted.

The college will again conduct a Short Session in addition to the regular Summer Session. In it students will have the opportunity of earning three semester hours of credit in a single course.

In advanced courses it will be possible for a student to take work for six weeks, earning a credit of two semester hours for each course pursued. The shorter term is recommended for only those who are unable to attend during the entire session.

Tuition for the Summer Session is substantially less than the charge made for work during the regular session.

Last year's summer enrollment was the largest in the history of the college, and indications point to a very satisfactory enrollment this summer.

Lt. Sam Harper, '39, has been convalescing in a hospital in New Caledonia after fourteen months of active duty in Guadalcanal.

College Beauties Selected By Cadets

For years the annual selection of the Centenary beauties has been left to some outstanding artist, student group or local committee, but times are different now, and so to Harriet Lieber, editor, goes the credit for placing the burden of selecting the five beauties who will be featured in this year's Yoncopin, college yearbook, up to the army.

After nominations were made by the several school groups, the pictures of the girls were displayed in the gymnasium and the cadets stationed on the campus were given the task of selecting the five winners, the one receiving the most votes being named beauty of the year. To Miss Kitty Sneed of Shreveport, whose picture is shown above, goes the honor of representing the co-eds in this year's yearbook as Centenary's loveliest lady, according to the votes cast by Centenary's men of the Air Corps Cadets.

Former Students Make Good in State Election

Mayor Reimer Calhoun, of Mansfield, La., has been elected state senator from the Caddo-DeSoto parish district. A native of DeSoto parish, Senator Calhoun attended Centenary in 1930, leaving school to enter the automobile business. He has served as mayor of Mansfield for the past two years.

Two other former students, Wellborn Jack, '31, and Turner Morgan, '31, were re-elected to represent Caddo parish in the state house of representatives.

Committee Is Named To Select President

The Board of Trustees held its annual meeting on Wednesday, May 24 in the science library with Mr. Paul M. Brown, chairman of the Board, presiding. After the confirmation of college degrees and other business, the Board appointed from its thirty-two men and one woman membership five representatives who will join five members of the Centenary faculty to form a committee who will select a president to fill the place left vacant by the death of Dr. Pierce Cline.

119th Annual Commencement Exercises Draw Many Notables Back To Campus

The 119th commencement exercises at Centenary opened Sunday morning, May 21, with the baccalaureate services at the First Methodist Church. The baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Dr. Hugh Clark Stuntz, president of Scarritt College of Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Stuntz brought to the members of the senior class, their friends and relatives the eloquence of a leader who has had a wide and varied experience in the field of religious education in many parts of the world.

On Sunday afternoon the annual art exhibit opened at the Student Union Building and visitors to the Sub reviewed the achievement of the students and alumni of the art department. On Tuesday night the dramatic stars of the college exhibited their talents in the Senior class play.

Graduation day, May 24, brought a full calendar of events. After a morning meeting of the Board of Trustees, members of the Board joined the college faculty, the senior class and a group of alumni at a noon time banquet at the student union building. The bond between those who were returning to the campus as trustees and alumni, and those who were leaving as graduates was symbolized in the familiar and devoted presence of the faculty and vividly emphasized in talks by Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston, Dr. B. C. Taylor of Alexandria, Dean Hardin, Dean Camp-

Changes Announced In Requirements For Degrees

Of vital importance to students and alumni is a recent announcement by Dean Hardin of a change in degree requirements which will emphasize four points: the provision for a divisional major; a change in foreign language requirements; proficiency in oral and written English; and a greater emphasis on student counseling, testing, guidance, and placement.

The twenty instructional departments of the college are grouped in three divisions: the Humanities, the Social Sciences, and the Natural Sciences. During the first two years of college work, emphasis is on general education which provides the basis for all future work. During the junior and senior years the student specializes. Under the new plan a student may major either in a department, as in the past, or in any one of the three divisions. The departmental major will be especially beneficial to students who desire to specialize in one field of knowledge.

The divisional major is intended to provide a well-rounded and more fully integrated course of study for students who do not plan to continue their formal education beyond college. It will ap-

Home Economics Student Wins Outstanding Honor

Mary Elizabeth Achee, right, of Centenary recently elected state president of college home economics clubs, was a delegate to the Chicago national convention for college home economics clubs and junior home-maker clubs, June 20-23. Miss Achee's election is an especial honor in view of the growing importance of home economics in the colleges of Louisiana. Miss Achee is a student of Miss Mary Lou Ware, head of the Home Economics Department and is majoring in home making and costume design.

Nine Students to Continue Training

Three Centenary girls and six boys will enter medical and technical schools this summer after completing their professional preparation at Centenary. They are: Ike Muslow, who will enter L. S. U. medical school; A. L. Wedgeworth, Jr., L. S. U. medical school; Billye Lovelady, who will go to the University of Texas medical school to complete her course as a medical technician; Richard Prindle, who will enter Harvard medical school; Jean Fain, who will go to the Charity hospital to continue her work as a medical technician; Heyman Gardsbane, who will attend Southern Optometry school at Memphis; Loyce Crawford, who received a B. S. in biology and will continue training in medical school; Furman Eubanks, L. S. U. medical school; and James Lee West, not pictured, will also enter medical school at L. S. U.

In addition to teaching conversational Spanish, Miss Isabel Guzman, exchange student from Mexico, taught folk songs and dances of her native country to a group of Centenary co-eds. Miss Guzman is shown on this page with Mrs. Muriel Morris in the colorful Mexican costumes which they wore on several occasions this spring.

The Leadership Awards established by a prominent alumnus several years ago with a cash award for outstanding merit in student activities, were won this year by Harriet Lieber and Roland Achee. Honor student of 1944 was Betty Goldstein who graduated summa cum laude.

French Fliers Are Guests of Dr. Ford

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Ford recently entertained at their home in Shreveport honoring a group of French army fliers now stationed at Barksdale Field under the command of Captain Boettard.

Dr. Ford, head of the foreign language department at Centenary, received his doctorate at the University of Lyons, France. A native of Lyons, Mrs. Ford is head of French Relief in Shreveport and recently collected and presented over two hundred French volumes to the library at Barksdale.

Outstanding Record Made By Graduate on Army Paper

Cecil Ramey who received his B.S. in Commerce in 1943 has made an outstanding record in his military training at the University of Nebraska. He ranked tenth in a class of 1200, was associate editor of the 348th "AirCorDet," publication of the Aviation Students. In a recent issue of the paper, Pvt. Ramey revealed his literary versatility with two articles: "CTD Reviews Year of Progress" and "Roving Reporter Types Collegiate Dancing Couples." Cecil is now at radio gunnery school in Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Centenary College now offers all of the freshman and sophomore courses usually required by leading engineering colleges and universities, except some courses in shop and laboratory work which the college is not equipped to offer at this time.

The Centenary department of Commerce and the North Louisiana chapter, Society of Certified Public Accountants, were hosts at a dinner in the Student Union Building on the evening of Monday, May 7, to a number of North Louisiana men who took the State Board of Certified Public Accountants Examinations in May.

Speaker for the meeting was Harry Visor, prominent Shreveport accountant. Special guests at the dinner included Dean John A. Hardin, W. G. Banks, assistant to the president, and C. M. Pasquier, member of the Louisiana state board of CPA examiners.

R. R. Dickson, president of the Society presided and Professor Robert S. Seè, Head of the Commerce Department of the College was toastmaster. Seven of the candidates for the C. P. A. examinations, Robert Webster, Lewis Finnell, Harry Walker, William Burroughs, Preston Petty, Burgess Stringer, and Austin Robertson are students or former students of the Commerce department.

Regular Summer Session Shows Fine Enrollment

With an enrollment of more than 200 students, Centenary's 1944 regular summer school session is a most successful and active part of the regular college year. Opening on June 5 it will continue for nine weeks and will conclude with a short session from August 7 to August 26. Registration for the fall session will be held September 12 to 15 with classes starting September 15, 1944.

Through various foundations and funds, scholarship aid is available to qualified Centenary students.

Shirt Brings Luck

When Ralph F. Pullen, Centenary '35, invaded France he wore the same undershirt he had worn in the Sicilian invasion. According to Ralph: "I carefully saved the same shirt I wore in the Sicilian invasion for this party. Ten days afterward I still am wearing it and still lucky. I was singed by machine gun bullets and knocked off my feet by the burst of an 88 shell, but remain whole."

Fraser Family Has Reunion Despite Wartime Conditions

Five welcome visitors to the Centenary campus were members of the Fraser family of Many, La., who recently held a reunion in spite of being widely separated by their war services. Richard Fraser, a Centenary graduate of 1935, is now a lieutenant in the navy. His brother, William, a graduate of 1936, is an army chaplain, a first lieutenant. Their younger brother Louis attended Centenary twice, first as a college student in 1939 and later as an aviation student in the training program of the 86th army detachment. Since then Louis has won his wings as a fighter pilot. Other members of the party were Mrs. William Fraser and Mrs. William M. Creed (Mary Fraser) who attended Centenary in 1938.

Three Centenary students have recently received graduate appointments on the James Duke Endowment plan of Duke University and will enter the School of Divinity to begin work on the degree of Bachelor of Divinity. peal to pre-medical and pre-legal students, to teachers working for state certification, and to students who plan to take much of their work in night school.

The modification of foreign language requirements will provide greater flexibility in this field and will permit a reduction of the minimum requirements in the case of all degrees except the A. B. departmental major.

The emphasis on proficiency in oral and written English will be implemented by standardized proficiency tests and a supervision of term papers and themes in all departments of work.

Members of the Centenary faculty who inaugurated and developed student counselling have found that its success warrants a greatly extended development which will provide a continuous and personalized service which will more fully develop the abilities and interests of the individual student.

bell, and members of the senior class.

At 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, commencement exercises were held in the open air theatre. Dr. Paul Quillian, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Houston, addressed the graduating class, reminding them of their great responsibilities in a war-time world and keynoting their service by saying, "No other way of life demands such spiritual vitality, noble living, and high principles, as does the democratic order."

Of the 63 members of the class of 1944, 46 received their degrees at the May convocation. Diplomas were presented by Dean Hardin, assisted by Dean Campbell and Prof. Banks. Of the six seniors in the armed forces, only Robert Eatman of the navy was present to receive his diploma; other servicemen were represented by members of their families.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on Mr. Henry L. Cain of the American School Foundation of Mexico City. A Centenary graduate of 1924, Mr. Cain is internationally known for his educational work in Mexico and his promotion of Latin American understanding.

After the commencement program, a reception for the seniors and their friends was held at Colonial Hall.

Centenary College library contains, besides unbound material, approximately 26,000 volumes of books on all subjects.

Historical Violin and Diploma Owned By Family of Miss Elizabeth Houston

Miss Elizabeth Houston, class of '44, is a member of a family which has many outstanding connections with the history of Centenary. Elizabeth is a great-niece of John Houston whose violin and Centenary Franklin Institute diploma are among the many interesting heirlooms owned by his granddaughter, Miss Rosa Houston.

John Houston, a first cousin of the famous Texas general, was a descendant of the Carters of Virginia who moved to Mississippi and whose name figured prominently in early Centenary history as alumni, trustees, and a college president. John's brother James graduated in 1853; he was a schoolmate of the younger Hannibal Carter whose father's name appears on the Franklin Institute diploma along with that of John Houston.

John Houston studied music

while at Centenary and as a captain of the Confederacy he took his violin with him through the Louisiana campaign and the battle of Mansfield. After the war, he turned to the study of law. By marriage he became connected with the family of Judge Edward McGehee, a great pioneer builder of Mississippi and Louisiana whose generosity and character meant so much in the history and the development of Centenary.

New Illustrated Catalog Is Now Available

An attractive, illustrated booklet which presents, in combination with the regular college catalog, a graphic and comprehensive survey of Centenary College has just been received from the printer and is ready for distribution.

The booklet is especially interesting because it describes the recent changes in the college curricula and explains the important new degree requirements. The booklet also offers to the prospective student many valuable suggestions as to the choice of a career and the selection of a course of study best suited to the achievement of a sound basic development in the chosen field. Special attention is given to a consideration of the place and problems of education in the postwar world.

Fourteen pages of pictures are included in the new booklet to give a vivid glimpse of various phases of campus life at Centenary. Featured are the beautiful buildings of the Haynes campus which are now to be used by civilian students, and included also are pictures of the comfortable dormitories and the homelike dormitory life, the well equipped lab-

Boulevard, will be included as an integral part of the civilian student plant at the opening of the regular fall term in September. Heretofore used by army personnel as part of Centenary's service in the AAF training program, the new campus and buildings are an important element in both Centenary's present expansion and in plans for post-war developments.

Most of the administrative and business activities of the college including registration, student assembly, and business arrangements will still be conducted on the Centenary Boulevard campus. The office of the assistant to the president will be located in Annie Haynes Hall, central building of the new campus group which will also house the class rooms, laboratories, and library of the study courses scheduled for that campus.

A beautiful building in the stately Georgian architectural design, Annie Haynes Hall is a three story structure whose forty-four rooms include modern laboratories and excellent equipment for and where to study. Along with the veterans will be new high school students, the chief hope, according to many educators, of making up the shortage of new professional men, teachers, chemists and engineers which has been growing more acute since the start of the war.

Every veteran with reasonably good schooling who went into service before he was 25 or who can show any interference because of service with his education is entitled to a year in college. The government will pay up to $500 for his tuition and fees for the school year, and $50 to $75 a month for his living expenses. Longer service entitles him to as much as four years in college, studying straight through the calendar year, if he wishes, so as to get a full college course and two years of medicine, law or graduate study in addition.

It is estimated that at least 500,000 veterans will return to college after the war.

Centenary is expanding its facilities to meet the needs of returning service men and women and is now prepared to take care of their special problems.

Dr. C. D. Keene Announces New Engineering Courses

Varied Sports Program For All Men and Women

"Sports for all" is an ideal which can be realized at Centenary not only because the department of physical education at the college has evolved a plan by which students in every class may participate in the fun and healthfulness of a versatile, all-round physical training program, but also because facilities for swimming, boating, golfing, riding, and other sports are available.

The department of physical education, under the direction of together with course in mathematics, chemistry, and other regular freshman work, a student can meet the requirements for first year work in any outstanding school of engineering. Plans for further expansion of the pre-engineering training at Centenary include the earliest possible addition of sophomore courses in a variety of fields of engineering.

Coach Ryland B. Schaal, is well equipped to satisfy the needs and interests of athletic activities in every category, from those who wish to specialize, to coach, or to teach physical education to those who wish to learn the games and group activities where the pleasures of sport and the benefits of health are the main consideration.

The inauguration this past year of a new system of intercollegiate athletics in Louisiana, one which places the emphasis on group activities suitable for all students, has added to the intramural sports and games of the past few years a new zest and incentive for contestants in every sport. With Coach Schaal directing the program for boys and Mrs. Bryant Davidson in charge of physical education for the girls, Centenary students look forward to a year of wholesome athletic activity.

Credits to Be Allowed For Secretarial Courses

Beginning with the fall semester, Centenary will allow college credit toward a degree for courses in typing and secretarial practice. Two semester hours credit will be allowed for the course in elementary typing and secretarial practice and four semester hours for the advanced course.

According to Miss Amanda Wilson, instructor in Secretarial Science, students majoring in secretarial science and secretarial accounting will find this new plan especially helpful in arranging their courses of study. Students transferring from other institutions where credit is given for secretarial work will also find it advantageous.

New Courses Announced By Music School Head

Mr. Earl D. Stout, acting head of the School of Music announced recently that plans for expansion of the Music School will include two new courses: a complete course in organ, making possible a degree with that subject as a major, and a complete course in church music which may also be chosen as a degree major. Other courses offered as a major for the Bachelor of Music degree are: violin, voice, piano, and music education.

"This Is Centenary," your college bulletin, is made possible through the courtesy and cooperation of Shreveport business institutions. The June issue was contributed by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., and this issue by Southwestern Gas and Electric Co. The bulletin has a circulation of 6,000 copies.

academic study and research.

The courses scheduled for the new campus are part of the Humanities division of the college curriculum and include all classes in art and home economics and most of those of the history department, classical literature and foreign languages. Dr. S. A. Steger of the Humanities division has arranged the entire college schedule to permit, insofar as possible, a student or a faculty member to schedule his or her classes so that all work for any given day will be on the same campus.

For those whose schedule requires a change from one campus to the other, four college busses will provide rapid and regular transportation without charge. The School of Music and the classes of the natural and the social sciences will remain on the Centenary Boulevard campus.

Shreveport Hall, the beautiful residence hall on the Haynes campus, will be used as a dormitory for women. Spacious and pleasant suits and private rooms are available for seventy-two women students. The suites consisting of two bedrooms with connecting bath are ideally designed to meet the needs of college girls.

The parlors and social rooms of Shreveport Hall provide ideal settings for social and club meetings for the resident girls. Numerous tennis courts and game fields are conveniently located on the campus for the use of the coeds. Postal service and supply stores will be maintained on the new campus. All of the buildings on the Haynes campus will be refurnished and redecorated before September 10th.

Modern Chemistry laboratories provide ample opportunity for individual research by advanced students.

National Honorary Fraternities on College Campus

Eighteen national and local honor societies and fraternities maintain chapters on the Centenary campus. Among the national honorary and professional fraternities at Centenary are Alpha Chi, national honorary fraternity for juniors and seniors; Alpha Sigma Pi, honorary fraternity for freshman and sophomores; Alpha Sigma Chi, honorary chemical society; Sigma Pi Sigma, national physics society; Pi Mu Sigma, honorary fraternity for pre-med students; Chi Sigma Nu, educational society; Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity.

Other clubs and organizations of student interest are the French club, the Spanish club, the Pre-Law club, the Commerce club, the Ministerial club, and the Art club. Cenhomec is the organization for the home economics students.

The Cen Coe Club is an inter-sorority group which promotes good will among all campus organizations. The Aufait club is a social club for non-sorority girls.

One of the outstanding honors for coeds is membership in the Maroon Jackets, a group of girls who act as hostesses for the college and assist at all important social functions.

Two New Professors Will Join Centenary Faculty

Two new professors who will join the Centenary faculty this fall are Dr. Otha King Miles and Mr. Lester A. Somers. A Centenary alumnae of 1931, Dr. Miles returned to the campus to teach geography in the scholastic program of the 86th army detachment. She joins the regular college faculty as assistant professor of education and psychology and

Mr. Somers will join the faculty of the School of Music in September as instructor of violin and theory. He is from Fremont, Nebraska, and received his Master's degree in music from Northwestern University. Mr. Somers' musical background includes private study with Victor Kuzdo, Leopold Auer and other internationally famous teachers, extensive concert work as a symphonic violinist, and wide experience as a teacher of violin, theory, band and orchestra in colleges in Nebraska, Arkansas, and Illinois.

Gen. N. B. Harbold Presents Award To Chr. Brown

Termination of the Army Air Forces air crew training program at Centenary on June 30 was marked by a number of ceremonies in which officials and army personnel took part.

On Saturday, June 29, the stadium was the setting for the final, formal review of the 86th Detachment and ceremonies included presentation to the college of the detachment colors. The presentation was made to Dean John A. Hardin by Lieutenant C. W. Johnston, commanding officer of the group, who expressed the hope that the official colors would serve as a symbol "to remind posterity as it passes through these educational portals that men their age made freedom of education possible." To many it will also serve to recall the record of other wars in which the college has met the challenge of trying times with vigorous affirmation of its ideals.

Further tribute to Centenary's contribution was made on July 6 when the college was formally presented a "Certificate of Service" from army officials. Members of the Centenary Board of Trustees, faculty, and representatives of the army air forces were present for the ceremonies held at Annie Haynes Hall on the Haynes Campus when Paul M. Brown, Chairman of the Board, received the Certificate of Service from Brigadier General N. B. Harold, personal representative of Brigadier General Walter F. Kraus, commanding general of the AAF central flying training command of Fort Worth, Texas.

The scroll, bearing the seal of the command, read in part: "Certificate of service award to Centenary College in recognition of the meritorious service rendered the army air forces training command during World War II."

The department of drama at Centenary is in charge of directors whose experience and success are widely recognized and at various times Centenary players have starred in Little Theatre plays as well as their own college productions.

Former Centenary Girl Now WASP Ferry Pilot

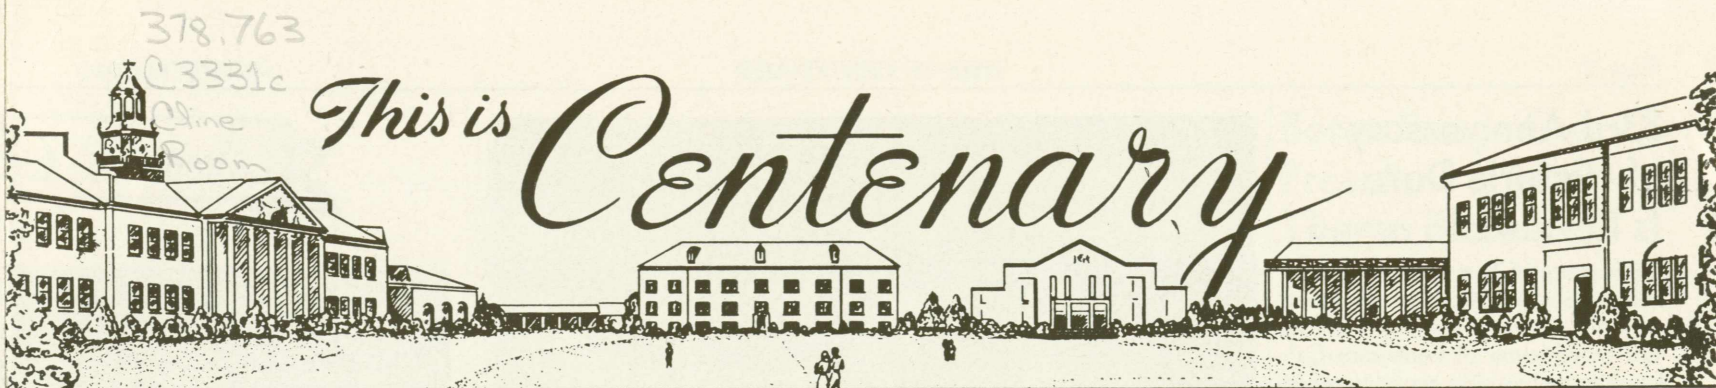

Miss Margaret Chamberlin of 639 Slattery Boulevard, Shreveport, recently received her wings as a pilot in the W.A.S.P. at Avenger Field, Sweetwater, Texas.

Miss Margaret Chamberlin

Miss Chamberlin received her B.S. degree from Centenary in 1940 and was employed by Badgett Flying Service as office manager before entering army service. She is now stationed at Love Field, Dallas, where she is a ferry pilot for the Air Forces. She is the niece of Mrs. E. N. Wood of Shreveport.

Mrs. W. C. Yancey New President of Women's Club

An organization which is ever prominent in the affection and gratitude of Centenary students and faculty is the Centenary Women's Club. Founded in 1938 under the guidance of Mrs. John A. Hardin. The club numbers among its members the mothers of Centenary students and friends of the college who bring their interest and talents to the development of social and recreational affairs of the student body and to the beautification of the buildings and the grounds of the campus.

Mrs. W. C. Yancey is president of the Centenary Women's Club. Other officers include Mrs. J. B. Entrikin, vice-president, Mrs. Sep Hetherwick, recording secretary, Mrs. A. C. Copeland, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Paul M. Brown, treasurer, Mrs. John A. Hardin, historian, Mrs. Marlin W. Drake, auditor, and Mrs. Paul E. Clay, secretary.

First College School For Training of Nurses Opens With 145 Registrants

One hundred and forty-five student nurses registered at Centenary on September 6 in the opening of a centralized, city-wide nurse training program which was inaugurated by Centenary with the co-operation of five Shreveport schools of nursing. The first of its kind in the nation, the new training program was planned with the approval of representatives of the Louisiana state board of nurse education and the U. S. Cadet Nurse corps.

The new plan provides that the students enrolled will receive 18 weeks training in subjects to be taught by regular members of the

The Alumni roll of Centenary College includes thousands of names of graduates and ex-students of whom the Alumni Association tries to keep a correct mailing list and up-to-date information. To keep our members in touch with present developments at Centenary and to prepare material for eventual publication of a useful, informative Alumni Directory presents a problem in which the help of alumni and ex-students would be greatly appreciated. 83rd Anniversary of Historic Date Is Reviewed

The date of October 7, 1944 recalled to those who are familiar with the outstanding dates in the 120 year history of Centenary College the memorable occasion when the period scheduled for the opening of the term of 1861 found college classes disbanded because all students had gone to war. Through years in which the life of the college has been interwoven in the fabric of community development, through periods of national crises and readjustments, the Centenary tradition has been enriched by increasing opportunities to teach and to train for true leadership.

The date of October 7, 1944 found the new term of 1944-45 well under way, with the physical plant of the college expanded to care for the largest enrollment in recent years and the plans of the administration directed toward the mutual advancement of college and community. Registration in the regular academic day classes now totals 440 students.

While a contemporary reporter of college affairs could add to the old records and the Roll of Honor the names of the many Centenary men and women who are serving with devotion and distinction in the armed services, he could note also that registration in 1944 included the names of fifteen men and two women whose enrollment under the "G. I. Bill of Rights" is a presage of important, post-war trends in education.

Also indicative of the change from emergency wartime measures to services of a more enduring nature is the fact that the dormitories and class rooms which were last year occupied by the aviation students of the 86th army detachment are now utilized in the program of nurse education inaugurated nationally by Centenary and five Shreveport schools of nursing. Enrollment in the pro-

Dean Hardin New President Louisiana College Group

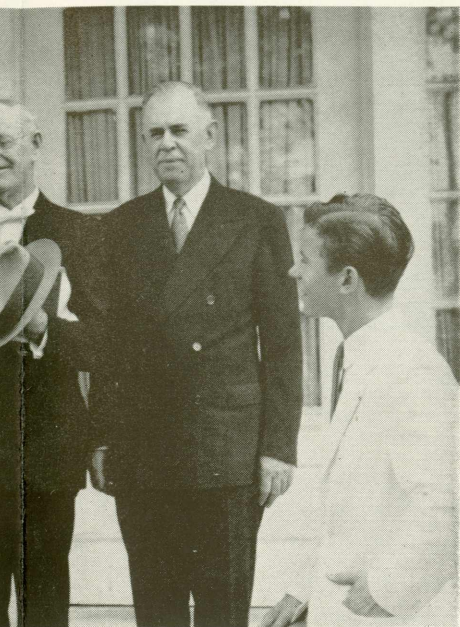

Word has just been received of the election of Dean John A. Hardin as president of the Louisiana College Conference at a meeting in Baton Rouge.

This association of colleges and universities met this year to discuss educational problems and the advancement of higher education.

Prof. Gerard Banks, Dr. J. B. Entriakin, Dr. S. D. Morehead and Dr. E. L. Ford also attended the conference.

While in Baton Rouge Prof. Banks represented Centenary at the meeting of the Louisiana post war committee of the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges.

The Centenary Night School, founded in 1933, as an integral part of the college curriculum, opened the 1944-45 session with over 350 students. Under the direction of Dr. S. D. Morehead, the Night School offers courses taught by members of the regular college faculty and a number of special teachers.

The evening classes of the government-sponsored ESMWT program, conducted at Centenary under the direction of Professor Robert S. See, now have an enrollment of over 270 men and women enrolled for the special training made available by the program.

Altogether, the two-campus, day-and-night programs offered at Centenary now have a total enrollment of more than a 1000 students and gives every indication that the new academic year will be one of vital and valuable developments.

The course in aeronautics, taught by Claude Hamel, manager of the Shreveport municipal airport, has attracted a group of students of wide and varied interests including business and professional men and women, high school students, co-eds from the regular day school, and a number of active service men, among them several overseas veterans.

Dr. Shaw's Book Has Been Approved By State Board

Dr. A. M. Shaw, Jr., associate professor of English at Centenary college, has received word that the State Board of Education recently placed his book, "The Life of William Preston Johnson," upon the approved list for high school libraries throughout Louisiana.

Recognized as the definitive biography of Johnson and a significant contribution to the increasing bibliography on Southern leaders, Dr. Shaw's scholarly work has been praised by critics both for its excellent historical research and the lucid literary style in which it is written.

In addition to his biography of Johnson, Dr. Shaw has also written numerous articles and studies for the leading historic journals which have a special value to those who are concerned with the political, military, social, and educational history of the South."

Fraternities Announce Pledges After Rushing

Following rush week, the six chapters of national Greek letter social fraternities and sororities at Centenary held their respective pledging ceremonies. Among the fraternities, Kappa Alpha pledged twenty-four, Kappa Sigma thirty, and Lambda Chi Alpha six. Among the sororities, Alpha Xi Delta pledged nineteen, Chi Omega sixteen, and Zeta Tau Alpha seventeen.

Highlight of the rush season for the sororities was the Pan Hellenic tea held in the Student Union Building, September 11. Mrs. A. R. Campbell, dean of women, and Mrs. W. C. Yancey, president of the Women's Club, assisted in the social ceremonies and Mrs. Robert S. See was announcer for the style show in which the co-eds pre-viewed the fall fashions.

Ex-Students Escape From German Prison Camps

Two Centenary ex-students, AAF heroes who were for a while war prisoners of the Germans, are now safely back in the states and have recently visited in Shreveport.

Capt. John Oliphant, a P-51 pilot known for his daring flying as "the flying cowboy," was reported missing in France three days after the invasion began. A veteran of more than 70 missions with numerous medals to his credit, Capt. Oliphant has not disclosed the manner of his escape from the Germans.

Lieut. William Eichelberger, a P-47 pilot, was reported missing

Baton Rouge C. of C. President Is Now Theron Brown

Theron Brown of the Class of 1929 was recently elected president of the Baton Rouge Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the directors. Formerly affiliated with Wray-Dickinson Co. in Shreveport as their sales manager, Theron is a partner in the Dutton-Brown Motors Co. in Baton Rouge where he has lived for the past five years.

While at Centenary, Theron and his wife, the former Margaret Holmes, B.A. '29, were outstanding in college activities. Theron was a member of Kappa Alpha and student manager of Athletics for the college. Margaret was a Zeta Tau Alpha, a college beauty, voted most popular girl. Both Theron and Margaret were members of the Yoncopin staff, the debating club, and the national forensic society, Pi Kappa Delta.

after a raid over France in June. Injured when his plane crashed, captured and hospitalized by the Germans, Lieut. Eichelberger escaped his captors when they evacuated France by pretending that he was unable to walk. Lt. Eichelberger is to return to his home soon for an extended furlough.

Capt. Oliphant, the son of Mrs. Tressie Harris, 918 Fairview, attended Centenary in 1941-42. Lieut. Eichelberger was at Centenary in 1943 when he enlisted in the Air Forces. He is the nephew of Mrs. J. B. Sloan, 427 Stephen-son, Shreveport.

Seven Members of Carlton Family Attend College

A member of the freshman class at Centenary College this year is Dick Carlton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Carlton, 3442 Penick St., Shreveport. Dick is the seventh and youngest of a family of whom Centenary is especially proud.

Elizabeth Carlton, B.S. 1936, majored in biology and worked as a medical technician before taking her M.A. in hematology at Emory University. After a year's work as a government technician, at Tulane and is now an instructor in mathematics at Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga. During the past summer, Virginia did post-graduate work at the University of Chicago.

Dick Carlton, Class of 1949, is the seventh member of his family to attend Centenary College.

Elizabeth entered Johns Hopkins University this fall to work on both her doctorate of philosophy and a medical degree.

A Mathematics major who graduated at Centenary in 1939, Virginia Carlton received her M.A.

An outstanding member of the Class of 1940 was Beatrice Carlton, now Mrs. John S. Fraser. Before her marriage last May, Beatrice worked in the Department of Archives at L. S. U., acting as head Archivist.

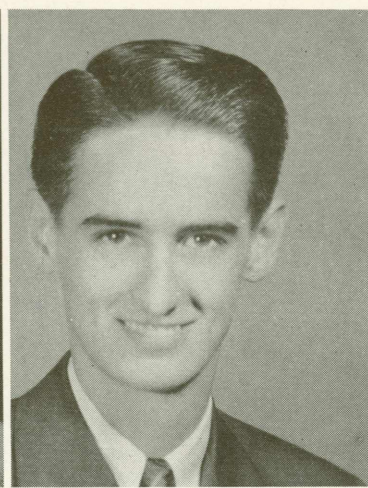

Jack Carlton, Class of 1942, is an officer in the chemical warfare division of the U. S. N. R. Jack's work comes under the heading of military secrecy, but those who remember his record as a chemistry major feel confident it is important and well done.

Charles, the second of the four Carlton brothers, attended Centenary from 1940 to 1942. He is in an Armored Division of the army and is attending Officers Candidate School at Fort Benning.

A Centenary student of 1941-43, David Carlton, like his brother Jack, is in the navy. For four months he served as a Pharmacist Mate at the Naval Hospital in New Orleans and is now completing his pre-medical training under the V-12 program at S. L. I.

Like the other members of his family, Dick Carlton, Class of 1949, has a predilection for science and has planned his college work in that department.

A complete 3-year course in Louisiana law, a course in oil and gas law, and a complete curriculum of the ground school subjects needed in qualifying for a private or commercial pilot's license are among the courses being taught in the evening school at Centenary.

Carolyn Clay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Clay, 1122 Janther Place, Shreveport, recently appointed editor of the Conglomerate by the student publications committee, and Vance Mason, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Mason, Fairhope, Alabama, appointed business manager.

Freshmen Class Members Represent Many States

The Freshman class of 1949 has begun its first year at Centenary College with a membership of students from 50 high schools and 10 states. The states include Florida, Arkansas, Alabama, Maryland, Virginia, Texas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, South Carolina, and Louisiana.

The largest number from any one high school is the group from Byrd High School of Shreveport which numbers 74, followed by the 37 students from Fair Park High School, Shreveport.

Cadet Nurses Take Initial Training At Centenary

Unique in the history of nursing is the program now being offered by Centenary in cooperation with the five Shreveport hospitals. Young women are offered an opportunity to get a lifetime education free, aid the war effort and enjoy the privileges of 18 weeks training at Centenary with full college credit.

A new class will open at the College February 2, 1945. All tuition, fees, board and room is furnished free by the government, and in addition a monthly cash allowance is given each student nurse. Acceptance of this free training does not mean the student must enter the armed services. She can take up any one of many positions open to graduate Registered Nurses such as: Public health nurse; Visiting nurse; Private duty nurse; Air line stewardess; Industrial health nurse; Hospital superintendent or director; Nurse in Veterans or Marine hospital, and many other interesting and well paid positions, both at home and in foreign lands.

New Alumni Secretary

During the past year Miss Mary Louise Hussey, '27, has served as Alumni Secretary for the College and has assisted in the publicity and public relations work under the direction of Prof. R. S. See. Miss Hussey is compiling a list of all alumni and ex-students serving in the armed forces and in order to make it as complete as possible needs your help.

If you know of any former Centenary student now in the armed services write the Alumni Secretary, Centenary College, Shreveport, La., and give the person's full name, home address, service address and any other information which you think is of interest.

College Observes Annual Ceremony

The annual Candle Lighting Service, a traditional ceremony at Centenary, was held in the chapel Friday, December 15, in the last student assembly before the Yuletide holidays. As an appropriate setting for the service, the chapel stage was beautifully decorated by the Centenary Women's Club in Christmas greenery and bright flowers.

Bill Roberts, president of the student body, opened the service with a talk on the history and religious significance of the Candle

'GIs' Take Advantage Of Readjustment Act

Since the passage of the "GI Bill of Rights" giving returning veterans of World War II the opportunity to complete their education, 15 former service men have enrolled at Centenary.

Under the provisions of the Readjustment Act any veteran who went into the service before he was 25, or who can show any interference with his education because of service, is entitled to at least a year in college. Length of service is the deciding factor as to the length of his college attendance. The government will pay up to $500 for tuition and fees for each school year and $50 to $75 a month for living expenses. Greater benefits are provided for veterans with service connected disability.

It is important that all friends of Centenary know the essential provisions of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act and it is important also that you know that a vet- (Continued on Page 3)

Lighting Service and a tribute of gratitude to its founder, Mrs. R. E. Smith. Robed in white, members of the Senior and Junior classes marched in a procession past a large candle which was glowing at the front of the stage to signify the flame of Christian idealism and knowledge. After lighting a small candle at the central flame, each senior then transferred the light to a candle in the hands of a junior. When the students took their places on tiered platforms at the sides and back of the stage the candles formed the pattern of a candleabra.

As a new feature of the ceremony this year, the College choir, under the direction of A. C. Voran, gave a choral reading of the Scriptural text of the Christmas story. Other musical numbers included two arias from "The Messiah," beautifully sung by Mrs. Lester A. Somers and Eleanor Roquemore.

The program for the chapel service was directed by Dr. A. J. Middlebrooks with the assistance of Mrs. Bryant Davidson.

Registration for Spring Semester February 2-3

The meeting of classes on Monday, February 5, 1945 will formally open the spring semester of the 120th year of Centenary's service as an institution of the liberal arts and Christian tradition. Registration for the spring semester will take place on February 2-3 in the Arts Building from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1-4 p. m.

The second semester of the 1944-45 session will find the College well established in the many innovations which marked the opening of the fall semester; the use of Haynes campus for civilian students, the inauguration of the Nurse Training Program on the main Centenary Boulevard campus, the addition of a complete aeronautical course to the college curriculum, and the adoption of a change in degree requirements designed to take advantage of the most modern and progressive trends in higher education.

Registration for the fall term at Centenary found 448 students enrolled in the regular day school, 148 in the Cadet Nurse Training Program, 323 in the evening school, and 233 in the night classes of the government sponsored ESMWT courses. Among (Continued on Page 4)

Religious Emphasis Week

Religious Emphasis Week, which has been an important feature at Centenary for a number of years, regularly features outstanding speakers who bring to the students vital messages of the Christian religion.

This year, as usual, Religious Emphasis Week will be held in March and the speaker will be Dr. Hugh Clark Stuntz, President of Scarritt College, Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Stuntz is a speaker of unusual ability and has a message of great appeal to college students. Each day during the week meetings will be held in the College chapel and in addition there will be group meetings for the students and faculty.

Chairman Brown Outlines Plans for Future Needs of College at Louisiana Conference

In his annual report to the Louisiana Conference of the Methodist Church, Paul M. Brown, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, outlined the plans being made to meet future needs of the college and to promote its growth and development.

Mr. Brown said: "Plans for the College for the future are being formulated jointly by a committee of the Trustees and a committee of the Administration and Faculty. The Chairman of the board has secured the services of an architect to draw up plans for the future disposition of buildings on the main campus. If the College is to serve adequately the educational needs of the Tri-State Area it should have within the next five years an increase in endowment approximating a million dollars; and it will require a building program on the main campus which will cost at least a million dollars. Our first building to be constructed after the war will probably be a library, to be known as the 'Pierce Cline Memorial Library.' Some funds for this building, including cash and pledges, are already on hand. The joint Committee of Trustees and Faculty, charged with the responsibility of nominating a President, have really worked hard at the job of finding someone who would be acceptable both to the Trustees and to the Faculty and in whom we could all take increased pride as the years go by. We have reason to believe that this Committee will soon be able to make its report to the full Board of Trustees."

"The hope for growth and development which the College may cherish for the future will in large measure depend upon our ability to make the type of education a student receives at Centenary not only distinctive and different but Christian as well. If we succeed in that, Centenary will be a College worthy of the name, and one which the community and State can ill afford to willingly let die."

'Greeks' Celebrate Their Annual Gridiron Battle

This year's edition of Centenary's oldest traditional intra-mural gridiron battle, Kappa Sigma versus Kappa Alpha for the fraternity "Greek" championship of the campus was another thriller.

What the game lacked in professional skill was made up by the spirit and enthusiasm of the members of each squad and the fine sportsmanship displayed was a fine tribute to the excellent work being done by Coach R. B. Schall with the intra-mural program of sports for all students.

At half-time Miss Joan Gibbons, Zeta Tau Alpha, was crowned queen by Professor W. Gerard Banks with all the pomp and ceremony of former home coming celebrations. The queen was selected in a contest among all women's organizations on the campus. All proceeds from the game were donated to a student loan fund and a worthy charity.

The final score—Kappa Sigma 0—Kappa Alpha 0.

On May 31, 1944, Centenary completed its 119th year as a Liberal Arts college. The 1944 graduating class numbered 62, bringing to 1,773 the number of persons who have received degrees since the College was founded.

Centenary Bulletin Has Been Published By Good Friends

In January 1942 at a meeting of the directors of the Advertising Club of Shreveport your bulletin, "This is Centenary," was born and with this issue is starting its fourth year.

The Advertising Club believes that Centenary is one of Shreveport's finest civic assets and that too few people realize the value of the school to the city and the territory served. "This is Centenary" was started to furnish former students, prospective students and friends of the college, the story in pictures and words of activities on and off the campus and to record the history of Centenary men and women now scattered throughout the world.

To finance the publication a number of Shreveport business institutions were asked to pay for an issue each. Sponsor of the first issue was Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., followed by First National Bank, Southwestern Gas and Electric Co., United Gas Co., K. C. S. L. & A. Railway Lines, and the Journal Printing Co. All of these firms have sponsored one or more issues and to them goes the thanks of Centenary College for helping make the publication possible.

The initial number issued March 1, 1942, was distributed to 2,000. This issue again sponsored by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. will be distributed to 8,000 including alumni and ex-students; all Methodist ministers and other church leaders in the state of Louisiana with one or more copies going to every community in Louisiana.

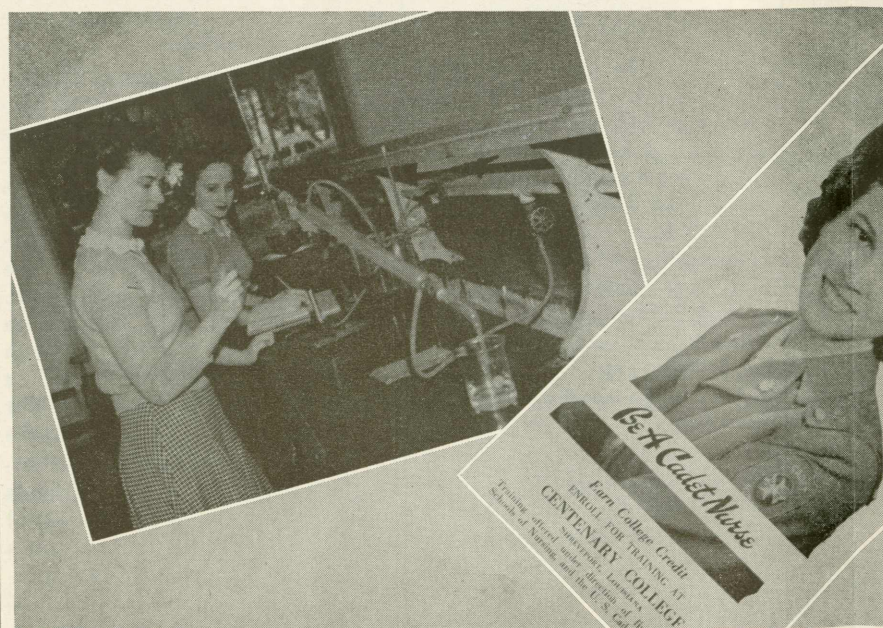

The bulletin also is sent to all newspapers in the Ark-La-Tex area; to parents of students; to graduates of high schools in this area and to the faculty and students now in college.

Publication of the bulletin has been under the supervision of Prof. Robert S. See, head of the Department of Commerce, assisted by Miss Mary Louise Hussey, '27, Alumni Secretary and Paul E. Clay of the Arkansas Natural Gas Corporation's advertising department, who was serving as president of the Advertising Club of Shreveport when "This Is Centenary" was proposed.

Financial Report Is Made by Committee

According to figures released by the chairman of the College Administrative Committee the undervalued value of the investment in the physical property of Centenary is $1,196,341.00. At the end of the fiscal year, May 31, 1944, the College had $2,853.58 in funds available for loans to worthy students; $466,123.62 in general endowment investments; $66,599.74 in restricted endowments, the income from which becomes available for loans to students, and $15,646.97 in a special library building fund. The College also had $58,468.79 unexpended in its plant funds and ended the year with a current operating surplus of $7,290.44 exclusive of inventories.

First Nurses' Class To Graduate on January 23

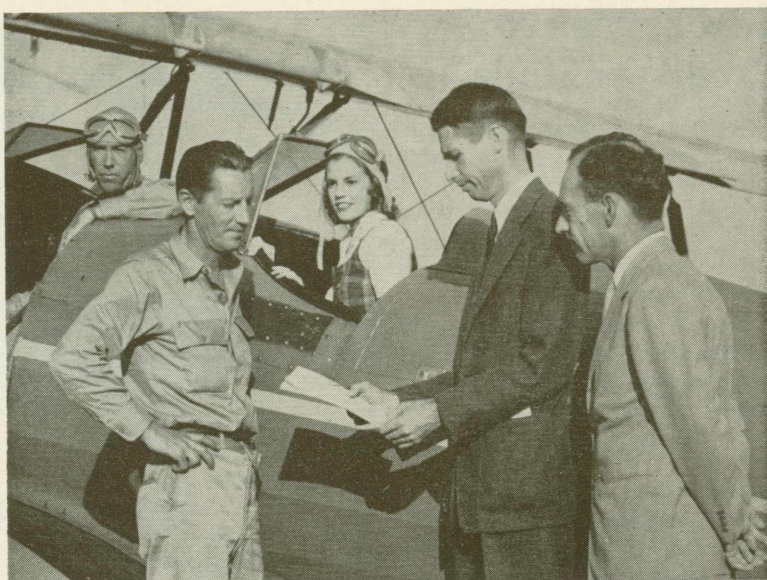

On January 23rd, the first class of 145 student nurses will have completed their 18 weeks training at Centenary and, after receiving their certificates from the College, will report to the various Shreveport hospitals for the remainder of their training.

This program, inaugurated by the college in co-operation with the five Shreveport schools of nursing, is the first of its kind in the nation, and has the approval of the Louisiana State Board of Nurse Education and the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps.

Since enrolling in September the members of the student-nurses class have received instruction from regular members of the faculty, assisted by special teachers. Those completing their work satisfactorily will receive college credit in chemistry, anatomy and physiology, nutrition, microbiology, psychology, sociology, history of nursing, first aid, health and hygiene and physical education.

All of the young ladies are housed in Rotary Hall and Colonial Hall, and have all the privileges of the regular civilian students, including the use of the library, physical education facilities and are invited to take part in all social activities of the college. All tuition fees, board and room is paid by the U. S. government.

College Now Offers Two Courses in Aviation With Full College Credit

Another step forward in her effort to provide education to meet all the needs of present and prospective students is the new aeronautical courses now being offered at Centenary.

To meet the needs of an aviation-minded age and to prepare for the past war interest in flying, two courses in aviation are now available, one in flying and the other in ground school subjects.

The Centenary School of Aeronautics is the only one of its kind in the state and one of the few in the entire south to offer a full course in aviation.

Under the direction of N. B. Badgett, daytime classes in flying are given at the Shreveport Municipal airport. The staff of instructors are licensed pilot instructors and all planes are government inspected and approved. Primary training planes used are the latest type Piper Cub trainers. For those students who desire advanced training which will enable them to get a commercial pilot's license, Wacos, and other planes are used.

Ground school courses are offered by the Evening School under the direction of Claude Hamel, a certified government instructor. He was the seventh person in the United States to qualify to teach the complete ground school curriculum. Full college credit is given for the successful completion of these courses, which are under the supervision of Dr. S. D. Morehead, director of the School of Aeronautics.

eran may attend the college of his choice in any part of the United States, whether it be state-supported, Church-related, or independent.

We don't think that every alumnus or friend should or would attempt to persuade every veteran to attend Centenary. Our accommodations are too limited for that and we realize that many veterans will not want to attend a liberal arts college. But we are anxious for our friends and former students to know the main features of the bill so that they can discuss the selection of a college with the veterans of their acquaintance and in particular with those who may be interested in the opportunities and advantages which Centenary and Shreveport offer.

As to the Centenary students in the Armed Forces who have not completed their college work, we look forward to their return to the campus with keenest anticipation.

Centenary has expanded its facilities to meet the needs of returning service men and women and is prepared to take care of their special problems. A special committee consisting of Dr. John B. Entrikin and Prof. W. Gerard Banks is prepared to give service men and women information concerning this program.

Captain Walter B. Jacobs, Jr., Class of '42, recently returned to his home in Shreveport for a short leave after more than two years' service overseas. He saw service in North Africa, Italy, and Southern France, as commander of a motor transport unit.

Captain Jacobs was a prominent student leader during his two years at Centenary, having served as business manager of the Yoncopin, college yearbook, in 1941.

Service Men to Get Credit for Study

Centenary College will grant full college credit to returning service men for certain college-level specialized courses taken while in the armed services, according to an announcement by Dean John A. Hardin.

Dean Hardin stated that credit will be allowed for courses taken by service men in the Army Specialized Training Program, the Navy College Training Program, and the U. S. Armed Forces Institute. Other specialized in-service programs of study on the collegiate level will be considered for credit whenever possible.

In general, Centenary College will follow the principle outlined by the American Council on Education in evaluating credits of veterans who wish to take college work toward a degree.

It is the desire of the Administration of the College to be as generous as possible in evaluating service courses of former students, but the value of the degree which these students seek must not be depreciated through too far reaching generosity.

credit (17 semester hours). Any young lady in good health, a graduate of an accredited high school, between 17 and 35 years of age, with a pleasing personality, is eligible to be a Cadet Nurse. Young women who wish to consider this opportunity to secure free college training should write Dr. Mary Warters, Director of Nurse Training, Centenary College, for a copy of the new illustrated brochure, "Free College and Professional Training With Pay," which gives full information concerning the Cadet Nurse Training Program.

A letter from Pfc. Lee H. Snow, Jr., who is located in the European theatre of operations, to Prof. R. S. See shows that former Centenary students who left the campus to enter the armed services are much interested in returning to school under the "GI Bill of Rights" plan.

Lee says: "Well, I have been in the army two years now, and expect to be in two or three more, so when I get out I am going to use the "GI Bill of Rights" and go back to college. If I stay in the army four years I'm going back to college for four years, though I only need 14 hours for a B.S. degree."

Centenary Pilot to Wed British Transport Worker

First Lt. William C. Graff, Class of '42, lead pilot on the Liberator "Delectable Doris" and veteran of 23 combat missions, announced his engagement to Miss Doris Falconer of London at the recent anniversary party given by his group.

The group, commanded by Colonel Robert B. Miller of Clinton, Illinois, celebrated its first year in the European Theater of Operations. It has won the War Department citation for its part in the record low level bombing attack on the Ploesti oil fields last August and recently won a Division citation for all around excellence.

Graff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Graff of Shreveport, La., and is a graduate of Fair Park High School and Centenary College. At college he was the chairman of the Inter-fraternity council, and president of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

His fiancée, Miss Falconer, was born in London and now resides at Eltham, a suburb of the big city. She is a graduate of the Henwick Road School for Girls and is now employed by the Ministry of War Transport.

Lt. Graff wears the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters.

Scholarships to Be Given For Christian Service

Of interest to all prospective students who plan to study for the Christian Ministry or some form of lifetime Christian Service, is the recent announcement by Gerard Banks, Assistant to the President, that Centenary is now giving a full tuition scholarship to all students who can qualify.

At the present time there are two students in college who are ministers and occupying pulpits. There are three young men studying for the Ministry and nine young women who are preparing themselves for some form of full time Christian Service.

Yearbook Staff Is Announced for '45

Members of the Student Publications Committee of the college faculty recently announced the appointment of the staff of the 1945 Yoncopin, college yearbook.

Miss Katherine Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Turner, and Miss Harriet Schram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Schram, both of Shreveport, were appointed co-editors of the yearbook. Miss Clarie Tinnin, daughter of Mrs. L. B. Tinnin, 3401 Beverly Place, Shreveport, will be advertising manager of the publication.

Miss Turner and Miss Schram are sophomores at Centenary and both worked on the 1944 Yoncopin, Miss Turner as associate editor and Miss Schram as picture editor. Miss Tinnin attended Ohio State University last year and was a member of the business staff of the university year book.

National Scholastic Frat Announces New Pledges

Thirteen members of the Freshman class were pledged to Alpha Sigma Pi, national honorary scholastic fraternity, December 6. These students were chosen for their high scholastic averages, character, and leadership.

The local chapter of Alpha Sigma Pi was founded in 1931 by Mrs. A. R. Campzell, Dean of Women, who serves as faculty advisor for the group. The new pledges are Bill Harwell, Bonneau Peters, Dale Adams, Melba Jeanne Loveall, Betty Lou Porter, Lel Hamner, Edith Griffin, Clara Leggette, and Robert Clifton, all of Shreveport, Betty Stephan and Jean Hayes of El Dorado, Arkansas, and Mary Jean Fauria of Pensacola, Florida.

Centenary's President Mickle Has Had A Most Successful and Varied Career

The many friends, ex-students, and alumni of Centenary will be happy to meet our new President, Joe J. Mickle, A.B., A.M., through the columns of your quarterly bulletin, "This Is Centenary."

Those who have had the pleasure of meeting him personally, since his arrival on the campus, are impressed with his ability and his interest in his new college home, and are sure he will be able to guide Centenary through the coming years to the goal which all of us look forward to . . . an outstanding Christian college which will develop the abilities and interests of the individual students to the highest degree, and maintain Centenary as one of the finest small colleges in America.

A Texan by birth, President Mickle graduated from Southern Methodist University, received his

M.A. degree from Columbia University, and also studied in the Columbia School of Business Administration. He holds a Certified Public Accountants certificate in the State of Texas.

College Awards Degrees to 53 Seniors

Centenary's 120th commencement exercises were opened Sunday morning, May 20, with the baccalaureate services at the First Methodist Church. The annual sermon was delivered by Bishop Paul Elliott Martin, D.D., Bishop of the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference of the Methodist Church.

Highest honors for a member of the 1945 graduating class went to Miss Eleanor Brown, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Brown of Shreveport, who was awarded her A.B. degree in Art, Summa Cum Laude.

Miss Brown has been an outstanding student during her four years in college. She was one of Centenary's representatives in Who's Who, is a member of Alpha Chi and Chi Omega.

On Sunday afternoon the annual art exhibit was held at the Student Union Building, and during the afternoon a reception was given by the Board of Trustees for President and Mrs. Mickle, which was attended by a large group of former students, friends of the college and members of the faculty and graduating class. Tuesday night the dramatic stars of the college presented the annual commencement play.

Graduation day, May 23, started with a meeting of the Board of Trustees, who after their meeting joined the college faculty, the Senior class, and a group of alumni at a banquet in the "Sub."

Wednesday evening in the open air theatre the commencement address was delivered by Dr. Matt Locke Ellis, President of Hendrix College, Conway, Ark. Dr. Ellis discussed world democracy and the part we must play in the present effort to make the peace

Summer Session Has Large Enrollment

The 1945 summer session, which opened June 4, and will continue through August 4, has an enrollment to date of more than 355 students. The curriculum for the session includes a wide variety of courses in social science, languages, music, and natural sciences.

Since the start of the war college officials have realized the necessity of providing an opportunity for high school graduates to complete as much of their education as possible, before being inducted into the armed services. Experience shows that those with training in science and mathematics have a much better chance for promotion after their basic training.

To meet these needs Centenary has expanded its courses and has made every effort to meet the needs of the young men and women of this area. Many students who started work this summer will be able to complete a full year's course in their chosen subjects.

Blaxton and Rigby Elected Centenary Lady and 'Gent'

Outstanding among Centenary traditions is the annual election of the "Centenary Lady" and "Centenary Gentleman." Honors this year go to Miss Betty Blaxton, Shreveport, and Russell Rigby, Shreveport, who were selected by the student body.

plans developed at San Francisco work.

Fifty-three seniors were awarded degrees by President Mickle, assisted by Deans John A. Hardin and Mabel Campbell and the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Boyd M. McKeown of Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. McKeown is a native of Texas, received his A.B. degree from Southern Methodist University and his M.A. from University of Chicago. He also did graduate work at New York University, Columbia, Colorado and the University of Pottiers, France. He holds a life membership in the Texas State Teachers association.

Following the commencement program a reception for the Seniors, faculty and friends was held at Colonial Hall.

Facilities Expanded to

Centenary has expanded its facilities to meet the needs of returning service men and women and is prepared to take care of their special problems. A special committee consisting of Dr. John B. Entrikin, Dr. S. D. Morehead and Prof. W. Gerard Banks is prepared to give service men and women information concerning this program.

Since the passage of the "GI Bill of Rights" giving returning veterans of World War II the opportunity to complete their education, 30 former service men have enrolled at Centenary.

Under the provisions of the Readjustment Act any veteran who went into the service before he was 25, or who can show any interference with his education because of service, is entitled to at least a year in college. Length of service is the deciding factor as to the length of his college attendance. The government will pay up to $500 for tuition and fees for each school year and $50 to $75 a month for living expenses. Greater benefits are provided for veterans with service connected disability.

It is important that all friends of Centenary know the essential provisions of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act and it is important also that you know that a veteran may attend the college of his choice in any part of the United States, whether it be state-supported, church-related, or independent.

As to the Centenary students in the Armed Forces who have not completed their college work, we look forward to their return to the campus with keenest anticipation.

Kollege Kapers Pleases Students and Servicemen

Passing the 300 mark in shows presented since the founding of Kollege Kapers, this year's show was up to the same high class entertainment presented in former years. Since the war many of the shows have been given for the benefit of Servicemen at camps in the Shreveport area. This year the cast presented two shows at Camp Polk, La., other shows at hospitals for servicemen in the Ark-La-Tex section, and the annual show in Byrd High auditorium for students and friends of the college.

The audience of the 309th performance elected Miss Jean Elder, "Miss Kollege Kapers of 1945." Miss Elder is a Junior and a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She does a dance number, appears in a dancing trio, and the Kollege Kaperettes.

Centenary is justly proud of her show, under the direction of Dr. S. D. Morehead, who has had many former players who have gone on to great success in the entertainment world. Recently Life magazine featured a story of Mrs. Robert A. Hester, the former Betty Brewer of Hot Springs, Ark., who got her start in Kapers. She is now playing on Broadway with Katherine Cornell.

Faculty Members Retired

Three Centenary College professors, Dean R. E. Smith, head of the department of Biblical literature; Dr. Katherine Jackson French, professor of English; and Prof. W. G. Phelps, professor of foreign languages, were recently voted the rank of professor emeritus by the college board of trustees. The rank became effective June 1, and marks their retirement as full time instructors.

Dr. Mary Warters, Professor of Zoology, who received her Ph.D. degree from Texas University in 1943, is the author of an article in the latest issue of the University of Texas annual publication, "Studies in Genetics of the Drosophila."

Titled "Chromosomal Aberrations in Wild Populations of Drosophila," a scientific study of changes taking place in the chromosomes of the fruit fly during a period of time. This study shows that certain chromosomal abnormalities which can be produced in the laboratory by X-ray do not exist in nature, because they are lethal to the animal. Other abnormalities are found to exist and are responsible for variations in the species.

New Cadet Nurses To Report in Fall

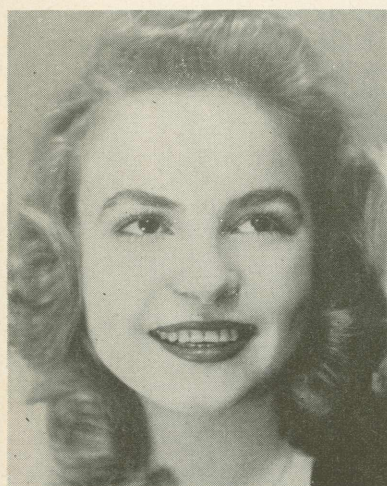

Early in September another group of student nurses will register at Centenary and begin a twenty-four weeks training program prior to reporting to one of the schools of nursing for further class work and clinical practice.

Since the opening of the nurses training program in September, 1944, the first in the nation, by Centenary with the co-operation of the five Shreveport hospitals, several hundred young ladies have completed the course, which is approved by the Louisiana board of nurse education and the U. S. Cadet Nurse corps.

Students receive 24 weeks training in subjects taught by regular members of the college faculty, assisted by special teachers and college credit is given for the work completed.

Centenary appreciates, and we know you do, the fact that your college bulletins, "This Is Centenary," are made possible through the courtesy of a number of Shreveport's outstanding business institutions. During the past several years these firms have made possible the publication of the bulletin each quarter so that you can keep informed about Centenary.

To these firms we say thanks, we appreciate your help and hope for your continued support. Southwestern Gas and Electric Co.; Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.; First National Bank; Journal Printing Co.; United Gas Pipeline Corp.; KCS-L&A Railway Co.

Miss Jane Riggs

Miss Jane Riggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Riggs, Shreveport, was named "Miss Centenary of 1945," by the student body and she is pictured as the most beautiful girl in the 1945 edition of the Yoncopin, college yearbook.

In cooperation with five Shreveport hospitals, Centenary launched the first "College Cadet Nurse Training Program," in 1944.

Young ladies interested in enrolling for the fall term may do so by applying to the Superintendent of Nurses at any one of the following schools of nursing participating in the program: Charity Hospital, North Louisiana Sanitarium, Highland Sanitarium, Schumpert Sanitarium, or Tri-State Hospital, Shreveport, La.

Pres. Mickle Has Had Most Successful Career

He has been prominent in educational work for twenty years. For eleven years he was business manager of Kwansei Gakuin University, an American sponsored institution in Kobe, Japan. Since 1941 he has been executive secretary of the Foreign Missions Conference of North America, with headquarters in New York City.

President Mickle is a member of the speakers group of the United Nations Association and has lectured at many colleges and universities. He is one of the nation's best informed men in Far Eastern affairs and has often been consulted by educators and government officials on matters concerning the Far East.

President Mickle assumed his duties on May 8, and with his wife and two daughters, Maida and Margaret, is now residing in Shreveport.

Yvonne Harrison Is Awarded CPA Medal

Her award, made for the first time this year, will be made annually by the Louisiana C. P. A. Society to a graduate of the Department of Commerce, majoring in accounting and related courses, who has the highest scholastic average in all courses for the four years of college work.

Clay and Babington Given Scholarships

Miss Carolyn Clay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Clay of Shreveport, who received her B.S. degree in May, has been awarded a scholarship by Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., in The Medill School of Journalism, and will report for graduate work toward her M. S. degree the first of September.

A commerce major, Miss Clay has taken an active part in college affairs during her four years at Centenary. This year she was editor of the Conglomerate and served as business manager in her Junior year. She was selected for Who's Who for the past two years, was a Maroon Jacket, member of the Student Senate, CenCoe and Chi Omega, and served as president of the Pan-Hellenic council.

Another Centenary student to win a scholarship this year is Wallace Babington, who is one of three young men in the U. S. to win summer scholarships at the Belfry Theater, famous summer playhouse at Williams Bay, Wisconsin.

Mr. Babington is a native of New Orleans and was active in high school and Little Theatre work before coming to Centenary.

Lester Moore, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Moore of Shreveport, received his commission as an Ensign when he was graduated from the United States naval academy at Annapolis, Md., June 6. A graduate of Byrd high school, Ensign Moore attended Centenary before entering the naval academy.

Board of Trustees Approves New Plans For the Campus

The Centenary College Board of Trustees at a meeting on Thursday, February 28, approved the overall campus plans as developed by Stone and Pitts, architects of Beaumont, Texas, and J. Cheshire Peyton, of Shreveport. The long-range program calls for the construction of some eight to ten buildings, looking forward to serving a student body of from twelve to fifteen hundred.

When asked about the order of buildings President Mickle suggested that the first four buildings should be a woman's dormitory, a science building, a library, and a chapel.

J. G. O'Brien, vice-president of the Commercial National Bank, and secretary of the Finance Committee of the College, made a report for the committee recommending that it work toward an investment of not more than one-third of endowment funds in high grade stocks, and stating that such procedure would be in keeping with the practice of the best-managed endowment funds of the country. It was pointed out that the adoption of this recommendation would increase the income from the endowment and would better promote the purpose of the donors. The report of the committee was approved.

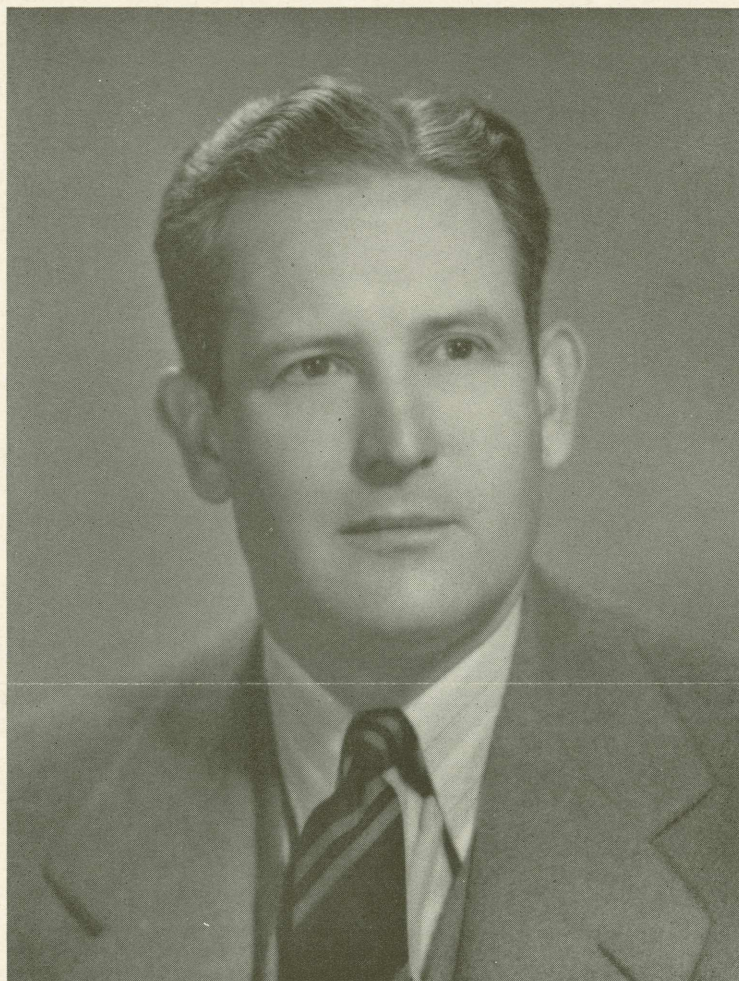

Teachers Salaries Increased

The Board approved an increase in salaries for the permanent faculty, beginning with the summer session. The vote stipulates a flat increase of 10% in the budget for salaries. This does not mean, however, that each teacher may expect an increase of this amount, but means instead that the flat increase of the budget may be used to adjust teachers salaries on an equitable basis.

Student Fees Increased

Money to meet this additional budget will come from increased student tuition and fees. Board, formerly $115 a semester, will be raised to $130 a semester. Room, formerly $22.50 a semester, will be raised to $30.00. Corner rooms

Centenary's New President Inaugurated In Impressive Two-Day Ceremonies

One of the outstanding events in the history of Centenary was held on January 20-21, when Joe J. Mickle was inaugurated as president of the college.

The series of events began on Sunday evening with a service in the Municipal Auditorium. Music was furnished by the Centenary-Shreveport Orchestra, and by the Byrd and Fair Park choirs combined. The sermon was delivered by Bishop William C. Martin on the subject of "An Adequate Faith for a Crucial Hour."

On Monday morning the academic procession formed at the Student Union Building. In the procession were the Board of Trustees, the faculty, and about one hundred representatives of colleges, universities and learned societies. The academic march was played by the college band.

Paul M. Brown, chairman of the Board of Trustees, presided. Dr. Dana Dawson, chairman of the inaugural committee, presented the delegates. Dr. Rufus C. Harris,

At the Chamber of Commerce Luncheon at noon, President Wm. Jesse Baird spoke upon the subject, "The Power of Man over Matter Matters." Ralph Squires, head of the department of music, gave a piano number, and the Girls' Sextette sang.

The alumni dinner at 6 P. M. was the first meeting of the alumni since Pearl Harbor.

A reception honoring President and Mrs. Mickle was given by the Department Club at 8 P. M.

Brotherhood Week Is Observed

On Wednesday, February 20, Centenary participated in the observance of National Brotherhood Week by holding a special chapel service. Guest speakers included Father D. A. Curin, of Monroe, La.; Dr. Harrison Baker, Methodist, Dallas, Texas; and Charles Mayer, Dallas attorney and newspaper columnist.

This trio of speakers, heard in many towns throughout the Ark-La-Tex area, emphasized the putting into practice of those principles which enable people of different faiths to live together in real brotherhood.

Dr. Baker stressed the importance to the normal person of satisfactory employment and of being well adjusted to other people. Father Curin emphasized the universality of the law of love. Mr. Mayer urged that Americans put aside their differences and devote themselves to the common purpose of making a better America and a better world.

Students of three faiths participated in the program, adding greatly to the effectiveness of the hour.

Veterans Push Enrollment To Record Figures

According to the best figures available at the time this bulletin goes to press there are approximately 500 veterans registered at Centenary College. This includes those registered in both day and night classes.

With the more than 800 students enrolled for the day school the total figure goes beyond the 1400 mark. It is recognized that there are some duplicates since some students are registered for both day and night school. According to recent figures released by the office of the business manager it is safe to say that there are about 1200 different individual students enrolled at Centenary College.

No one questions the statement frequently made during the present semester that Centenary has now the largest enrollment it has ever experienced in its long history.

Alumni Interest Sought in Greater Centenary College Program

The Greater Centenary College Program is now under way. It aims to raise $800,000 in the immediate future for the purpose of expanding and improving the educational facilities at Centenary.

First on the building program is a girls' dormitory. The increased enrollment conditions make the construction of this building imperative. It is hoped that building conditions will allow the erection of this dormitory in time for use next fall.

Other buildings in the plans call for a new library, a new classroom and administration building, a new auditorium, and a new chapel. Considerable money is available at this writing for the construction of the Pierce Cline Memorial Library. It is hoped that this much-needed building can be started in the not-too-distant future.

The program, as now outlined, proposes to raise in Shreveport and Bossier City the sum of $500,000. This campaign is to be concluded by June of this year. The Louisiana Conference campaign and following campaigns outside of Shreveport and Bossier City will undertake to raise the balance of $300,000.

The administration, the board of trustees, the faculty, and the students are all encouraged by the outlook. In the words of President Mickel, "Centenary's greatest days lie ahead."

Alumni interest and alumni help are sought in bringing these days to pass. You are a part, a very great part of the college. Without your support the progress of the college would be greatly impeded. With it, a new and better day is ahead.

Alumni Work Slated To Receive New Emphasis

The new administration at Centenary aims to give sustained effort to alumni work. There have been fine efforts made in previous years to organize the alumni, but through no particular fault of any individual or any group, the work has by its nature had to be somewhat spasmodic.

One of the responsibilities of the newly organized Greater Centenary College Program Office is to initiate this work and to give it continuity. Those in charge of this office have had long and valued experience in the alumni field, and it is to be hoped that those phases of alumni work which are more or less standardized will be started at once and improved gradually. Working with this office, in an advisory capacity, is a steering committee composed of Mrs. Robert S. See, A. M. McIlwain and George W. Pomeroy.

There will be no big flourishes. No attempts will be made to stage spectacular events to attract the attention of the alumni. Rather, it is the purpose to begin in a quiet way and build steadily and solidly upon basic foundations. Just as soon as an organizational stage is reached the alumni will have their own officers.

It is hoped that the alumni will from the very beginning respond with generous correspondence. This is the first requisite to complete and up-to-date records. For the time being address your communications to the Greater Centenary College Program, Centenary College, Shreveport, La.

Centenary on Air Each Wednesday

On each Wednesday evening from 6:45 to 7:00, Centenary is on the air. Alumni are invited to tune in to KWKH, 1130 on your dial, and enjoy the program.

Not only are you invited to listen in, but you are invited to give us your comments about the programs. Which programs do you like best? What are your suggestions for improvements?

In offering your criticism it is suggested that you keep in mind that the program is not intended to be of the variety show type, but instead aims at a rather solid program of music and ideas which are pertinent to the building of a great college.

Students Return To Compulsory Chapel

Move was made recently by the Student Senate, student governing body, to compel attendance at the weekly assembly periods at the college. This action was the first measure taken by the students themselves to remedy chapel absences under the voluntary attendance system.

Since the chapel building is not big enough to accommodate the entire student body, plans include the presentation of two programs of similar nature on Wednesdays and Fridays of each week. The students are asked to attend one or the other of these programs at 10 A. M.

Dr. Gerard Banks, head of the chapel committee of the faculty, with the cooperation of the student chairman, Betty St. Clair, has appointed other student committees to assist in the presentation of programs.

First Semester Honor Roll Is Announced

Publication of the honor roll for each semester is a long-awaited event at Centenary. This honor goes to students who have made a strong B average in not less than four courses. The roll for the first semester appeared recently and contains the names of 57 students. Ten of the 57 made the coveted all-A rating. Of the 57 students on the honor roll 41 are women students.

The all-A students are as follows:

Dixie Lee Bell, Mrs. Robbie Brown, Elizabeth Cassity, Lucille Gibson, Bettina Hilman, V. B. Jackson, Melba Jeanne Loveall, Martha Peyton, Katherine Turner, Mary Emma White.

Names of the others on the honor roll are:

Please? Let Us Hear From You!

The future issues of This Is Centenary would like to carry more alumni news, organized by classes. If you know of any graduate or former student (including yourself) who has married, been elected to office, been promoted, died, moved to a new address, published a book, or done anything else which has news value, won't you write us about it?

Housing Units Made Available for Vets

Centenary College has been granted fourteen buildings by the federal public housing authority to be used for accommodations for veterans. The fourteen buildings will furnish accommodations for fifty couples, and will be located on Woodlawn Street, near the football stadium.

There will be three two-story wooden buildings of the barracks type and eleven two-unit houses of similar construction. All are new and are being constructed for the first time.

Actual construction of these buildings are now under way and it is expected that they will be ready for occupancy within a period of from forty to sixty days.

Centenary has made every effort to serve the veterans. At the beginning of the second semester Shreveport Hall was opened to married veterans. These new accommodations will mean that the college has been able to meet quite satisfactorily the demands of the veterans for housing facilities.

Colonial Hall, a dormitory for women, was opened the second semester for the unmarried veterans. Rotary Hall, converted during the war to use for women students, is still used by the coeds.

Forensic Activities Are Increased

The Louisiana Beta chapter of the national college honorary forensic society, Phi Kappa Delta, has increased its activities this year. This group, composed of many scholastic and campus leaders, provides an opportunity for novices to gain poise and facility in expressing themselves in public.

Those who qualify by representing Centenary in intercollegiate contests are eligible for active membership in Phi Kappa Delta. Each year the chapter sends contestants to tournaments in the neighboring states of Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Mississippi. Centenary is also frequently host to visiting colleges and universities.

President Mickle has given his enthusiastic endorsement of this activity in debate, oratory, extemporaneous and public speaking, and poetry reading by stating that he knows of no other extra-curricular activity that excels this, and that benefits the participant more at the time and in post-graduate life.

Evening School Renders Outstanding Service

The Centenary evening school is an integral part of the day school and is one of the most attractive services that the college is rendering to the people in the vicinity of Shreveport.

While at present every course earns college credit, it is planned to expand the offerings to include certain courses for adults on a non-credit basis.

The present enrollment of the evening school totals 569. Of this number approximately half are attending under the GI Bill of Rights.

It is possible for a student to register for a full course (12 to 15 hours) in the evening school and in many cases complete the requirements for a degree.

Course in Flying Is Open to Veterans

Centenary College is now enrolling veterans for flight training under the GI Bill of Rights. The initial training course leads to a private pilot's license.

Enrollment is open to both veterans and non-veterans. Veterans will receive their flight instruction and ground school instruction without charge, and will receive five hours of college credit when they obtain private licenses.

Size of the opening program under the new arrangement cannot be determined at this time as there is no way of estimating the number of applicants. Facilities are assured, however, for a large number of students if there is sufficient demand.

Flight training will be given at the Municipal Airport each day under the instruction of the Badgett Aviation Company. Ground school classes will be held Tuesday and Friday evenings at 7 p.m. at the Arts Building on the campus.

Arrangements with the Veterans Administration and with the State Department of Education have been completed by the Centenary Veterans Committee. A few local arrangements are still under consideration.

It is thought that eventually Centenary and Badgett will offer commercial, instructor and instrument pilot training under the GI bill.

Commencement on May 29

The Centenary College commencement exercises will be held on Wednesday, May 29, and will follow the usual pattern of events. Alumni are cordially invited to return and renew their contacts with the College.

Centenary Would Like To Reach New Communities

Indications point toward a large enrollment for the summer session this year and for capacity enrollment next fall.

Centenary officials believe that now is the time to enlarge the service of the college by reaching communities which have not before been represented at Centenary, or which have been represented here but rarely.

Centenary alumni have a good opportunity to help in turning the thoughts of high school graduates in this direction. Since the alumni know the college well, and hold it in such deep-rooted affection, it is the hope of the administration and the faculty that they will use every possible occasion to bring their alma mater to the attention of young men and women who are about to enter college.

Centenary Gentlemen Win Only Two Games

In a 15-game schedule begun on January 17, Coach Clayton Cornish's Gentlemen emerged with only two victories. It was not until January that the College decided to reenter intercollegiate basketball competition. The first practice was on January 3, and the squad was made up entirely of students who were regularly enrolled at the time practice started. Six members of the squad were veterans, and no member of the squad received any compensation in any way for his participation.

New Trustees Elected To the Board

Several new trustees have been added to the Board in recent months. These include I. F. Betts, A. L. Wedgeworth, Mrs. D. P. Hamilton, M. A. Abernathy, and J. C. Hamilton, all of Shreveport, J. Theron Brown of Baton Rouge, and Joe W. Pitts of Alexandria.

In some instances the names are yet to be submitted to the Louisiana Conference for final ratification. Sketches of these new trustees will appear in future issues of this bulletin.

Alumna Is Working On Records

Miss Mary Louise Hussey, of Shreveport, is doing important work on the alumni files. Miss Hussey is a graduate of Centenary with the class of 1927 and has had previous experience with the alumni records. Her personal knowledge of the alumni files and her wide acquaintance with the graduates of the college enable her to be a most valuable assistant at this stage of alumni work.

Addresses Available

Any alumni who wish to have a copy of a condensation of the main addresses delivered at the inaugural ceremonies may obtain one by making request to the Office of the Greater Centenary College Program, 406 Market Street, Shreveport, La.

Dr. Steger of English Department Dies

The death on December 24 of Dr. S. A. Steger, head of the English Department at Centenary College for the past 21 years, was a loss deeply felt both by his associates at the College and the many friends and former students to whom Dr. Steger has long been a source of inspiration.

Dr. Steger was born in Danville, Virginia, and received his education at Randolph-Macon College, the University of Virginia, and Columbia University. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa; the Raven Society of the University of Virginia; Pi Kappa Delta, national debating society; Kappa Alpha fraternity; American Association of University Professors, and numerous other scholastic organizations. He was a life-long member of the Methodist church.

NEW PLANS

are slightly higher. These rates for the regular school year will go into effect at the beginning of the fall semester of this year, and the new room rates apply only to present accommodations. It is thought that rooms in anticipated new buildings will have to be still higher.

Students taking a normal load will be charged $125 for tuition a semester, against a former charge of $104. Those taking less than a normal load will be charged by the semester hour.

Fees are also increased for the summer session. Students taking one three-hour course during the summer will pay $30. Those taking two three-hour courses will pay $50, and those taking three three-hour courses will be charged $75. Room and board for the nine weeks summer session will be $75.00. These new rates will apply for the summer of 1946.

Board Well Represented

The following members of the Board were present:

LOCAL MEMBERS: Joe J. Mickle, Marlin W. Drake, John B. Atkins, Charlton H. Lyons, S. H. Bolinger, F. M. Freeman, R. T. Moore, Bonneau Peters, A. M. Freeman, Mrs. A. J. Peavy, Paul M. Brown, Dana Dawson, John L. Scales, Sr., George D. Wray, John C. McCormack, I. Frank Betts.

OUT-OF-TOWN MEMBERS: B. C. Taylor, Alexandria, La.; W. L. Doss, Jr., Haynesville, La.; Guy M. Hicks, Lake Charles, La.

Scholastic Fraternities

Along with the honor roll announcement came that of the new members of the two scholastic fraternities—Alpha Chi and Alpha Sigma Pi. Alpha Chi, national honorary organization for those of junior and senior classification announced the initiation of 17 members. These upper classmen were presented with shingles of the organization at an impressive chapel program sponsored by the group.

Alpha Sigma Pi, the freshman and sophomore fraternity, has a total membership of 24 students who will soon receive the blue and gold crescent of Alpha Sigma Pi.

An Ideal, a Plan And A Balance Sheet

A booklet under the title of "An Ideal, A Plan, and a Balance Sheet," is available for any alumni who wish to write for a copy. It is a 24-page, two-color job, contains a full page new picture of President Mickle, two of his important addresses, and a report of the accountants of the financial condition of Centenary College.

College Loses Valued Member of Board

Centenary College lost a true friend and a valued member of the Board of Trustees in the death of Mr. Michaelis Lewis Bath on December 17.

Mr. Bath, president and founder of M. L. Bath Company, Ltd., of Shreveport, had been a resident of the city since coming here from St. Louis with his parents in 1893. In 1905 he founded the printing and office supply firm which bears his name and directed its affairs for 40 years.

Civic and philanthropic activities were Mr. Bath's greatest pleasure in life and he devoted much of his time to them. In addition to his service on the Board of Trustees of the College, Mr. Bath had been prominent in civic organizations for the betterment of every phase of community life.

Speaking for Centenary, President Joe Mickle said, "It is with great sorrow that I have learned of the passing of Mr. Bath. As a member of Centenary College's Board of Trustees and in other community activities, Mr. Bath was a leader whom we can ill afford to lose. His vigorous struggle, right up to the very end of his life, for social and religious undertaking and tolerance, and better educational opportunities for all, was a very definite contribution to the attainment of a finer world."

Commencement Marks End Of Successful Year

With only a few days between the closing of the spring semester and the opening of the summer session, and with more than 900 enrolled for the summer, it can hardly be said that commencement closed the school year. However, the traditional events were scheduled and carried out as usual.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Dr. Kenneth Pope at the First Methodist Church on Sunday, May 26. Dr. Pope is pastor of the First Methodist Church of Austin, Texas, and only recently returned from an extensive survey tour of the war-torn areas of Europe, made in the behalf of the Methodist Church Mission Board.

On Sunday afternoon the annual art exhibition opened at the Student Union Building, and visitors to the Sub reviewed the achievements of Don Brown and the students of the art department.

On Sunday evening the Centenary College Band, under the direction of Mr. Bill Causey, gave a concert in the open air theatre.

The Senior-Alumni-Faculty dinner was held on Tuesday, May 28, in the Student Union Building, where the traditional class-day exercises were observed.

Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs, a former member of the board of trustees of Centenary College, delivered the commencement address to the graduates on Wednesday evening, May 29, in the Physical Education Building. Eighty graduates received their degrees.

Record Centenary Summer Session

Centenary's largest summer session is now in progress. Enrollment has increased from fewer than 300 last summer to more than 900 this year. This increase is typical of heavy educational demands now being made upon the college. The administration's answer to these new demands is the improvement and expansion program now under way through the Greater Centenary College Program.

Faculty Changes For New School Year Announced

Several changes in the faculty, including resignations and new appointments, have been announced for the new school year at Centenary.

BANKS TO PUGET SOUND

W. Gerald Banks, for the past 14 years a member of the faculty of Centenary College, has resigned as professor of mathematics to accept a position as business manager of the College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Washington.

Banks, a graduate of Centenary and the University of Virginia, has been a member of the mathematics department at Centenary for 11 years, first as an instructor and since June, 1945, as full professor. He was bursar of the college from 1933 to 1935, and from October, 1943, to June, 1945, he was assistant to the president. He has been active in alumni work at the college for more than 15 years, and served as secretary of the Centenary Alumni Association for a number of years.

As new demands are made upon the college old friends are rallying to the cause and new friends are being made.

Mr. and Mrs. Banks and their two children will make their home in Tacoma when Mr. Banks assumes his position as business manager of the college there on August 15. They expect to leave Shreveport early in July for a vacation on the Pacific Coast before going on to Tacoma.

ROBERT S. SEE

SEE ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

Robert S. See, for 20 years a member of the Centenary College faculty, has resigned as head of the department of commerce to become business manager of the Shreveport Engraving Company.

According to announcement of the president of the engraving firm, Mr. See will direct purchasing sales, accounting and customer service for the firm and also its new service expansion program which is designed to meet the growing needs of Ark-La-Tex advertisers, publications, institutions and other firms requiring a complete art and engraving service.

Mr. See came to Centenary in 1926 as an instructor, became a full professor and head of the department of commerce in 1937. From 1942 to 1945 he was director of the war training program in North Louisiana for the United

Popular Section Of Drive Recesses

The popular section of the Greater Centenary College Program recessed for the summer after its last report meeting on Tuesday, June 25. The popular section has been headed by Henry S. Weisman of the M. L. Bath Company.

Reports at the last meeting brought totals to between sixty and seventy thousand dollars raised by this group. The goal was one hundred thousand. It is expected that the organization will be revived in the fall to complete the job. As this part of the organization closes for the summer it is considered that it has been successful, and college, campaign and community officials are looking forward to fall with complete confidence.

Greater Centenary College Program Moves Steadily Forward

All friends of Centenary, and more especially those who have been students at the college, will be interested in how the plans are progressing as embodied in the Greater Centenary College Program. It will be remembered by those who have read something of the plans that the campaign aims to raise $800,000 over a period of a little more than a year, with $500,000 of this to be raised in Shreveport and Bossier City.

For organizational purposes friends of the Shreveport area were divided into several sections. The members of the board of trustees who reside in Shreveport constitute a group. To date these members have pledged about $75,000. Another group of friends was classified in the big gifts and memorials group. To date, the committee in charge of this group has reported about $72,000. The special gifts section, under the leadership of Marlin W. Drake, has reported something over $79,000. The so-called popular section, under the chairmanship of Henry S. Weisman, has reported more than $60,000. The students and faculty together have pledged over $14,000.

These figures indicate that the campaign at the present date has reached over $300,000 of its goal of $500,000. While activity will slow down during the summer months, these different sections will resume activity in the fall, and complete their quotas by the first of the year.

CAMPAIGN BY DISTRICTS

In making plans for activity over the state it was recognized from the start that the seven districts of the Methodist Church form natural working units. Bishop Paul E. Martin accepted the state chairmanship with the understanding that there would be a co-chairman to work with him. The one exception made in this plan was the working of the Shreveport and Bossier City area within a district. The reasons for this are obvious.

It seems wise to give the general plans as they are now made for the several districts. Centenary alumni over the state will be called upon to aid in their respective districts, and they are in position to be of unusually valuable service to their alma mater. Probably at no time in Centenary's long history has there been a time when an avenue has opened so definitely through which alumni may assist in building a greater college.

The chairman of the Alexandria district is R. R. Branton, with a co-chairman yet to be named; the campaign in this district is scheduled for March of 1947. The chairman of the Baton Rouge district is Virgil D. Morris, with Trustee J. Theron Brown as co-chairman; the campaign in this district is scheduled for next January or February. The chairman of the Lake Charles district is H. A. Gibbs, with Howard L. Daughenbaugh as co-chairman; the campaign in this district is scheduled for January or February. The chairman for the Monroe district is H. M. Johnson, with Norman Rushing as co-chairman; the campaign in this district is scheduled for April. The chairman of the New Orleans district is H. S. Johns, with E. S. Lotspeich as co-chairman; the campaign is scheduled for November and December. Chairman of the Ruston district is Louis Hoffpauir, with Glen L. Shadow as co-chairman; this campaign is scheduled for October. Chairman of the Shreveport district is A. M. Freeman, with Judge Robert J. O'Neal and Mrs. George S. Sexton, Jr., as co-chairmen; this campaign is now in progress.

ALUMNI FILES ORGANIZED BY DISTRICTS

As Centenary grows into a finer college, many of its different elements will develop together. The student body will become a better student body. The faculty of the college will become stronger as a group. Friends will grow in number and be more conscious of the needs of the college. Finally, the alumni body will look to their alma mater with more pride and will develop in solidarity and in usefulness to the college. Of these things we are very sure.

Once again we solicit the help of the alumni all over the state in bringing the first phase of our plans to completion. The alumni files, in addition to the alphabetical arrangement, are being organized in a geographical arrangement by districts. By having the files in this order it will be easy to reach the alumni of any particular district at any given time with a minimum of effort and expense.

All alumni are invited and urged to get in touch with those in charge of district campaigns and volunteer for distinguished service.

Centenary Loses Valued Trustee

Dr. W. W. HOLMES, beloved trustee of Centenary College, died of a heart attack at his home in New Orleans on Sunday, May 26. At the time of his death he was superintendent of the New Orleans district of the Methodist Church. He was a graduate of Millsaps College with the class of 1900 and was ordained a Methodist minister the following year. He held the B. D. degree from Vanderbilt University, and was granted the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree by Centenary College in 1921. Dr. Holmes is survived by his wife, Mrs. May Stone Holmes, and by three children—Mrs. J. Theron Brown of Baton Rouge; Commander Samstone Holmes, now on Guam; and W. W. Holmes, Jr., of Baton Rouge.

tronomy, and astronomer in the Perkins Observatory, Ohio Wesleyan, and Ohio State University in 1936-42, and was chairman of the faculty committee on examinations and grades, Ohio Wesleyan, in 1940-42.

In addition to the writing of articles for technical and popular consumption, Dr. Cherrington has had considerable experience as a public speaker before service clubs, church groups, high schools, alumni bodies, fraternal organizations, and astronomical societies both professional and amateur.

He was called to active duty with the Army Air Forces flying training command in June, 1942.

Dr. Cherrington was born at Westerville, Ohio; is married and has two sons. Mrs. Cherrington is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University.

THAYER GOES TO OREGON

Dr. L. A. Thayer, for 13 years

connected with the science division at Centenary College and at present holding the rank of full professor, has resigned to accept the position of chairman of the department of chemistry at Lewis and Clark College of Portland, Oregon.

While at Centenary Dr. Thayer has been a useful man both in the classroom and beyond it. During the last semester he served as assistant dean. For two years he was a member of the committee on nursing education at Centenary. He has been active in science organizations, and served once as president of the Ark-La-Tex chemists' club.

Dr. Thayer has also made a distinct contribution to the civic and religious life of the community. For the past three years he has been superintendent of the Sunday school at the First Presbyterian Church. He has been a member of the Executive's Club, and a member of the Boy Scout troop committee No. 92.

Dr. Thayer holds the B. S. and M. S. degrees from State College of Washington, and the Ph. D. degree from Stanford University. Dr. and Mrs. Thayer have four sons: David, 16; Phillip, 12; Douglas, 11, and Stephen, 8. All left by car on July 1 for California where they will visit Mrs. Thayer's parents. Dr. Thayer will study in the department of bacteriology at Oregon State for six weeks this summer.

NEW ENGLISH PROFESSOR

Dr. George L. Sixbey has been appointed professor of English at Centenary College, starting in the fall term. Dr. Sixbey comes to Centenary from the English department of Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio. He received his B. A. degree from the American University, his M. A. degree from George Washington University, and his Ph. D. from Yale.

Dr. Sixbey entered the English department at the American University after a year's experience as copy-reader on THE UNITED STATES DAILY. He remained there as an instructor from 1932 until 1935. During the last 15 months there he also served as administrative secretary to the dean of the graduate school. From 1935 to 1940 he was an instructor in English at the University of Maryland. He held a university scholarship for his second year's work at Yale. He has been at Marietta College since 1940.

Besides being a member of the Modern Language Association, he is affiliated with the College English Association, Omicron Delta Kappa, and the Guild of Scholars in the Episcopal Church, of which he is secretary of the Midwestern branch this year. He is also secretary of the Marietta Advertising Club and a member of the leadership training committee of region 4 of the Boy Scouts of America.

Coming to Shreveport with Dr. Sixbey are his wife and his four children.

MARLIN W. DRAKE, '17, of Shreveport, member of the board of trustees, deserves special recognition for distinguished service to Centenary College. In the early fall he worked with the Living Endowment Committee in the interest of enlisting a sizeable number of people who will give annually to the operating fund of the college. Later in the year he accepted the chairmanship of the special gifts section of the Greater Centenary College Program with a goal of $100,000. At this writing Mr. Drake's organization is on the last fifth of its quota. After a recess for a summer vacation there is little doubt but that this section of the campaign will reach and perhaps exceed its quota during the fall months.

President Mickle Gives Statement On Greater Centenary College Program

The progress of the Greater Centenary College drive in the Shreveport-Bossier City area and in the districts of the conference where it has been launched is most encouraging. A chapel has been given which will be built within three years. An organ for it is a separate memorial donation. A large sum for the construction of tennis courts has been received. Several families have established special funds to which they plan to add regularly for uses to be designated at a later date.

All over the Louisiana Conference, Methodists, as well as their friends of other denominations are contributing liberally towards this program to make their college equal to the responsibilities which it faces. Some churches have already exceeded their quotas and many others have pledged theirs in full.

A most valuable by-product of the program is the inclusion of Centenary College in the wills of several supporters of the college. This, alone, amounts to well over a million dollars.

To the immediate question, "When shall we start construction of the first building?", I can state that it will be just as soon as we have sufficient funds in hand not specifically allocated by the donors for other purposes. We expect that to be in the next twelve months.

JOE J. MICKLE, President
Centenary College of Louisiana

College Gets Warehouse and Surplus Property From Army

An all-steel warehouse, 32 by 98 feet, and surplus office desks, chairs, filing cabinets and supplies were given to the college by the government in December.

The furniture is already in use in college offices and the warehouse is being erected.

A site on the north side of the campus, hidden by trees, has been prepared by the college and the government is erecting the storage building complete with concrete floor and utility installations.

Veterans Receive Vocational Guidance

An average of 55 veterans a month are given vocational tests in the Centenary Psychometric Center. This center, operated in conjunction with the guidance service of the Veterans' Administration, gives the five types of tests on which guidance is based. It is not limited to veterans entering or attending Centenary but is available to all in the Shreveport area. Over fifty different forms of psychometric measurements are used from which are selected the ones most suitable to the person being tested.

Centenary Poet to Have Poem in Anthology

Peppino N. Vlahoyannes, sophomore at Centenary College, received word recently that his first poem, "Books," printed below, has been accepted for publication in the Annual Anthology of College Verse, published every spring in Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. Vlahoyannes, son of Nicholas P. Vlahoyannes of Shreveport, is taking pre-engineering and majoring in chemistry. He attended the evening school from 1938 until 1942 before entering the army.

BOOKS

Books are ships that carry men around the earth.
Books are vessels rolling by with talks of mirth.
Books are derelict hulks that bear a gloomy tale,
Telling of those lives that once were ships in sail.
Books are frigates fighting for the cause they hold.
Books are freighters bearing deeds that words unfold.
The thing that makes a book be sought
Is every page contains a thought.

GI FAMILY HAS FIRST REAL HOME IN VETERANS' VILLA

Francis Gowen, junior at Centenary College, moved into the Vets' housing community on the campus at the beginning of this semester, just in time to have room for his newly-arrived daughter, Deborah Ann.

Until then, he and his wife, Margaret, and 3-year-old son, Hank, had been living in two small expensive rooms of a private home in Shreveport while he attended Centenary under the GI Bill. They managed to get along, but there was no room for Deborah Ann when she was born in August.

When construction was started on Veterans' Villa last spring, Francis was one of the first to apply for an apartment.

His early request and his urgent need for more room gave him a priority when the first 50 units were opened in September.

Now his family has a living room, a combination kitchen and dining room, two bedrooms and a bath. Kitchen fixtures and heater come with the apartment and the Gowens supply their own furniture.

Eighteen additional families will have apartments like theirs next semester, because nine more two-family units have just been completed in Veterans' Villa. Besides these, a 96-man dormitory is being opened for single veterans.

Students to Have Voice in Disciplinary Affairs

Student proposals that the discipline committee, formerly composed only of faculty members, include students and give them voting power, were recommended recently by the committee and adopted by the faculty. The student senate requested that four students and six faculty members from the body which advises the president on matters of discipline.

Formerly students have been called on for advice but this is the first time they have had regular voting power. The present committee is composed of Dr. John B. Entrikin, chairman, Dr. Otha King Miles, John L. Stewart, Bryant Davidson and Dean Ernest H. Cherrington. The first students to serve

New Chapel Can House Conference

The Louisiana Conference can be accommodated on the Centenary College campus when the new chapel building is completed, it was stated recently by President Joe J. Mickle. Other college buildings can be utilized for housing the delegates and supplying committee rooms.

This is in keeping with the college's policy of establishing closer relations with the Conference and seeking to make a larger contribution to Louisiana Methodism.

on the committee are Dannie Duerson, Edwin L. Foster, Jr., Jean E. Hayes and Ben Helm.

N. Orleans Symphony Is Highlight of the First Lyceum Season

A Lyceum course is being offered by the college for the first time this year. Featured in the series will be the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra which plays in the gymnasium February 7.

Two numbers have already been given, "Footlight Favorites" by a quartet of opera stars, and a piano concert by Jesus Maria Sanroma, the artist who made the popular recording of Rhapsody in Blue.

Following the Symphony Orchestra will be Robert Merrill, baritone, on March 13.

Two lecturers of the series have appeared in the chapel assembly. Dr. Harry Van Walt, who had just returned from the war crimes trials at Nuremberg, and Dr. Burgess Johnson, author of "Campus vs. Classroom."

Bowden to Receive D. D.

Rev. Joseph Henry Bowden, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Lake Charles, will receive the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Centenary College, June 2, at the regular commencement exercises.

He was recommended by the joint committee of the faculty and board of trustees and passed unanimously by both groups.

Rev. Bowden was elected to the board of trustees of Centenary College by the Louisiana Methodist Conference at its meeting in Alexandria November 13.

Football at Centenary in 1947 is now assured with the selection of Jess Thompson as coach, Paul Cochran as assistant coach and the appointment of C. H. Rollins, administrative assistant to the president, to manage the business affairs of football.

Season tickets are now on sale and the 1947 schedule will be announced in February.

Thompson and Cochran served in the same capacities in 1946 at Cameron State Junior College of Lawton, Okla., which won ten games and lost one.

Rollins comes from the Southern Bus Lines where he was industrial relations manager.

Jean Elder, Centenary Coed, directs the "Kaperettes" for another season of Kollege Kapers. For two seasons she was elected "Miss Kollege Kapers" and returns this year to lead the dance line in its famous kick routine and black light finale.

New Members Elected to Board of Trustees

Justin R. Querbes, Henry B. Weisman of Shreveport and Rev. J. Henry Bowden, pastor of the First Methodist Church at Lake Charles, were elected members of the board of trustees of Centenary College by the Louisiana Conference of the Methodist Church, which met in November at Alexandria.

J. C. Hamilton was re-elected to fill a vacancy until 1947; J. Theron Brown of Baton Rouge and M. A. Abernathy of Shreveport will fill a vacancy until 1948, and Joe W. Pitts of Alexandria will fill a vacancy until 1949.

The following members of the board whose terms expired last year were re-elected for another three years: Lamar Baker, Judge Chris Barnette, S. H. Bolinger, Dr. John L. Scales, Sr., of Shreveport; Rev. W. H. Giles, pastor of the First Methodist Church, West Monroe; Floyd James of Ruston, Dr. H. L. Johns and Dr. B. C. Taylor of New Orleans.

The other members whose terms expire in 1947 are I. F. Betts, Dr. Dana Dawson, Mrs. D. P. Hamilton, R. T. Moore, Henry A. O'Neal, Mrs. A. J. Peavy, Judge B. F. Roberts, A. L. Wedgeworth, George D. Wray of Shreveport, and Dr. Guy Hicks of Alexandria.

Those whose terms expire in 1948 are J. B. Atkins, Paul M. Brown, T. C. Clanton, M. W. Drake, Dr. A. M. Freeman, Dr. F. M. Freeman, S. J. Harman, C. H. Lyons and Bonneau Peters of Shreveport, and Dr. W. L. Doss of Haynesville.

Vocational Testing Open To Public

Centenary College will make vocational testing available to the general public after February 1, it was announced recently by Dr. A. J. Middlebrooks, head of the department of education and psychology.

For the past year the college has been offering this service exclusively to the Veterans' Administration for the use of its Veterans' Guidance Center which is located on the campus.

As a result of requests by local firms and individuals, it is now being made available to everyone.

The testing will be under the direction of Dr. Middlebrooks and will include the following classifications: intelligence, interest, aptitude, achievement and personality.

In conjunction with the testing service a student placement bureau is being established by the Commerce Club and sponsored by Bert L. Williams, assistant professor of commerce.

A FULL BASKETBALL SEASON FOR GENTS

Intercollegiate basketball has returned to the Centenary gymnasium with the Gents in action again against many of the major teams of the southwestern area and of Louisiana. The Gents at the present have gained a total of eight victories with four defeats, having appeared in the states of Arkansas, Texas, Missouri and Oklahoma. Serving his first year as coach of the Centenary cagers is Jack Clayton, a recent addition to the physical education staff of the college.

Opening the season early in December, the Maroon and White quintet downed the East Texas Baptist College Tigers in Marshall, 55-32, Arkansas State College in Jonesboro, 56-54, and Magnolia (Ark.) A. & M., 46-44.

The first defeat to be handed to the Gents was by the Arkansas State Teachers of Conway, with a score of 39-29.

Journeying to Springfield, Mo., the Maroon and White cagers were defeated on December 20 by Southwest Missouri Teachers, 53-51. Playing their first home game on January 2, the Gents were tumbled by the mighty Beloit (Wis.) College cagers, 50-43. The Beloit Golds are the defending cage champs of the Midwestern Conference.

CHANGES IN MINISTERS' POSTS

Rev. Byron C. Taylor, '22, is now at Rayne Memorial Church, New Orleans.

Rev. George Henry Corry, '24, has been moved to the Eros Antioch Church near Ruston.

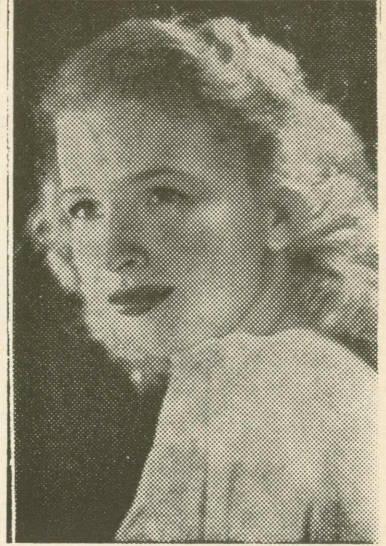

Rev. James Thomas Harris, '26, has recently gone to the Istrouma Church in Baton Rouge.

Rev. George William Pomeroy, '26, is again at Minden, to the delight of the people in his congregation and to the dismay of the ducks and quail in that vicinity.

Rev. Bentley Sloane, '27, has the First Church in Vivian.

College Adds Speech Course For Ministers

A course in public speaking planned especially for ministerial students will be added to the department of Speech and Dramatics next semester. Joseph B. Gifford, head of the department, in announcing the course, stated that emphasis would be placed on Bible reading, reading of the Methodist liturgy and on platform presence, especially in the pulpit.

Lel Hamner, who sings the sweet popular songs in Kollege Kapers. This student musical show, now in its fourteenth season, is going on the road again this year for the general public. During the war years it limited itself to performances at army camps.

Faculty Members Receive Grants for Study

Three members of the Centenary College faculty have been awarded grants by the Carnegie-Centenary Research fund, it was announced recently by Assistant Dean Ernest H. Cherrington.

Those receiving grants are Dr. Paul W. Graff, professor of Botany; Dr. Edward Murray Clark, professor of English, and Dr. George L. Sixbey, professor of English.

Dr. Graff will make a study of the algae flora of Bayou Pierre, a field in which little work has been done to date.

Dr. Clark will spend a summer making a study of "The Influence of the Liturgies of the Medieval Church Upon the English Biblical Drama."

Dr. Sixbey will conduct a preliminary study of writing workshops in other colleges with the end in view of setting up one on the Centenary campus in the future.

Students Adopt New Song Written by Alumnus

A new college fight song, "Centenary Hail," written by Gilbert Hetherwick, was presented at the pep rally of the Centenary College student body Monday, January 13, in the gymnasium.

Hetherwick graduated from Centenary in 1942 Summa Cum Laude and was elected the man of his class most likely to succeed. Upon his return from the army, he entered the law school at Tulane where he is now enrolled.

Two veterans and a coed cross the bridge on the famous brick walk which leads from the Student Union Building in the background to South Hall. These two young men are part of the 726 veterans and the coed is one of the 613 non-veterans enrolled this semester in day school, bringing the total to 1339. The evening school has 646 students with approximately 250 of them veterans who are also enrolled in the day school. Eliminating the duplicates, the evening school enrollment brings the Centenary total to 1735 students now attending.

Lake Charles And Alexandria Exceed Quotas

Lake Charles and Alexandria districts have gone over their quotas for the Greater Centenary College Program.

One month after launching the program in Lake Charles District, on January 7, Superintendent H. A. Gibbs reported that 116% of their $25,000.00 quota had been assured.

Leading the district is First Church in Lake Charles, which has gone over its quota of $5,000.00. The Rev. Mr. J. Henry Bowdon states that more pledges are yet to come.

The Rev. Messrs. L. W. Hoffpauir of Hornbeck, Leon Turner of Gueydan and Sam Nader of Jennings set the pace by reporting their quotas pledged in full at the Kick-Off meeting. The other churches throughout the district followed close behind, setting a record which is a challenge to the rest of the conference.

Six churches expect to raise their entire quotas this year. Nine are paying a third each year for three years, putting the quotas in their budgets. Eight have used the pledge cards and secured individual subscriptions to the program.

Alexandria District had its first report meeting since opening the drive on February 18. At that time, 16 churches assured Superintendent R. R. Branton that they would meet their quotas. The First Methodist Church of Alexandria, where Dr. Guy M. Hicks is pastor, voted to assure its full quota of $10,000.00 which is 40% of the total district quota of $25,000.

Two more churches in Ruston District have successfully finished their drives. The Rev. Mr. Louis Hoffpauir, superintendent, reports that Trinity Methodist Church in Ruston, with a quota of $12,000.00, has already secured pledges totalling over $14,000.00. The Rev. Mr. Wyatt D. Boddie, pastor of Lisbon charge, reports that his three churches, Lisbon, Arizona, and Harmony Chapel, have subscribed their entire quota of $1,000.00.

Miss Betty Fletcher, right, daughter of Mrs. J. K. Fletcher of Shreveport, has been chosen "Miss Centenary" by John Robert Powers, the fashion model authority, it was announced by J. D. Theus, co-editor of the Yoncopin, in which Bettye will be featured. Bettye is a junior majoring in home economics. She was representative to the Harvest Festival in Marshall and was elected interfraternity Football Queen last fall. Maids of honor are Jean Marie Entrikin, left, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Entrikin, and Dorothy Long, center, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Long, all of Shreveport.

Garden Tour Features Centenary Choir; Trip To California in July

The Centenary College Choir will be the featured artists on the Garden Tour in April, annually sponsored by the Shreveport Beautification Foundation. The group will appear in the garden of the J. K. Findley home on Line Avenue. The choir also will sing for the national convention of Lions Clubs at San Francisco in July of this year, announced J. C. Hamilton, president of the local chapter, in February. It will be sent on a western tour which will include appearances in Kansas City and other principal cities along the route to San Francisco.

A national broadcast from California may be a feature of this tour, which is the longest ever planned by the 51 mixed-voice student group. Formerly, trips have been limited to the area surrounding Shreveport and other points in the state. Trips are scheduled for New Orleans, Haynesville, Baton Rouge, DeRidder, Lake Charles, Lafayette and Minden, La., for the months of March and April. The choir will give its second local concert at the Municipal Auditorium on April 22.

Under the direction of A. C. (Cheesy) Voran, the choir is presented each Wednesday evening at 6:45 for a program of familiar hymns and other sacred music over station KTBS. A Shreveport firm sponsors the broadcast.

The choir has been of great assistance in the Greater Centenary College program with its appearance in churches throughout the state.

College Placement Bureau Now Open

The Centenary Commerce Club and the Department of Education and Psychology is sponsoring a College Placement and Vocational Testing Service, directed by Dr. A. J. Middlebrooks of the Centenary faculty.

The function of the Student Placement Bureau is to assist regular Centenary students in securing part-time employment and the Centenary graduates in securing full-time employment. Students who desire placement service must register with the Placement Bureau. No fee is charged the employer or the Centenary student for placement service.

The vocational testing service includes tests of psychology or intelligence, personality, in-

Speakers Address Local Salesmanship Class

The Sales Executive Club of Shreveport is furnishing speakers for the salesmanship class in the Centenary Department of Commerce, announced Lawrence M. Wantland, instructor. Speakers once a week is the usual number and at times films and pamphlets are used to supplement the speeches.

Fifty-six men, representatives of different varieties of industries, make up this Shreveport business group. The president is James Reeder, and it is through his initiative that Centenary benefits from the speakers of this organization.

Army Buildings For Centenary

Two more surplus army buildings have been approved for Centenary College by the United States office of education which made a finding of need for them during an investigation last month. They are now being applied for by the college at the Federal Works Administration, it was announced by Tom Richardson, assistant business manager.

The approval was for a cafeteria and physical education building.

The army cafeteria will include a building of 4,800 square feet area, kitchen ranges, refrigerators, all utensils and furniture.

For the Physical Education building which the college hopes to get, 12,000 square feet of floor area have been authorized, with fixtures including showers and locker rooms. This building would be used to accommodate physical education classes and intramural athletics. Both buildings will come complete with heating, lighting and plumbing fixtures.

Dr. Vogel Conducts College Radio Forum

Dr. Leroy Vogel, Centenary professor of history and government, has taken over the forum type radio program originally moderated by Professor Bryant Davidson. The program is a feature of station KTBS and is heard each Thursday evening from 6:30 to 7 o'clock. Professor Davidson has been given a leave of absence from the college to do further research work.

Memorial Donation Made to Library

In keeping with the custom of Centenary College to accept donations in memory of friends or relatives, several persons have recently sent in money designated for a set of pre-medical books to be given to the Centenary Library in memory of Dr. B. C. Garrett, who died in 1946.

Dr. Garrett, college physician since 1922, long-time friend and supporter of Centenary, was at one time football coach for the college. He was associated with the Shreveport Clinic. His two children attended Centenary College, Betty in 1942 and 1943, and B. C., Jr., in 1938.

Robert Merrill Final Lyceum Presentation

Robert Merrill, star of the Metropolitan opera and featured artist on the RCA Victor radio show, was the final presentation of the Centenary Lyceum course on Thursday, March 13. Mr. Merrill, a native New Yorker, thrilled his appreciative audience with his baritone voice.

Included in his program were songs by Cassini, Peri, Rossini and arias from "Don Giovanni" and "La Traviata." The third portion of the program was composed of two epic songs, by Hahn and Alvarez, and two of the seven Spanish folk songs by de Falla.

After the intermission, Mr. Merrill sang an aria from "Andrea Chenier" by Giordano and concluded his program with a group of four American spirituals, "Down to de River" and "Jonah and the Whale" by Robert MacGimsey, "De Gospel Train," by Tom Waring and "American Lullaby" by Gladys Rich.

New Home Economics Instructor Here

Miss Beatrice S. Counts has come to Centenary as assistant professor of foods and nutrition in the home economics department from her first semester post in Florida. She teaches courses in the selection and preparation of foods, meal planning and home management.

Miss Counts received an M. S. degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University, a B.A. degree from Ohio Wesleyan University and a B.S. degree from Simmons College. She was formerly on the faculties of Ohio Wesleyan University and the University of Minnesota. Her home is in Chillicothe, Ohio.

Veterans' Villa Boasts Ten New Children

Veterans' Villa, the home place of Centenary's ex-GI's and their wives, has echoed to the cries of infants within the last school year. From the period beginning September 1, 1946, there have been ten children born to parents residing in the Vets' Villa.

Number 1 was Anita Gayle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McGuffin, on September 1. Mariell Hughes came to live with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hughes, on December 6. December was a popular month, as four children were born then. On the 13th, Roland Edwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Marlatt, appeared; on the 22nd, Robert William, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peters; Gayle Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirkland, on the 30th; and just in time to be a tax exemption came "Randy" Greve, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand J. Greve.

Patricia Donna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duaine Kime, was born on January 17. January 18 brought Everett R. III, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bobbitt, Jr. January 29 was the birthday of Erin Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Edmonson. The lone February child, coming on the 11th, was Robert L. Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Smith.

Don Brown Exhibits Paintings in Dallas

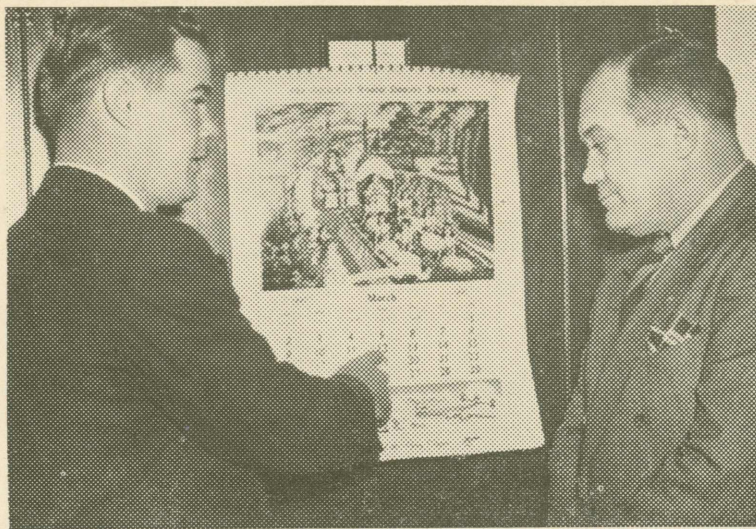

Don Brown, head of the art department of Centenary College, is now holding a one-man show at the Museum of Fine Arts in Dallas, Texas. The exhibition includes forty drawings and water colors of the South Louisiana bayou country. These works include some done in the past, but most of them were done on his recent boat trip in South Louisiana.

The exhibition was opened on Sunday, March 2, for a month's showing.

Geological Society Takes Field Trip

The advanced students of the newly formed Centenary Geological Society took their first field trip Friday, February 21, through 300 miles of southern Arkansas.

Stops were made at Fulton, Saratoga, Nashville, Saline River, Ben Lomond and White Cliffs. All fossils and specimens collected were donated by the students to the Centenary Geology collection. The club is planning a three-day field trip to be made in April.

Coach Jess Thompson and Assistant Paul Cochran check over dates for the 1947 football season at Centenary. Both coaches came to Centenary from Cameron College in Oklahoma.

New Fraternity and Sorority Establish Centenary Chapters

Local Frat May Join National Later

Nu Kappa, new local Greek letter fraternity on the campus of Centenary, was established January 21 by a group of male students who felt the need of a new organization. With doubled enrollment this year, more people who ordinarily would pledge, were not able because of restrictions on numbers of members.

Since January 11, the Committee on Student Affairs has been working with the groups wanting to form new fraternities. January 21 the organization of Nu Kappa was completed, having been previously approved by the Student Senate on January 20. After May 1, 1947, this fraternity may petition the committee to allow them to become affiliated with a national group. They have made contact with several national fraternities.

In the drive among students for the Greater Centenary College program, the Nu Kappa fraternity secured two donations of books for the new library.

National Sorority Has February Rush Period

In April, on the campus of Centenary College, one of the national officers of Alpha Omicron Pi will establish a chapter of the sorority. There are 41 active chapters in the United States and 3 in Canada.

With the invitation to establish a chapter on the campus from President Joe J. Mickle, the sorority has sent in a charter to be ratified and has gone ahead with rush parties and other organization plans.

Officers among the pledges have been elected, with Lorraine Jordan, a transfer from Kappa chapter at Randolph-Macon, as president. Other officers and pledges are Elise Adams, vice president; Louise Lowe, recording secretary; Julia Elston, corresponding secretary; Marjorie Eachus, treasurer; Alice Murray, historian; Martha Haley, Pan-Hellenic delegate, and Jackie Rembert, Catherine Sale, Dorothy Towery and Mary Holtsclaw.

Until their house is built for the new campus, the sorority will use a room in the Rotary Hall dormitory.

Football Boys Come From Many States

Centenary's new football boys are from five states other than Louisiana. Of the 35 now signed for football, 12 are from Oklahoma, 4 from Texas, 1 from Alabama, 1 from Illinois, and 1 from Mississippi.

Home Ec Course For Veterans' Wives

For veterans' wives only is a special course in dressmaking offered by the Department of Home Economics at Centenary College under the supervision of Mrs. Elsie Colvin.

This course, which began in February, includes proper use of sewing machines and lessons in fitting clothes for children. It is a continuation of a course which met in evening school last semester, on child development and meal planning.

There is no tuition and no college credit. Veterans' wives who need to use a sewing machine and do not have one may meet with this class.

Centenary Alumnus In Math Department

Leroy H. Scott, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Scott of Shreveport, is now instructor in the Department of Mathematics at Centenary College. He is an alumnus of Centenary, majoring in mathematics and physics and graduating summa cum laude in 1943.

Scott attended graduate school at the University of North Carolina and Louisiana State University. During the war, he served one and a half years on submarine duty as a lieutenant junior grade, and did work in the field of electronics. His terminal leave expired December of 1946.

Not to be outdone by their sister is the J. Clingman Munday family. Theodore and John of this side of the family have also proved unusually musical. Theodore and John Clingman, Jr., are honor students while Delia Anne is yet too young for school. The boys get their musicality from their mother, the former Anne Fagley of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Munday is a graduate of Juillard School of Music in New York. The head of the family is a research chemist for Standard Oil in Cranford, N. J.

1931

Lucy Gresham, now Mrs. J. R. Austin, is teaching in the high school at Good Pine, La. Dr. A. M. Shaw of Centenary had the opportunity of chatting with her when he spoke at Jena recently.

1939

Lt. (jg) William Mims Allums, USNR, visited in Shreveport recently. He is stationed at the US Naval Hospital in Charleston, S. C.

1942

R. B. Sullivan has been appointed to the position of assistant geologist with the British-American Oil Company. He was formerly director of the Centenary Evening School.

Dr. and Mrs. James J. Elliott (Dorothy Durr) announce the birth of their second son, Robert Stephen, on December 29. They are making their home at 107 Taliaferro.

Gilbert Hetherwick has been elected president of the freshman law class at Tulane University. He recently wrote a new song for Centenary. Gilbert and Joan (nee Gibbons) live at Apt. 53 G, McAlister Place, New Orleans.

Cecil E. Ramey is with Gilbert Hetherwick at Tulane and has been elected vice president of the freshman law class.

1944

Lt. James Dixon, who graduated from West Point last year, has completed his officer's basic artillery at Fort Sill, Okla., and is now at Fort Bliss. There he has training in guided missiles and anti-aircraft.

Annual Senior- Alumni-Faculty Luncheon June 2

The annual seniors-alumni-faculty-board of trustees luncheon will be held at the Crystal Ballroom of the Washington-Youree Hotel Monday, June 2 at 12:30 p.m., it was announced by the department of public relations. This luncheon is held on commencement day and reservations for the event may be made with the department of public relations at the college. The plates are $1.65 each.

Dr. E. L. Ford, head of the department of modern languages, is head of the program committee; the program will include the "Nostradamus of 1947," portrayed by Lawrence Wadsworth, a graduating senior, and a song by Centenary's contest winning tenor, Jackson Patterson. Recognition of the oldest living graduate and the first woman to finish at Centenary will be a feature of the program. Dean John A. Hardin will preside and Dean Campbell will give a short speech. Guest speaker for the occasion will be Francis A. Mallory of Baton Rouge.

Student Chapel To Be Installed

A small chapel for students will be installed this summer in one of the temporary army type buildings on the Centenary campus, it was decided recently by college authorities at the request of a committee of students.

This committee, made up of members of the Student Christian Association, asked for a more suitable place where daily devotionals may be held and where students may drop in during the day for worship.

The college has not been able, heretofore, to provide a room for this purpose, forcing the Association to use any corner on the campus that happened not to be in use at the moment.

The chapel building of the Greater Centenary plan will have a small chapel included in it in addition to the larger one for such uses, but, as it will not be built for three years, the students wish to have a temporary one now.

X-Ray Machine Is Presented to College

Presentation of a 140,000-volt X-ray machine valued at $5,000 was made in the middle of April to Centenary College by the Highland Clinic in Shreveport. The machine will be used by the physics department in its research work, but will not be available until the new Science Hall is built. Due to the lack of space, the machine will be stored until the building to house it is ready, within a year and a half.

Centenary Pastors' School to Be Held Here June 2-6

Plans for the annual summer school for Christian workers are being completed by the Rev. Messrs. J. Henry Bowdon and E. B. Emmerich to be held again this year on the campus of Centenary College, June 2-6.

Bishop Paul E. Martin is scheduled for the platform hour Tuesday, June 3. Other speakers include Dr. Earl Brewer of Emory University, the Rev. Mr. W. Neil Hart of Little Rock, the Rev. Mr. Henry A. Rickey of Bogalusa, and Dr. Jack McMichael, executive secretary of the Methodist Federation of Social Service.

Pastors attending the school will be assigned rooms in all the dormitories including the new one for veterans wherever there are vacancies. Surplus army beds with new mattresses will be set up in the gymnasium for those who cannot be accommodated in the dormitories.

The former Publications Building which held offices of the Conglomerate and the Yoncopin, has been turned over to the Association to be converted into a chapel. It is a small frame structure, painted white inside and out, located behind the physical education building.

The students plan to install an altar, lecterns and other furnishings, doing the necessary construction work themselves.

DEAN HARDIN WILL RETIRE THIS SPRING; REMAINS HEAD OF MATHEMATICS DEPT.

Dean Hardin

Four New Faculty Members for Summer

Four new members have been added to the Centenary faculty for the summer school. Mrs. Elizabeth Pettet Hughes of Benton will instruct in education. She has done work at the National Recreation School in New York City.

In the history department will be Mrs. Ethel Kramer Colquitt of Shreveport. She received her B. A. from Centenary and her M. A. from LSU.

Francis L. Jones of Shreveport will be instructor in psychology for the summer session. Jones received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from North Texas State Teachers' College at Denton, Texas.

Another Centenary graduate, George B. Roberts, will instruct in chemistry. Roberts received his M.A. from the University of Texas where he was a fellow and part-time instructor.

The Student Christian Association, which is open to all denominations has been holding regular evening devotionals all year. Each of the four principal denominations represented has charge one night each week and there is one evening in which the service is non-denominational.

Ernest Cherrington, Jr. Succeeds to Position

John A. Hardin, dean of Centenary College for the past 23 years, will retire from that position after the close of the spring semester, June 2, and devote his full time to the department of mathematics, which he has headed 25 years. He will be succeeded by Ernest H. Cherrington, Jr., chairman of the department of astronomy and physics and assistant dean of the college.

Dean Hardin, a graduate of Sweetwater college and the University of Tennessee, came to Centenary College as head of the department of mathematics in 1922 and was appointed dean by Dr. George Sexton, president of the college at that time, in 1924. He came to the college shortly after receiving his masters degree at the University of Chicago.

He has served under four presidents—through the expansion period of the 1920's, the depression of the 1930's and the war years of the 40's.

It was he who was largely responsible for having the college accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in 1925 and in maintaining that accreditation through the depression, when many other schools were losing theirs or being put on probation.

He has seen the college grow from an institution with a faculty of 25 to the present organization with a faculty of 75.

When Dean Hardin assumed the position in 1924, classes were held in the one brick building, Jackson hall, and two small shacks. In one of these frame buildings, used today for home economics classes, he conducted his first classes in mathematics.

As dean of the faculty, he has been instrumental in the growth of the college from 11 to the present 16 departments. It was largely as a result of his studies of curricula and his recommendations that these new fields were opened to Centenary students.

Three Faculty Members Get Carnegie Grants

Three members of the Centenary College faculty have received grants from the Carnegie Research Fund for work to be carried out this summer.

Dr. Mary Wartens, head of the department of biology, will do research with the American Cancer Society at the University of Missouri.

At L. S. U., Dr. J. B. Entrikin, head of the division of natural science at Centenary, will do research with Dr. Arthur LeRosen of the L. S. U. faculty. Their subject will be the adaptation of chromatography to qualitative organic analysis.

In the department of history, Dr. W. Darryl Overdyke will go to the University of Missouri for research to supplement material for a book on the American Party in the South to be published in January of 1948. He will also do work on a series of articles concerning Sam Ralston.

College Is to Get $50,000 on Buildings

The General Education Board, a part of the Rockefeller Foundation, has granted the sum of $50,000 to Centenary College for building purposes, it was announced recently by President Joe J. Mickle of Centenary.

The grant will be paid to the college when needed after $450,000 in cash has been raised for either the Science Hall or the Library. The appropriation is available through Dec. 31, 1950, and, if not used, will revert to the board.

The grant to Centenary is a result of work conducted by Dr. Mickle on behalf of the Greater Centenary program and of his trips to New York to present the college's program to the board. The assistant director of the General Board surveyed the college plant last December, investigating college operations and the work of the program.

Now on hand in cash toward buildings is $181,000 not allocated to any special fund. The college has $193,000 in outstanding pledges, which are being collected at the average of $18,000 a month. With the $50,000 grant, the college will have $424,000 toward the Science building, after obtaining the $193,000 in outstanding pledges. The building has been estimated to cost $450,000 without equipment.

As dean of students he has guided hundreds of undergraduates successfully through their formative years to completion of their educations and has served them as advisor on personal problems and in the occasional disciplinary problems which they faced.

He will devote his time to teaching mathematics and will continue as head of the department, which has grown from one with a single professor to a department requiring five instructors.

He has served on the commission on institutions of higher learning, the body which accredits members of the Southern Associations of Colleges; was chairman of the college section of the Louisiana college conference in 1933 and president of that conference last year.

He is a member of the First Methodist Church in Shreveport, where he has taught classes many years in the Sunday School. Dean Hardin holds memberships in a number of academic and scientific societies and has published several works on mathematics. His belief in the ideals of liberal arts education has led him to sponsor a constant broadening of the curriculum at Centenary and other colleges in the South.

In his letter of resignation to Dr. Joe J. Mickle, president of Centenary, Dean Hardin said it has been his desire for some time to spend the latter years of his service to the college in teaching and free from administrative responsibility. In his reply, Dr. Mickle was strong in praise of Dean Hardin's help to him during the two years he has been head of the college. The president expressed appreciation of himself and the college board of trustees that the dean will remain at Centenary as head of the mathematics department.

Dean and Mrs. Hardin reside on the Centenary campus. Their son, John Alexander Hardin, resides in Chicago, and their daughter, Mrs. Clyde Earnest, lives in New Orleans.

OCTOBER, 1947

GENTS SCORE IN FIRST THREE GAMES

The Centenary Gentlemen's return to football this season hasn't been too impressive in the won-and-lost column so far, but Coach Jess Thompson's charges have performed satisfactorily in every game against their more experienced opponents.

The Gents dropped their opener to a powerful University of Houston team, 20-7. The outstanding feature of that game was a dazzling, 85-yard touchdown sprint by James Francis, Centenary freshman from McLeod, Texas. The five-foot-six-inch, 145-pound speedster took a punt on his own 15-yard line and left the entire Houston team bewildered as he twisted and fought his way across the goal line.

The Central State Broncos from Edmond, Oklahoma, were the opponents in the first home game of the season and they walked off with a well-earned 20-7 victory over the improved

Fraternity Is Reactivated After Forty-Two Years

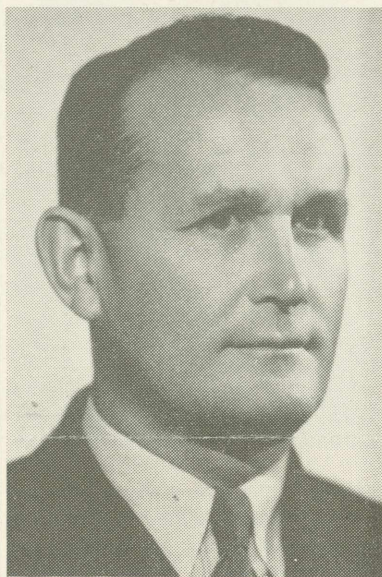

The Alpha Beta Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha was reactivated at Centenary, September 16, absorbing the members of Nu Kappa, a local fraternity organized on the campus last year.

In 1905 the Alpha Beta Chapter became inactive after three years of existence on the old Centenary campus at Jackson, Louisiana.

Noted Conductor at Music School

Stanley Chapple, Conductor of the St. Louis Philharmonic Orchestra and Civic Chorus, conducted classes in vocal repertoire for voice students at the School of Music, October 23 and 24.

Mr. Chapple is also associate director to Serge Koussevitsky of the Berkshire Music Festival where Mrs. Helen Marshall, voice instructor at the college, has been studying for the past several seasons.

H. L. Cain, 1924 graduate of Centenary, is Director of the American School Foundation in Tacubaya, D. F., Mexico, where since 1940 he has developed "Mexico City College," an American college specializing in Latin American culture, giving A.B. and M.A. degrees. In addition to his regular work in the college, he finds time to devote much attention to masonic work. He was instrumental in establishing a Shriner's Crippled Children's Hospital in Mexico City when he was Potentate of Anzeh Temple, Ancient, Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Mr. Cain is very much interested in our Greater Centenary program as he has just completed a new building program at the American School Foundation.

Dr. Mickle Delegate To Conference

Dr. Mickle was chosen by Bishop Paul E. Martin as one of the eight delegates from the Arkansas-Louisiana area to the Ecumenical Conference of the Methodist Church held in Springfield, Massachusetts, in September.

Homecoming Set for Nov. 7 and 8

A parade, a crowning of a homecoming queen, a pep rally, and a dance for alumni are among the events planned for the first post war homecoming to be held at Centenary, Friday, November 7, and Saturday, November 8, the occasion of the football game with Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

Friday afternoon old grads and former students are invited to visit the S. U. B., try out the new snack bar, and register at the alumni booth. At 7:30 that evening an alumni dinner in the new college cafeteria (carry

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION TO BE REACTIVATED

Shreveport Man Subsidizes Establishment of Organization

The College administration, spurred by the donation of $500 and a monthly subsidy of $100 for the setting up of an alumni association, has asked a group of interested alumni to work with it in making preparations for the organization. Judge Chris Barnette is serving as chairman and other members include: Hall McCord, Robert Nelson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Serra, Howard Hooper, Algie Brown, Mrs. Rose Margaret Harton, Hardy O'Neal, and Dr. W. B. Worley.

This group has met several times in the last two months to select class agents, to help with homecoming plans and to prepare for reactivation of the alumni association.

Class Agents Selected

Class representatives who will help the association in contacting all alumni are: 1922, Dr. W. B. Worley; 1923, Mary Bernice Phipps; 1924 and 1925, Mrs. Bryan E. Bush; 1926, Isaac Abramson; 1927, Rev. Bentley Sloane; 1928, Louise Davidson Davis; 1929, Jane Fullilove Mason; 1930, Cecilia Cooley; 1931, Welborn Jack; 1932, David Brandt; 1933, Wood Osborne; 1934, Geo. O. Baird; 1935, Flavia Leary; 1936, Mrs. Robert See; 1937, Bob Nelson, Jr.; 1938, Shirley Baird Rawlinson; 1939, Edna Earl Stinson; 1940, John A. Dixon; 1941, Dr. Charles Knight; 1942, Camp Flournoy; 1943, Mary Foster Peyton; 1944, Norma Stewart; 1945, Mrs. Camp

Flournoy; 1946, Dudley Beene; 1947, Jane Riggs.

Officers to Be Elected

At the meeting October 14, it was decided to hold an election of officers, November 7, on the occasion of the Homecoming Dinner to be held on the campus. A nominating committee was appointed to put up candidates for vote at that time.

Members of the nominating committee are: Judge Chris Barnette, Algie Brown, Tim Moran, and Rose Margaret Harton.

Candidates Nominated

Candidates for office selected by the nominating committee are: Frank Boydston for President; Mrs. Rose Margaret Harton for Vice President.

Additional nominations will be accepted from the floor just before the election.

Snack Bar Installed

A snack bar for students at Centenary College has been approved by the business office and construction has been started.

It is located in the Student Union Building on the campus. This building was used as a dining hall last spring after a fire destroyed the old dining hall and commerce building.

Now that the new war surplus cafeteria has been put in operation the Union Building has been returned to its true use, as a gathering place where students can assemble during vacant periods.

The snack bar, located in a large room, formerly used as a kitchen, will serve soft drinks, coffee and sandwiches. Decorations for it are being planned by Don Brown, head of the art department, and the bar, where students will be served standing, is being built in the college workshop.

The student newspaper, The Conglomerate, is sponsoring a contest to select an appropriate name for the bar and prizes of five dollars and three dollars credit at the bar are being offered.

BULLETIN OF CENTENARY COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

Vol. 1 October, 1947 No. 5

Published five times a year in February, March, May, August and October by Centenary College, Shreveport, La.

Entered as second-class matter April 1, 1942, at the post office at Shreveport, La., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

Fall Enrollment Sets Record

Peak Not Yet Reached,
However, Mickle States

"The present record enrollment of 1,420 regular day students at Centenary should not be considered a peak figure in the College's history but as a step in the gradual increase to an expected 1,500 to 2,000," according to President Joe J. Mickle.

"While veterans attending college today under the G. I. Bill of Rights have swollen the ranks of college students, they are not the only group which accounts for the large college population. Here at Centenary, our non-veterans total more than the entire student body before the war and many of our veterans are young people who would have gone to college even without government aid," he stated.

Non-veterans this fall number 879. In the fall of 1940 the total of all students was 695.

"In the seventy years before 1940 this country's population tripled. During the same period, however, college enrollment increased thirty times," he stated. The United States Office of Education has estimated that if this trend in enrollment had continued to date, there would have been about as many enrolled today even without the G. I. Bill."

Breakdown of enrollment figures at Centenary shows that the total of 1,420 does not include special students or students in the evening school who take none of the regular courses in the daytime. These, when added, bring the over all total to 1,944.

Plans for expanding Centenary under the Greater Centenary Program provide for a permanent regular day enrollment of from 1,500 to 2,000. This number, according to Dr. Mickle, is a conservative estimate in the light of history and the increasing ability of more Louisiana young people to attend college.

Jere and Jimmy Hatcher, ages 7 and 3, respectively. These are the young sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hatcher. Mrs. Hatcher, the former Ernestine McCain, will be remembered as May Queen of the Class of 1937, Centenary College.

Young Bobby Peters, whose full name is Robert William, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Peters. His mother is the former Helen Riggs, graduate of Centenary, Class of 1946.

Chris Bolen, very young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bolen. Her mother, the former Carolyn Bundrick, graduated in 1945, and her father, Tommie, is now a senior in Centenary.

More Food, Less Waste at New Cafeteria

"All you want to eat, second helpings and plenty of everything," is the policy of the new cafeteria on the Centenary College campus.

Mrs. Bess Hudgins, new manager of the cafeteria, says that waste has been reduced to a minimum by the policy which gives hungry students all they want and light eaters the selection they want.

Four bottles of milk on one tray or two big helpings of meat on a plate are not an uncommon sight in the cafeteria line, yet, according to S. D. Morehead, business manager of the College, the average consumption per student is no more than a normal size meal.

While the College admits that it is losing money under this system, it also considers that almost no food is wasted and that the students are better satisfied than ever before with their meals.

Chapel Programs Changed

The weekly chapel hours have been changed this year to make a definite separation between the devotional and secular parts of the program. The first fifteen minutes of the assembly are given to devotional worship, led by a faculty member or guest minister. The remaining portion of the period is devoted to an assembly for lectures and musical programs.

For the devotional, a set order of worship has been adopted which is Christian but non-denominational.

Gents Score—

Gents. Gene Dees, 150-pound bolt of lightning, spelled the difference in this one as he kept the Centenary defense loosened up for 60 minutes. The running of Merle Harrel and the kicking of Eck Hunter highlighted the Gents attack.

The McMurry Indians from Abilene, Texas, were next in line for the Gents. After outplaying the Texans in every department the Gents' defense lapsed once and that was the difference in the ball game. The score was 13-12 with Centenary on the long end late in the game when Big Brad Rowland, Indian fullback, took a kickoff and wheeled all the way back down to the Centenary six-yard line before being hauled down by Merle Harrel, fleet backfield ace of the Gents. It took the Indians four plays to push it over from the six, but a fourth down surprise pass did the trick and the score was 19-13, McMurry and that's the way it ended.

The Gents traveled to Memphis, Tennessee, October 11 and dropped their fourth game in a row to an under-rated Memphis State eleven, 26-7. The Gents received every bad break in the book in the first quarter of the game and the alert State team was quick to take advantage to pile up a 26-0 lead at half time. Eck Hunter scored the Centenary touchdown in the third quarter and added the extra point.

The Gentlemen failed to score for the first time in the Chattanooga game. The powerful Moccasins were affected noticeably by the sweltering 92-degree heat, but had enough power to run over three touchdowns and halt the Gents on the one-yard line for a 20-0 win. The game was played before 9,000 State Fair fans in a blazing sun that sapped both squads while the game was still very young.

The Gents managed to penetrate the S. L. I. Lions' defense to push over 13 points in the October 24 game at Hammond which tops points scored against any team they have met this year. The two touchdowns, however, were not enough to bring home a victory over the Lions who scored 33.

75,000 Square Feet of Buildings Added

With the completion of the cafeteria recently constructed, more than seventy-five thousand square feet of building floor space will have been added to the campus in the last twelve months.

Of the total, over fifty-four thousand square feet have been given to the college by the government out of army surplus and by individuals. These buildings were erected with no cost to the college other than that of preparing the sites.

Permanent construction in the total includes three faculty houses and a faculty duplex totaling 6,500 square feet; basement in the gymnasium, 4,200 square feet; warehouse, 5,400 square feet; and dressing room and dormitory for football players, 6,000 square feet. Veterans' Villa, which may be permanent for many years, totals 42,000 square feet.

The temporary buildings include the cafeteria of 6,100 square feet, all the equipment of which is of permanent value; two army buildings on the main campus totaling 1,900 square feet and two shacks near Veterans' Villa of 900 square feet each.

Alumni News

J. Ashley Sibley, Jr., Senior Examiner for State Department of Civil Service, Baton Rouge, says he is very busy now giving examinations to obtain qualified personnel for State positions. He also says that he enjoyed a vacation in the West this summer but prefers renewing old acquaintances at Gent football games this fall to "remaining in Hollywood" where he suggests there is obviously a demand for Shreveport talent. That's loyalty, Ashley!

Mr. Robert Demint is employed at the Louisiana Ordnance Plant, Minden Road.

Mr. John A. Dixon, Jr., received his LL.B. degree from Tulane Law School at the close of the summer term, 1947. He is married and will make his home in Shreveport where he will practice law.

Miss Phyllis Rhoades has returned to the University of Iowa this fall where she will begin her second year as assistant in mathematics. She is also working on her M.S. in mathematics.

Capt. William P. Shehee, Jr., is the State Veterans' Service Officer assigned to Northeast Junior College. This summer he returned to active duty reserve training for two weeks under the 10th Air Force at Brooks Field, Texas, making practice bomb runs with war-time Air Force comrades.

Mr. Charles Meredith Peters, having finished law course, was admitted to the bar in New Orleans, Louisiana, on September 2, 1947.

Mr. Carl I. Strother is now making Los Angeles, California, his home. Since his discharge from U.S.M.C. in 1946, he has held the position of Interviewer for the Bureau of Employment. He and his wife vacationed in Sequoia National Park and the High Sierras this summer.

Mrs. William B. Smith, the former Grace Ingersoll, reports that she plans to exercise her Liberal Arts brain and become a more perfect citizen by attending L. S. U. graduate school this fall.

Back in Shreveport, where her husband is practicing dentistry, is Mrs. James J. Elliott, the former Dorothy Durr. The Elliotts have two young sons, Jimmie, Jr., and Robert Stephen. Dr. Elliott attended Centenary from 1939 to 1941.

Ernest Carter has recently returned from Berlin, where he was on duty with the Army as a cryptologist, to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Carter in Shreveport.

Mr. Gilbert L. Hetherwick has recently been named winner of the Callaghan prize for the highest average in the first-year class of Tulane University Law School.

Dr. Frank J. Dienst is at present Resident Physician at the Shreveport Charity Hospital. He was recently married to Miss Doris Johnson of Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Donald P. Shedd writes of an interesting motor trip from New Hampshire to Texas this summer, after having spent 12 months as a psychiatric nurse at Yale's Institute of Human Relations. Her husband, Dr. Donald Shedd, has just taken up the scalpel for Uncle Sam as a first lieutenant at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

Mr. Cecil E. Ramey, Jr., is attending Yale College of Law in New Haven, Connecticut, where he and his wife are making their home. Mrs. Ramey is the former Betty Loper of Lincoln, Nebraska.

Gordon Wilkinson, still a bachelor, is attending University of Chicago this fall.

Lynn Robinson Pomeroy, III, whose mother, Harriet Lieber Pomeroy, edited this sheet last year, followed in his mother's footsteps by meeting the printer's deadline on this issue. He came into the world October 23, the day we went to press.

1945

It seems that Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Watson have been very busy receiving degrees and honors lately. Mrs. Watson was awarded her B.A. degree from S. M. U. last June. Upon graduation she was awarded membership in Alpha Theta Phi, this being the highest honor which can be bestowed upon graduates at S. M. U. Mr. Watson is planning to finish his B.D. degree. He expects to receive an appointment to a church in Louisiana at the Conference this fall.

1946

Mary Katherine Johnson is enrolled at the Presbyterian Assembly's Training School in Richmond, Virginia, where she is working on her master's degree in Religious Education.

After a year's work for the Caddo Welfare Department, Miss Jean Smith is entering L. S. U. this fall to begin her graduate work in Psychology.

Miss Frances Mary Perkins vacationed in Colorado this summer after completing her work for a Master Degree from Chicago Musical College. She returned to Centenary, but in a different capacity—she is now teaching music theory and piano in the Music School.

1947

Maida Mickle is teaching Physical Education at Fair Park High School, Shreveport, this year.

Katherine Turner has picked up her books for another year of college work. This year it will be graduate work at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. She will work in the Division of Social Sciences, her field being Sociology.

James M. Turner enrolled in Southern Methodist University this fall with the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration with a major in Higher Accounting as his goal at the end of a year's work. He says "Good luck to Centenary," and we say, "Good luck, back, James."

Another beginner in the teaching profession this year is Jeanne Spence, who is now teaching fourth grade at Northcut Heights Schools in Longview, Texas. She is also enjoying a troop of Brownie Scouts, which she has charge of.

Bert Greve has entered the graduate school of the University of Michigan for work on his Master's Degree in Business Administration. Bert and Mrs. Greve (Eleanor Brown, '46 Centenary grad), and their young son are now residing in Ann Arbor.

Mr. Lloyd D. Mabry is now holding a position as chemist in the Research Department, Catalytic Development Section, of the Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

Dannie Duerson has us guessing. She says, "Am working in the office of Hutchins Motors. More news later concerning an important December wedding—MINE!" Keep us posted, Dannie.

Another summer traveler is Miss Amy Goldman, who spent quite some time this summer in Atlanta, Georgia, and Miami, Florida. She has recently announced her engagement to Edward Morris of Atlanta, where they will make their home after their marriage.

Mrs. Charles Middleton, the former Margie DeJean, has begun work in the office of Van Os & Flaxman, Architects, in Shreveport. She and her husband had a delightful time this summer visiting Kokomo, Indiana, Indianapolis, South Bend, Holland, Michigan, (where they enjoyed the lovely gardens and windmills), and a fishing trip to Canada.

VOL. 2 NO. 1

BULLETIN OF CENTENARY COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

FEBRUARY, 1948

CONTRACT IS LET ON SCIENCE HALL

The awarding of the contract for the new Science Hall at Centenary College was announced February 6 at a special assembly of the student body, faculty, and administration of the College.

President Mickle made the announcement that the bid of $756,000.00 submitted by Southern Builders, Inc., of Shreveport, had been chosen by the executive and building committees of the Board of Trustees in a joint meeting held February 3.

Construction on the building is expected to commence this month.

Construction is expected to be completed by September, 1949.

Dr. Mickle also stated that the Chapel building will be constructed in 1949.

Senior Seminar Covers Great Issues of Today

A seminar for seniors on "Great Issues of Today" will be instituted at Centenary College next semester, according to Dean Ernest H. Cherrington, Jr.

It was developed, according to Dean Cherrington, out of the efforts of Centenary College to prepare its graduates for more effective citizenship in the atomic age.

In it, he stated, Professor Bryant Davidson and a faculty committee have developed a new approach to the major problems of civilization.

Some of the great issues to be covered during the semester are: The Rights of the Individual; Racial Minorities; Contemporary Governments; the Economics and Politics of World Peace; the United Nations; the Impact of Science on Modern Man; Propaganda and Public Opinion; Business Ethics and Making a Living; and the Human Values of the Arts.

In weekly three-hour sessions, seniors enrolled in the seminar will meet with small groups of the faculty for in-

Two Gifts Total $90,000

Two outstanding gifts towards the Greater Centenary College program were made in December. One, for $65,000, came from a Shreveport corporation. The other, for $25,000, came from a member of the board of trustees and his wife.

Shuey Heads Alumni

The Alumni Association was reactivated November 7 at the Homecoming Dinner held on the college campus. Over two hundred members attended and took part in the election of officers.

John M. Shuey, '38, was elected president and Mrs. Rose Margaret Harton, '35, was elected vice president. It was voted to let the public relations office of the college handle secretarial work for the association until a full-time secretary can be employed.

A committee has been appointed to study constitutions of other associations and prepare one for the Centenary association. Members of this committee are: Judge Chris Barnette, chairman; Tom Fitzgerald, Horace Holder, Isaac Abramson and John Carstarphen.

formal discussions of all sides of the issues. The three divisions of the college, the Humanities, the Natural Sciences, and the Social Sciences, will participate, as well as President Mickle and members of the administrative staff.

The seminar is modeled after one established since the war at Dartmouth College. Last fall Dr. Mickle asked a faculty committee headed by Bryant Davidson to study the Dartmouth course and to make recommendations for a similar course for Centenary. In announcing its inauguration, Dean Cherrington stated that it is the first new course to come from an intensive study of the basic needs of the student for useful living in the modern world. Centenary expects, he said, to follow it in the future with additional offerings in this important field.

MONROE LAWYER NAMED TO BOARD

Carl Holbrook McHenry, lawyer from Monroe, La., was nominated to the college's board of trustees at the fall meeting of the board held November 7 and elected by the annual Conference of the Methodist Church on November 14.

Born in Union County, Ark., the twin son of Mrs. Wilton Holbrook McHenry and the late Dr. M. A. McHenry, he was moved to Monroe, La., when he was five years of age.

Completing his grammar and high school education at Monroe, he went to Vanderbilt University where he received his B.S. and M.A. degrees. After graduating from Vanderbilt, he taught in one of the preparatory schools of Tennessee, the R. K. Morgan School at Fayetteville. He states that he has enjoyed no other work more than his one year of teaching in that Christian preparatory school.

He was married December 1, 1921, to Frances Hunt Major, a graduate of Randolph Macon Woman's College. Mr. and Mrs. McHenry have two daughters, Cornelia McHenry, a 1946 graduate of Randolph Macon Woman's College, and Mary Wilton McHenry, a high school student of Neville High School, Monroe, La.

His law training was under three eminent Monroe lawyers, the late Judge W. M. Potts, F. G. Hudson, Sr., and Henry Bernstein, Sr. He is a member of the law firm of McHenry, Lamkin and Snellings, has been active in the practice of law in Monroe since 1912 and is a member of the Fourth District Bar Association, Louisiana Bar and American Bar Association.

No More Pay for Football Players

Subsidies for football players were ruled out by action of the athletic committee on December 19 and the College announced that it was restudying the whole matter of whether to continue the intercollegiate sport on an amateur basis or abandon it altogether.

After extensive efforts were made to find friends who would underwrite the football program, Dr. Mickle stated that "the total secured has fallen far short of the amount needed and a survey of the situation in Shreveport does not arouse any hope for greater financial support in the future."

Players will continue to draw their allowances until the end of this school year.

Intercollegiate football was resumed at Centenary in the fall of 1947 after a wartime recess, with the hope, according to Dr. Mickle, that friends would offset the necessary deficits by substantial contributions.

CARL HOLBROOK McHENRY

He is a member of the board of directors of Delta Air Lines, Inc., United Carbon Company and Central Savings Bank and Trust Company.

Since his early youth he has been an active member and a steward of First Methodist Church, Monroe. He states that he has taken an active interest in Vanderbilt University since his graduation and now hopes that he can be of service to Centenary College. He is convinced that with the scholastic training given students, a college should imbue the students with an appreciation of the verities of life.

Week For Religious Emphasis Is Set

The week of February 23 to 27 has been set for religious emphasis week this year. Dr. James Workman, Pastor of the First Methodist Church in North Little Rock, Arkansas, and former religious director on several college campuses, will speak every day of the week at the chapel assembly.

The public is invited to attend these chapel periods. Other plans, according to William P. Fraser, instructor in Bible at the College, include a discussion forum after each chapel assembly, and informal meetings with Dr. Workman of social groups on the campus.

Dormitory Space Added

Accommodations for 88 additional boarding students are being provided on the campus, S. D. Morehead, Business Manager, announced recently. They will be available in time for the opening of summer school and reservations can be made now for the summer term as well as for the regular winter session.

Library Is Challenge For '48, Mickle States

The Shreveport Magazine for January quotes Dr. Mickle's statement of Centenary's aims for the new year and his observations on outstanding achievements in 1947.

"The year 1947," stated Dr. Mickle, "was distinguished by several acts of private philanthropy on a scale commensurate with the wealth and prestige of Shreveport. The Norton family's establishment of an art foundation and the anonymous gift of a chapel building to Centenary set a pattern for Shreveport of how wealthy people with vision can put their resources into investments of permanent value to the city.

"The proposed library building for Centenary, urgently needed to serve the present and future student bodies, offers a challenge in 1948 to a family which wishes to convert its wealth into human values while perpetuating its name in a memorial building."

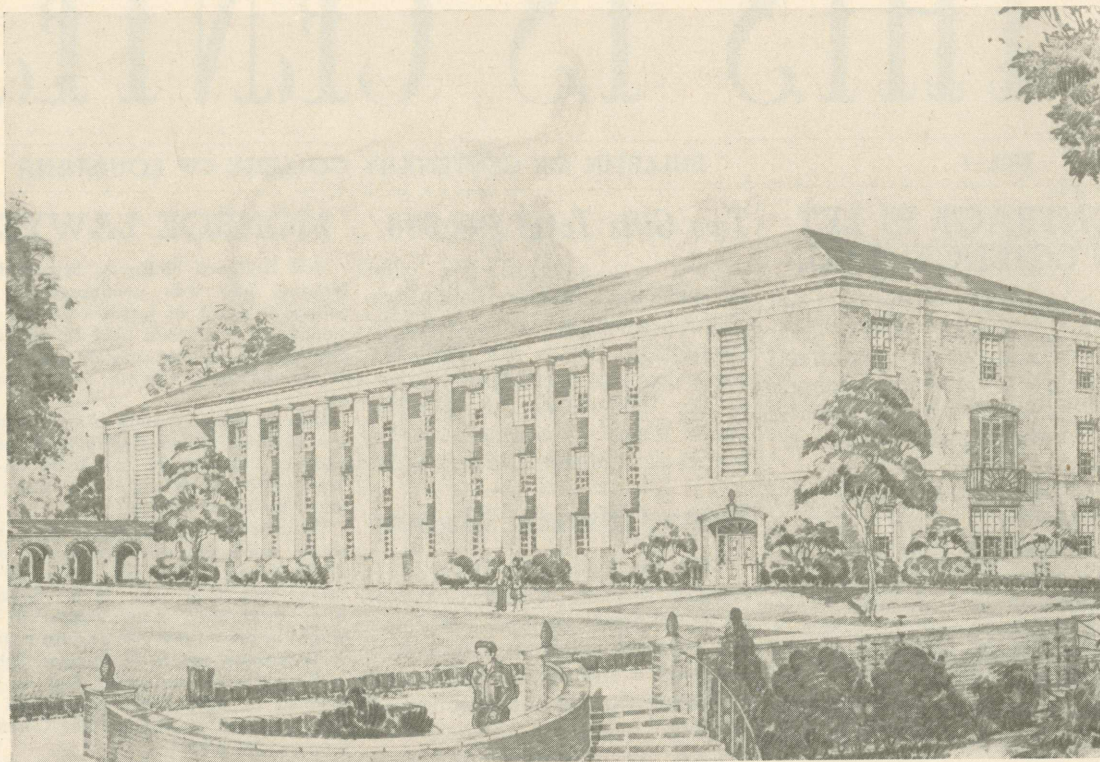

This issue of the magazine also carries a double page spread on the Greater Centenary College program, illustrated with sketches of the overall campus plan and the proposed Science Hall.

Five Church Groups Formed on Campus

Student religious groups of five different denominations are now active on the campus at Centenary College. All of these, newly formed this fall, are coordinated by the Student Christian Association, which was formed on the campus in 1945.

The denominational groups are the Westminster Fellowship for Presbyterian students; the Newman Club for Catholic students; the Baptist Student Union for students of that church; the Canterbury Club for Episcopalian students; and the Methodist Student Movement.

The Science Hall Will Be Started This Month

Courtesy Shreveport Magazine

Groundbreaking for the new Science Hall, first unit of the Greater Centenary College Program, will take place in February. The building, when completed in September, 1949, will house all departments in the Division of Natural Sciences.

In the classical ante-bellum style of the original Centenary buildings at Jackson, Louisiana, it will face north from the south boundary of the new inner campus. Both it and the new Chapel will be finished in 1949.

Student Scoops Storm First Play Praised By Local Press

Jack Barham, Centenary College student, was the first Shreveport photographer to return from Cotton Valley with daylight pictures of the tornado which struck that area on New Year's Eve. Barham, formerly president of the Camera Club at Centenary and a member of the staff of Yoncopin, the college yearbook, is now a photographer on the staff of the Shreveport Journal.

Arriving on the scene of the disaster before daybreak, Barham shot the scenes, using time exposures while the light was still too dim for ordinary photographs. Leaving Cotton Valley immediately to meet the earliest deadline he has ever had in his newspaper work, Barham arrived back in Shreveport as many photographers were just starting out.

The staff of the Journal was holding up the first edition of the paper awaiting his return with the pictures.

Several of Barham's pictures were sent out over the Associated Press wirephoto service which was set up in Shreveport. The Acme News Service also used one of his photographs.

"My Sister Eileen" opened the season of the Centenary Playhouse December 15, with a production that brought favorable comment from Shreveport papers. In the remodeled playhouse, which used to be the chapel building, Director Joseph B. Gifford, head of the Drama department, showed the results of his year's work at Centenary. With a nucleus of students who studied last year under him and his assistant, Eve Spence, he added new dramatics students to build a production which one local reviewer said was the best seen in Shreveport this season.

Future productions will be "The Show-Off," "Death Takes a Holiday" and "Little Women."

Honorary Society For Men Is Formed

An honorary service fraternity was organized at Centenary College on January 16, to give special recognition to men students who have attained a high standard of efficiency in college activities.

This group, authorized by recent action of the faculty, was chosen by a committee of the faculty on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership in student government, participation in athletics, social and religious activities and in publications and fine arts.

Those named for membership were: Dale E. Armstrong, Richard James Barry, James H. Blackmon, Thomas H. Carter, Edward L. Foster, O. C. Edwards, Jr., Hubert E. Gleason, Jr., Glen Graves, Armand Kitto, John Luffey, A. B. Morris, Jr.,

The group, to be known as the Laurel Society, will act as official hosts for the college and greeters for visiting student groups. The members will be expected to give spiritual and intellectual leadership in campus movements; to help preserve the most worth while of campus traditions; to assist in freshman orientation and guidance; and to promote co-operation among student groups.

MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP FUND ESTABLISHED

A $30,000 Centenary College-Rotary Club memorial scholarship in honor of the late M. L. Bath, former member of the Centenary board of trustees and Shreveport business man, was created by his widow, Mrs. Nona Winters Bath, and accepted November 7 by President Joe J. Mickle on behalf of the college. The scholarship, which is to be used primarily for the purpose of financing the education of students from European countries, will be administered by a board composed of three members of the Rotary Club and three members of the board of trustees of Centenary College. The administering board will be appointed in the near future. The picture above shows the signing of the formal agreement between Mrs. Bath and the college representatives. Left to right are J. G. O'Brien, chairman of the international committee of Rotary and chairman of the finance committee of Centenary College; Mrs. Bath, signing the documents creating the scholarship; Paul M. Brown, chairman of the Centenary board of trustees, and Dr. Joe J. Mickle, college president.

Choir Shack Studio For National Program

The dilapidated wooden shack on the Centenary campus, renovated last fall by members of the college's Choir for their use as a broadcast studio, had its first use on a national network on January 31, when the Choir supplied the music for the weekly program, "Our Town Speaks."

The network engineers, accustomed to fine studios and beautiful auditoriums, were more than skeptical, according to A. C. Voran, director of the Choir, when they first looked into the former storage shed turned into a studio.

At first they asked to check the sound absorption qualities of the walls but the Choir members had taken care of that last fall. Old cotton blankets, left at Centenary from the army training program days, had been hung in deep folds all around the room. These, according to the engineers' tests, reduced the echo just the proper amount.

Broad risers, also built by the men in the Choir, furnish three levels on which the Choir members are seated during broadcasts so that no voice is muffled.

Mr. Voran's group, after using makeshifts last year, set out during the summer to find a place where they could rehearse, store their costumes and make broadcasts.

An old frame workshop in the middle of the campus was the only space they could find that wasn't already in use. The building of the college's new war surplus warehouse and shop had made the older structure available.

Through the summer, Choir members cleared out the shack, repaired broken windows, and made it into their own broadcast studio.

Top Artists, Lecturers In Concert Series

Five outstanding musical concerts and six lectures make up the concert series for this school year. The Westminster choir, foremost choral group in America, and the San Antonio Symphony orchestra, under its much publicized conductor, Max Reiter, were presented before mid-term. During the spring the student body will hear Leonard Warren, Metropolitan opera star; Gary Graffman, pianist and only winner of the Rachmaninoff award, and Nellie Mae Gunn, New Orleans soprano.

THIS IS CENTENARY

VOL. 2 NO. 2

BULLETIN OF CENTENARY COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

MARCH, 1948

Spring brings the "New Look" to the Centenary campus. The students who spent their spare moments during the winter in the student union building, having coffee at the snack bar, or enjoying the music from the juke box in the recreation room, are now venturing out of the SUB to stroll across the campus under the budding trees.

A LETTER TO THE ALUMNI FROM PRESIDENT MICKLE—

Dear Alumni:

Your alma mater has grown to be a big college. It is now several times as large as it was when most of you attended. You have only to try to park your car on the campus these days, or to attend chapel on Wednesday mornings, or to have lunch with us in the new cafeteria to realize how many people will soon become your fellow-alumni. The faculty has grown, too, and the administration has increased.

The new Science Hall was commenced February 17 as the beginning of the physical expansion program. It will go a long way toward easing our problems of classroom and laboratory space. The new Chapel will be erected next year, giving us two new buildings by September, 1949.

We are now re-studying our curriculum to bring it into line with the needs of modern living, and have already made some changes in that direction.

There is one other field in which I should like to see growth. That is in the close relationship between the College and its alumni. It is toward this end that an alumni office has been established on the campus to keep us informed about each of you and to keep each of you informed about the College. It should be a two-way affair with both the College and the alumni striving together to put Centenary in a position of educational leadership.

If such leadership is achieved, it will mean increased recognition for the credits and degree you earned here. More important, however, it will mean that the area which Centenary serves will, through its alumni, become a place in which an intelligent and responsible citizenry will increase the chances for Democracy's survival.

Sincerely yours,

J. J. MICKLE, President.

BULLETIN OF CENTENARY COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

Vol. 2 March, 1948 No. 2

Published five times a year in February, March, May, August and October by Centenary College, Shreveport, La.

Entered as second-class matter April 1, 1942, at the post office at Shreveport, La., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

Mrs. Kathryn Moreneaux Morrison, class of '43, has recently been appointed Alumni Registrar. She is shown in the office of Public Relations with some of the six thousand address plates which are used for mailing news to graduates and former students. Many of these plates carry incorrect addresses, according to Mrs. Morrison, and can be corrected if every alumnus will keep her informed of his or her own address and those of friends.

THIS IS CENTENARY

VOL. 2 NO. 3

BULLETIN OF CENTENARY COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

MAY, 1948

TO RETIRE MAY 30

Mrs. Arthur R. Campbell, Dean of Women for the past twenty-five years, will retire at the end of the school year on May 30, it was announced recently by President Joe J. Mickle.

During these twenty-five years she has been responsible for creating a broad range of student activities at Centenary. Dramatics, physical education for girls, sororities, May Day fetes, student tours to Europe and scholastic fraternities are among those she has initiated.

Of all the campus activities and organizations which she has sponsored, however, the one most closely identified with her is Maroon Jackets. This group, made up of junior and senior girls representing all social organizations, serves as official hostesses for the College. Founded in 1931 by Mrs. Campbell, they have been under her guidance ever since.

In announcing the College's acceptance of Dean Campbell's resignation, Dr. Mickle stated that Centenary was losing a member of its staff who, perhaps, more than any other, had helped to perpetuate on the campus the College's tradition of southern gentility. By her graciousness of manner and personal charm, he said, Dean Campbell has had a lasting influence on the lives of Centenary students during the past twenty-five years.

New Student Body Officers Elected

In one of the most intense campaigns in the history of campus politics, students flocked to the polls recently to vote for student body officers.

For the first time in Centenary's history the plurality system was discarded and the majority system preferred by a vote of 649 to 227.

Charles Laing, a senior from Washom, Texas, was elected student body president. Laing was swept into office with a 259 majority vote over his opponent, Lawrence Voss.

Also elected to college offices: Dean (Diz) Duncan, vice president; Sharon Miracle, coed vice president; Joyce Hardin, secretary, and Jack Williamson, treasurer.

Honorary Degree To Be Awarded

The degree of Doctor of Divinity has been approved for the Reverend Mr. Robert Edward Goodrich, Jr., pastor of the First Methodist Church in Dallas, by the Board of Trustees and Faculty of Centenary College.

The announcement was made Sunday, April 18, by Joe J. Mickle, president of Centenary, at the morning service of the First Methodist Church in Dallas. Dr. Mickle was visiting the church with the Centenary College Choir which took part in the service.

The degree will be conferred on Mr. Goodrich at the College's commencement exercises to be held May 30 on the campus.

Mr. Goodrich attended Centenary College from 1925 to 1928. He was appointed to his present pastorate in November, 1946.

He received his B.A. degree from Birmingham-Southern, and his M.A. degree from Southern Methodist University. He has served as pastor of churches in Port Arthur, Houston, El Paso and Dallas, Texas.

He was the special speaker for Religious Emphasis Week at Centenary College in March, 1944. Last year he delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Centenary.

Faculty and Tuition Raises Announced

A general raise in the salary scales for faculty and an increase in tuition and other charges was announced recently by S. D. Morehad, business manager.

All ranks of the faculty will be affected by the new salary scales which bring Centenary into line with other comparable colleges.

Tuition and fees are being consolidated into a single charge of $165 per semester, which represents an increase of about $27 over last year.

Room rent will be upped from $7.50 per month to $10 and board charges increased from $1.25 per day to $1.50.

Half A Chicken in Every Box

Everything from ice cold cokes to cup cakes will be included on the menu of the box lunches to be served at the picnic for seniors, alumni, trustees and faculty on Saturday, May 29 in the gym. Chairman of the committee, Tom Richardson, class of '38, assistant business manager of the college, has arranged for half a fried chicken for every one as the main course in the box lunches.

A picnic is planned this year instead of the usual formal luncheon in order that more may attend. Reservations may be made by sending a check for $1.50 per person to the Office of Public Relations.

CHOIR CHOSEN FOR INTERNATIONAL LIONS' PROGRAM

The Centenary choir has been selected again to stage the entire necrology service at the Lions International convention in New York City the latter part of July, it was announced recently. This will be the second time the choir has taken this part in a Lions International convention.

Last summer the group had full charge of the necrology service at the convention in San Francisco.

A. C. Voran, choir director, said that all 42 members of the choir, accompanists, Mrs. J. J. Mickle and he will attend the convention.

A tentative itinerary provides for departure of the choir July 22 in a special Lions club train. By way of Little Rock, Arkansas, and St. Louis, Missouri, they will travel to Niagara Falls, New York, and will go by boat the rest of the way to New York City.

Lions clubs in Louisiana will sponsor the visit of the club to the annual convention, paying their entire expenses.

Baccalaureate Sermon To Be Given By Dr. J. N. R. Score

Dr. John Russell Score, president of Southwestern University, Georgetown, Texas, will preach the Baccalaureate sermon Sunday, May 30, at the First Methodist Church.

Dr. Score, who has held his present position since June 1, 1942, was pastor of the First Methodist Church in Fort Worth from 1934 to 1942. Prior to that time he held pastorates in Arkansas, California and Texas.

Dr. Score's degrees include a B.D. degree from Emory University, Th.D. from Pacific School of Religion, and D.D. from Centenary College. The degree of L.L.D. has been conferred on him by both Central College and Southern Methodist University. He has also studied in New College and University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Named Lions clubs chairman of the convention and choir committee was Elmer E. Stewart. Cochairman is Graydon Kitchens, Minden. Others on the committee are J. W. Langford, Gibsland; J. K. Smith, Vivian; Walter H. Johnson, Ruston; Joe Preddy, West Monroe; C. H. Foster, Wisner, and L. P. Vetter, Coushatta.

Last summer the choir made almost daily appearances and two radio broadcasts during the 17-day trip to San Francisco.

Dr. Paul W. Quillian To Be Commencement Speaker

Dr. Paul W. Quillian, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Houston, Texas, will deliver the commencement address on May 30 in the Open Air Theatre on Centenary campus.

After having held pastorates in Arkansas and Oklahoma, Dr. Quillian came to the First Methodist Church in Houston, Texas, in 1936. His present pastorate is listed as the largest Methodist Church in the United States with a membership of 7,848.

Dr. Quillian received his B.D. degree from the School of Theology of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, and has done graduate work at the University of Chicago, Columbia University and Union Seminary in New York. Honorary degrees include the Doctor of Divinity from Hendrix College in 1929 and from Southern Methodist University in 1935; the LL.D. degree from Florida Southern College in 1939.

During the 12 years he has been preaching in Houston, he has become the most widely known voice of Protestantism in Texas, speaking out courageously against social evils of our day, and for a positive program of right living, individually and socially.

Dr. Quillian is a member of the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church. He gives freely of his time and effort in preaching, missions, speaking before Annual Conferences, at Universities and in churches, all over the United States.

Dr. Leroy Vogel Is Granted Leave To Serve in Germany

A leave of absence until the fall of 1949 has been granted Dr. Leroy Vogel, Centenary College history professor, to permit him to serve in Germany as specialist adviser in the adult education program for the American zone.

Dr. Vogel, who has been at Centenary since September, 1946, left with Mrs. Vogel, the former Betty Garrett, in March.

While in Germany the professor will act as adviser to the director of education and will speak for him in all matters pertaining to adult education. At least one year will be devoted to the program.

Immediately after the war, Dr. Vogel was chief of counter-intelligence with the American intelligence center in Europe.

Published five times a year in February, March, May, August and October by Centenary College,
Shreveport, La.

Entered as second-class matter April 1, 1942, at the post office at Shreveport, La., under the Act of
August 24, 1912.

Alumni To Hold Business Meeting

A short business session of the alumni association will be held in the music school auditorium just before the senior-alumni picnic on Saturday, May 29, at 12:30.

John Shuey, president of the association, will present the newly drafted constitution on which the constitution committee has been working the past several months.

Members of the committee are: Judge Chris Barnette, chairman; Tom Fitzgerald, Horace Holder, Isaac Abramson and John Carstarphen.

192 To Receive Degrees

The college will confer 192 degrees at the commencement exercise May 30, the largest in the history of the college and exceeding by a wide margin the 132 degrees given last year.

The number of seniors graduating this year is more than the total for the first twenty years of Centenary's existence in Shreveport from 1907 to 1927.

BULLETIN OF CENTENARY COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

NBC Photos

TWO NEWLYWEDS among the choir seem lost to the business on hand at the rehearsal for their appearance on the NBC program. Marilyn Miller, of Gladewater, Texas, and Harry Garrett, from Vivian, La., were married in New York at the Little Church Around the Corner before the broadcast.

Alumni who tuned in on the Cities Service Program, Band of America, July 30, heard the announcer say: "Shreveport is proud of Centenary College, oldest college west of the Mississippi. Cities Service is happy to welcome to this broadcast the 42 splendid young voices of the Centenary College Choir, under the direction of Mr. A. C. Voran. The Choir makes a handsome appearance, too . . . for the young ladies are in colonial gowns of shimmering gold and the young men wear maroon cutaways! The Centenary College Choir will sing 'The Lost Chord' by Sir Arthur Sullivan, and 'Cindy' by Bradley Kinkaid."

In addition to their guest appearance on the Cities Service program, the Choir sang at the opening session of the Lions Clubs International convention and in the necrology service in Madison Square Garden, a ceremony which honored Lions club members who have died in recent years. In maroon and white formal attire, the choir sang from a large stage before 25,000 persons.

Dr. French Retires

Dr. Katherine Jackson French, acting head of the department of English at Centenary College, has resigned from the faculty of the college, according to an announcement made recently by President Joe J. Mickle.

Dr. French came to the Centenary department of English in 1924 when Dr. George Sexton was president. After the death of Dr. S. A. Steger, head of the department of English in 1945, she was made acting head of the department and held that position until her resignation.

In accepting Dr. French's resignation, Dr. Mickle wrote to her: "Perhaps no teacher in the whole history of Centenary College has left a finer and deeper impression upon student life both within and without the classroom than you have done. The fine quality of your mind and spirit has been matched with a co-operative and constructive attitude on all matters pertaining to the development of Centenary College.

"Furthermore, your contribution to the Shreveport community as a whole has been tremendous. It has raised the intellectual, cultural and spiritual level of the entire city. The admiration which the college has for you is shared in the Woman's Department Club and other civic organizations."

Dr. French is a native of Kentucky. She received her B. A. and M. A. degrees from Ohio Wesleyan University and her Ph.D. from Columbia University. She is active in the work of the Methodist Church and in civic clubs. For a number of years she taught the Wesley Bible Class at the First Methodist Church.

She has lectured frequently before many clubs, being especially active in the Department Club, which she helped organize. She is a past state president of the American Association of University Women.

Publications which she has written include a history of American colonial literature and contributions to literary journals.

BULLETIN OF CENTENARY COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

Vol. 2 AUGUST, 1948 No. 4

Published five times a year in February, March, May, August and October by Centenary College, Shreveport, La.

Entered as second-class matter April 1, 1942, at the post office at Shreveport, La., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

Wilson Appointed Dean

Dr. John B. Wilson, formerly head of the department of English at Arkansas State Teachers' College, has been appointed Dean of the College and succeeded former Dean Cherrington July first.

Dean Cherrington resigned to accept a position at Akron University. Dr. Wilson will also head the English department. Dr. Katherine Jackson French has been acting head of the department since the death of Dr. S. A. Steger in 1945.

The new dean has been at Arkansas State since receiving his Ph.D. degree from the University of North Carolina. He holds an M.A. degree from the University of South Carolina and a B.A. from Ouachita College, Arkadelphia, Arkansas.

Lynn Robinson Pomeroy III is called "Robin" by his parents, Lynn Jr. ('43) and the former Harriett Lieber ('44).

Charles O. (Chuck) Zagst Jr. was born in October, 1946. His mother is the former Marie Lamarque, class of '39.

Suzanne (2) and Marian (8 months) are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Clark. Mrs. Clark is the former Eileen Maynard, '41, and he is a graduate of the class of '40.

Charles Jr. (4 1/2) and Tim (1 1/2) are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Looney (Emily Cashore, '39).

CLASS OF 1948

Several members of the class of '48 are either doing graduate work now or are planning to begin in the fall. Paddy Ann Doll will go to Fribourg, Switzerland in September where she will study music and languages at the Villa des Fougères. Glen Graves, who has been working for the law firm of Hargrove, Guyton, Van Hook and Hargrove this summer, will enter law school in the fall. Mark Daly and Robert Lindsey have already begun work on their master's degrees in accounting at the University of Texas, and John Luffy plans to do the same in the fall. James A. Barnett has entered the University of Washington where he, too, will work on a master's degree in accounting. Sally Ann Lindsey will go to LSU in September.

Several other members of the class have accepted positions. Allen McGary is working as an accountant with Richard W. Norton, Jr., oil, and Harry I. Morgan, drilling contractor, in the Commercial National Bank Building. (Allen reports that he also keeps busy in his role of father of four children, the youngest of whom are twin boys). Helen Houston is at Centenary in the Registrar's office, and James Lee Beck is a car salesman for Central Motors. Calvin Rockefeller is associated with W. Curtis Roberts, accountants; Brownie Morris has accepted a position with International Business Machines; and George P. Slattery is working in the accounting department at Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation. John H. Oliphant is Louisiana State Cosmetic Inspector, but he expects to go back into the Army soon and be stationed at Barksdale Air Force Base in the Intelligence Department. (He was recently elected State Commander of the Louisiana Purple Heart Association). Frank Cantwell has moved to Nashville, Tennessee, where he has a position with an insurance agency. Mason Dunn is working this summer as manager of the city swimming pool.

THIS IS CENTENARY

VOL. 2 NO. 5

BULLETIN OF CENTENARY COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

OCTOBER, 1948

S. PERRY BROWN ('26) was elected National Commander of the American Legion at their convention held in Miami, Florida, October 21. Mr. Brown is a brother of Paul M. Brown, chairman of the Board of Trustees. His home is in Beaumont, Texas, where he is engaged in the general contracting business.

Industrial Leaders and Faculty Study Curriculum

A joint committee of faculty and industrial leaders has been established by the college to restudy the entire curriculum. At the first meeting, held October 7, special attention was given to the contribution Centenary has made and can make to the material development of the area it serves.

The importance of general education as a background for technical training was stressed by President Joe J. Mickle and many suggestions were offered by the representatives of industry for special courses which would serve the specific needs of their companies.

Members of the committee are M. A. Abernathy and W. E. Wilson, United Gas Company; I. Y. East, International Paper Company; Nat Heath, Southwestern Gas and Electric Company; J. C. Hamilton, Arkansas Natural Gas Company; C. N. Wibker, J. B. Beaird Company; Harry Sheard, Bayou State Oil Corporation; P. C. Bridges, Commercial National Bank; Paul M. Griffis, First National Bank; R. McL. Jeter, Continental-American Bank and Trust Company; H. M. Rogers, Texas Eastern Transmission Co.; L. A. Mailhes, The Shreveport Times; Dolph Frantz, Shreveport Journal; James McGinley, Chamber of Commerce. Faculty members are: President Joe J. Mickle; Dean J. B. Wilson; S. D. Morehead, business manager; J. B. Entriakin, professor of chemistry; Charles A. Hickcox, assistant professor of geology; Robert Moody, assistant professor of chemistry; A. J. Middlebrooks, professor of education and psychology; Mary Waters, professor of biology; A. W. Trusty, instructor in petroleum refining; T. W. Richardson, assistant business manager; and Bryant Davidson, professor of history.

Lyceum Numbers Are Announced

The Centenary Lyceum series for 1948-49 has been announced by Ralph Squires, head of the school of music.

Highlights of the season are the Don Cossacks chorus and the Margaret Webster Broadway production of Hamlet. Other numbers are Conrad Thibault, baritone star of radio and concert, who will appear the evening of November 10; Albert Spalding, violinist, November 29; and Appleton and Field, two-piano team, March 25.

The Don Cossacks chorus will appear December 9, and the Webster production of Hamlet on February 2.

All numbers will be given in the Centenary gymnasium except Hamlet, which will be given at Byrd High School auditorium.

This year all but one number will be given in the evening instead of at the regular weekly assembly as they were last year. The one number is Appleton and Field, which is scheduled on a Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Vet Enrollment Shows Small Drop

Official enrollment figures released by Mrs. Don Brown, registrar, show that total enrollment in the fall term is 1,689, of which 932 are veterans. Regular students, those taking over twelve hours' work, total 1,060.

The veteran enrollment represents a decrease of about 12 per cent of last year's figure of 1,020.

Member of All-Centenary Family Selected By Paper Chemistry Institute

David McKay, a member of a family of four Centenary alumni, was one of the sixteen students selected this fall from all over the United States for admission to the Institute of Paper Chemistry, Appleton, Wis. There he will work on his Ph.D. degree. For the past year he has been working for the International Paper Company in Springfield.

Dave is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McKay of Shreveport, all four of whose children are Centenary alumni.

His sister, Mrs. Lillene McKay Matlock ('37) graduated in biology and worked for several years as a medical technologist in the Browning Clinic in Shreveport. She is now living in Minden where her husband, C. V. Matlock, is with the Yukon Flour Company. They have two children, Charles Douglas and John David.

Joseph William McKay III, '38, is a physician in Gibsland. He is married to the former Dorothy Wells.

Edwin Douglas McKay ('42) is a medical student at LSU. He and his wife, the former Lucienne Holland, live at 2013 Ives street, Apt. D, Todd Homes, New Orleans.

Moody 5th Gent to Be "Young Man of Year"

Centenary alums will be proud to know that Robert A. Moody, who was named Shreveport's "Young Man of the Year" on January 17 at the Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon, is the fifth recipient of the award who has either attended or graduated from Centenary. This is particularly outstanding in view of the fact that the award has been presented for only seven years.

Three Centenary graduates have been named to this position. They are Rev. George Pearce, class of '37, who received the award in 1941; Robert H. Nelson, Jr., '37, who received it in 1946; and Rev. D. L. Dykes, Jr., last year's recipient. William Whisner, who received the award in 1944, and Robert Moody both attended Centenary but did not graduate.

Mr. Moody, who is 28, has been assistant professor of chemistry at Centenary since 1946, and he accepted the award "as a tribute to my colleagues on the Centenary faculty."

Mr. Moody is a member of the American Chemical Society, and served as vice-chairman of the program committee for the recent regional meeting of the society held in Shreveport. He was also in charge of the atomic energy exhibit shown at the 1949 Louisiana State Fair.

At Centenary he is chairman of the college committee on student affairs; founder of Laurel Society, honorary men's service fraternity which will affiliate soon with Omicron Delta Kappa, national service organization; and faculty representative on the Student Senate and on the student constitutional committee. He organized last spring a tour of South Louisiana industries for chemistry seniors and helped organize the first senior seminar in "Great Issues of Today."

As a lieutenant in the naval reserve, he studied and wrote the training syllabus for the Shreveport battalion, and was active in the staging of Navy Day observance here last fall.

"ODK" To Have Chapter at Centenary

Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity, is soon to have a chapter on the Centenary campus.

"ODK," as it is popularly known, was founded in 1914 at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia, and since that time has added 60 new chapters to its roll.

Its prime requisite for membership is meritorious attainments in all-around leadership in college and university life. Its purposes are three-fold: to recognize such men and by so doing to encourage others to strive for these attainments; to bring together representative men in all phases of collegiate life to create an organization which will help mold the sentiments of the institution on questions of local and intercollegiate interest; to bring together members of the faculty and student body on a basis of mutual interest and understanding.

The Laurel Society, honorary men's fraternity on the Centenary campus, has been accepted as a circle of Omicron Delta Kappa. The 14 present members of the Laurel Society who will become charter members of the ODK are O. C. Edwards; William P. Fraser, Dean of Students; Raymond Gibbs; Hubert Gleason; Gaius Hardaway; John A. Hardin, Dean Emeritus of the College and Head of the Department of Mathematics; Julian Pace Hatcher; Charles A. Hickcox, Assistant Professor of Geology; William Keasler; Armand W. Kitto; Harry Lazarus; Robert A. Moody, Assistant Professor of Chemistry; Cleveland Strong; and Robert Young.

Mr. Moody, a 1937 honor graduate of Byrd High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Moody of Shreveport. He attended Centenary and the University of Arizona, and graduated from Cornell. During the war he served in the Navy as engineering officer of a minesweeper in the Pacific theatre of operation.

New Registration System

Registration for students already enrolled in Centenary has been greatly simplified this semester. No more long lines and frayed patience. Students of the college began enrolling more than ten days prior to the beginning of the second semester, and while they were still attending first semester class. Only new students registered January 31 and February 1 for the new semester.

The new system practically does away with post-registration schedule changes since it allows more time for individual counseling.

Replies to Letter Encouraging

Replies to the initial letter concerning the Centenary College Alumni Foundation have been both encouraging and constructive.

One particularly fine letter was written by Edwin F. Whited, class of '43. With his permission, we are printing it in its entirety:

"I have before me your letter of January 19 addressed to all Centenary alumni. Let me say I know of nothing which has given me greater pleasure recently than to realize that an active alumni association has been formed to participate in the future growth of Centenary.

The ideas expressed in your letter seem to me to be based on solid thinking attuned to our times. This new association gives to we alumni the opportunity to help Centenary in proportion to our ability to help, which is the democratic way. If I know Centenary men and women, and I think I do, there will be a vigorous response to your letter as alumni hasten to enter the membership ranks of the alumni association.

At the end of this letter is my current mailing address. I want to be notified of all alumni activities, even though distance will prevent me from participating in most of them. However, distance has certainly not diminished my interest in Centenary and its future, nor the obligation which I feel I owe to the college."

Many other fine comments and suggestions have come in on the postcards which were enclosed in the letter. A sampling of these include the following:

"I think you have given us who love Centenary some important things to think about. I am thoroughly in accord with your idea that the Foundation should grow and develop. You can count on me to help with the movement."—William B. Glover, '23, Winnsboro, La.

"Am in favor of anything that will point toward the advancement of Centenary. Will be happy to help in any way that I can."—Gilbert Hetherwick, '42, Shreveport.

"I think this is a wise plan. Count on me."—George G. Nelson, '26, Benton, Louisiana.

"I think it is a good idea and will be glad to cooperate in every way possible. From your letter I got the idea that all money above operating expenses taken in will be given to the college. Admittedly I know nothing of finance, but it seems to me that if a certain sum is not set aside every year as a sinking fund or to invest in some way, an organization like this would probably die when or if there is a depression."—E. David McKay, '47, Appleton, Wisconsin.

"I'm so glad that the Alumni Foundation has been incorporated and $.50 a month will gladly be given by each of us, I'm sure."—Mrs. Foster Fuqua (Ann Duckworth '39), Irving, Texas.

"Am not interested. Please discontinue correspondence."—(Name withheld)

"I think the idea you stated in your letter is fine. Please let me know when we should start paying our money."—Georgia E. Livingston, Baton Rouge.

"Your suggestion of an individual gift from each person is good. I would be glad to participate and help others to do so."—Rev. Isaac Frank Dent, '28, Galveston, Texas.

"I am heartily in favor of the objectives of the Foundation, and I see no reason why they can't be reached. Quarterly contributions would probably be more convenient. If each alumnus would make a modest continuing contribution according to his means, with a minimum of $1.50 a quarter, the job would be done. I am also in favor of sectional alumni gatherings."—Julian C. Covington, '29, Alexandria, La.

"Received your letter concerning the Centenary College Alumni Foundation, and I certainly think this a nice idea. Will be glad to help or participate in any way I can. I ascertain you would like for each alumnus to give $.50 a month or $6.00 a year to the fund, and I will be happy to send you my part. Hoping this will be a very successful enterprise, I remain, Yours truly,"—Kathleen White, '47, LSU Medical School.

New Sorority House Opened Dec. 8

The new Alpha Omicron Pi sorority house, first to be built on Centenary's new fraternity row, was completed and officially opened on December 8, 1948. The house, at 2902 Woodlawn, is directly across the street from the entrance of the new science building, which will be completed in time for the fall session of this year.

Decorated in modern style, the living room has one wall with oriental motif paper while the other three are of white plaster. A fire place flanked by bookshelves forms one end of the room and a large picture window decorates the other.

Mrs. A. R. Campbell, retired dean of women, and Goodloe R. Stuck, formerly director of public relations, spoke at the opening, and President Joe J. Mickle cut the red satin ribbon which officially opened the house.

VOL. 2 NO. 8

BULLETIN OF CENTENARY COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

MAY, 1949

Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, U. S. Air Force, retired, assists in the cornerstone laying ceremonies for the new science building held on May 1. George D. Wray, chairman of the Centenary building committee, and Dr. Joe I. Mickle, president of the college, look on. Eaker, who was chief of the air staff during World War II and deputy commanding general of the Army Air Forces from 1945-47, is now vice president of the Hughes Tool Company in Houston. He was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by Centenary prior to the ceremonies. The building which was begun in February, 1948, is scheduled to be completed in September of this year.

Foundation Fund Reaches $700

Mrs. Julia Stein Nuttall '37.
Paul M. Brown '17.
John M. Shuey '38.
Mrs. Sidney Skinner Loper '44.
A. B. Farnell '38.
Mrs. Avis Wilson Fullilove '38.
Mrs. Catherine Murphy Evans ex-'37.
Abie C. Goldberg '29.
J. H. Blakemore ex-'34.
Mrs. Mattie Hunt Blakemore ex-'32.
G. W. James '29.
Mrs. Edna E. Richardson Stinson '39.
Lake Dupree '27.

The class of '38 is leading in number of contributions.

Retirements of William G. Phelps (left), emeritus professor of Classics and German, and Robert E. Smith, emeritus professor and head of the department of Biblical Literature, have been announced by the college. Phelps has been at Centenary since 1923 and Smith since 1920.

Million-Dollar Drive Launched

The second phase of the Greater Centenary College Program has been launched. A goal of $1,000,000 has been announced by the Centenary Development Committee, and the money has been designated to complete the new science building and to erect a library.

The drive for this amount will continue through the month of May.

W. A. Haynes is honorary chairman of the Centenary Development Committee and Howard Crumley is general chairman.

Approximately $350,000 of the $1,000,000 will be used to complete the new science building, now under construction. This new structure will provide more classroom space to relieve congestion in other buildings and will supply the modern facilities urgently needed by the science department to advance its far-reaching work.

The remaining $650,000 has been designated for the library. Although the total cost of this building is estimated at $1,000,000, architects have proposed a plan whereby the building structure can be erected and a part of the interior completed and utilized at an estimated cost of $700,000. Since previous gifts designated for the Library Fund amount to $50,000, an additional $650,000 is needed to build the library structure as proposed.

Expansion of Centenary's library, which is one of the oldest in the country and contains many valuable volumes, is desperately needed. Present inadequate facilities force book stacks to be jammed into the end of one room and allow only cramped quarters for study and research. The attainment of this building also will relieve other congestion and centralize administration, as plans are to include administrative offices in the new library.

Three to Receive Honorary Degrees

Three honorary degrees will be awarded at the Centenary commencement exercises to be held on May 29.

Recipients will be S. Perry Brown and John E. Gray, both of Beaumont, Texas, who will be awarded Doctor of Laws degrees; and Rev. John J. Rasmussen of Lake Charles, who will receive the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Brown, a Beaumont contractor and national commander of the American Legion, received his B. A. degree from Centenary in 1926. He is the brother of Paul M. Brown, chairman of the Centenary board of trustees.

Gray is president of Lamar College in Beaumont and was recently elected president of the Southern Association of Junior Colleges. Under his administration, the enrollment of Lamar has jumped from 700 to 2,000.

Pastor of the First Methodist Church of Lake Charles, Rasmussen is a leader in Methodist Church activities throughout the state.

OF LOUISIANA

Vol. 2 MAY, 1949 No. 8

Published five times a year in February, March, May, August and October by Centenary College, Shreveport, La.

Entered as second-class matter April 1, 1942, at the post office at Shreveport, La., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

Permanent Maroon Jackets

Plans to have a permanent Maroon Jacket organization are being formulated.

Response to letters sent to all former Maroon Jackets by Katherine Turner, assistant dean of students and sponsor of the organization, was good, most old members expressing a desire to have a means of continuing to participate in some way. Definite plans have not been completed, but in all probability there will be annual or semiannual meetings, and perhaps an annual social function of some kind.

A plaque, bearing the names of all former Maroon Jackets, is being made, and on completion, will be hung in the arts building. When the new arts building, included in the Greater Centenary College Program, is constructed, the plaque will be permanently hung there.

Alumni Office Handles Placement

A placement bureau, handling both part-time employment for students and full-time employment for graduates, has been set up in the alumni office.

Interviews are arranged between employers and Centenary College students and graduates, and already many satisfactory placements have been made.

Files are being kept on all interested students and graduates, and it is hoped that all alumni will feel free to avail themselves of this service at any time during their careers.

A pamphlet explaining the placement service was recently sent to all Shreveport business places and to several out-of-town companies. Included in this pamphlet was a letter from Dr. Joe J. Mickle, president of the college, which read as follows:

Dear Friends:

Our joint Industry-Faculty Committee, in making a study of Centenary College's contribution to the industrial life of the community, has suggested that our business community and Centenary might profit greatly by the establishment of a more effective PLACEMENT SERVICE for our graduates and students.

Already we have taken two important steps as the groundwork for a better PLACEMENT SERVICE. First, a counseling system for students has been organized and is functioning continually in an effort to produce graduates who have carefully selected a field for their life's work. Second, a joint Industry-Faculty Committee is operating to study ways and means whereby Centenary can be of greater service to business and industry in this area.

In line with these two important steps, the college is now pleased to announce that new emphasis will be given to its PLACEMENT SERVICE by assisting our students and graduates to find work in their chosen fields. It will be a privilege to assist you in filling your employment needs.

Sincerely yours,
Joe J. Mickle, President

New Literary Publication

The first issue of a new magazine, THE CENTENARY REVIEW, has recently come off the press.

This magazine is published and edited by VENTURE, a group of young writers at Centenary who believe there is a need in this section of the country for more voice for both young and established writers.

The first issue contains contributions by Cleanth Brooks, author of THE WELL WROUGHT URN; James Aswell, author of MIDSUMMER FIRES; and Ada Jack Carver, Harper prize winner for RED-BONE and author of the play, THE CAJUN. In addition there are short stories, articles and verse by writers of the Venture group: Evan Campbell, Mary Jane Callahan, Raymond Carey and Albert Leary, editor of the magazine who recently had two verses published in a section of THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY devoted to outstanding young college writers.

Copies of the magazine, which sell for 50 cents, can be obtained by writing THE CENTENARY REVIEW, or Albert Leary, 407 Merrick, Shreveport.

In view of the fact that the annual meeting of the Alumni Association was washed away by rain on May 28, the election of officers for the year 1949-50 will have to be accomplished by a mail ballot as provided by Section 3, Article VIII of the new constitution. Please cast your vote in the space provided below and return the ballot to the Alumni Secretary, Centenary College.

Included on the ballot are the names suggested by the nominating committee for each office. As you recall, these names were furnished you in the letter notifying you of the annual meeting. If you support the nomination of the committee for any position, it is not necessary for you to mark the ballot. However, if your choice has not been put forward, you must write his name in the space provided.

To be counted, your vote must reach the Alumni Office on or before September 15, 1949.

Alumnus Appointed Business Manager

Dr. S. D. Morehead has been named treasurer and assistant to the President at Centenary. President Joe J. Mickie announced recently. Thomas W. Richardson, a graduate of the class of '38, will succeed Dr. Morehead as business manager. Dr. Morehead was appointed business manager at Centenary in 1945, at which time Mr. Richardson became assistant business manager of the college.

"Dr. Morehead is being moved into a position of greater responsibility for continuous study of all financial operations of the college, including properties and investments," Dr. Mickie said. "In his new position he will be able to pay increased attention to important phases of the Centenary building and expansion program and give assistance to the President in handling certain administrative details not ordinarily assigned to the business office of a college," President Mickie added.

Dr. Morehead came to Centenary in 1923 as assistant professor of history and economics. He was made head of the department of economics in 1929 and retained that position until this summer when Dr. W. W. Pate became head of that department. Morehead, a Hendrix College graduate, earned the master's and doctor's degrees in economics at Columbia University.

Mr. Richardson completed his master's degree at Louisiana State University, and during the war served as a lieutenant commander in the Navy.

Jack Cooke Receives Award

The Rev. Jack Cooke, pastor of the Methodist Church of Coushatta, Louisiana, recently was named "rural minister of the year" in an annual south-wide poll by the "Progressive Farmer," Southern farm magazine.

Rev. Cooke received the award which accompanies the honor at a dinner July 19 at Emory University in Georgia.

Rev. Cooke received his B.D. degree from Duke University after completing undergraduate work at Centenary. He entered the Louisiana Methodist Conference in 1941, and besides the Coushatta pastorate, has been pastor at Rodessa and Plain Dealing.

He was born and reared at Minden, and married Miss Ruth Smith of Raleigh, N. C. They have two small sons, Jonathan and Paul.

During Rev. Cooke's tenure at the Coushatta Methodist Church, the church has paid for a $15,000 parsonage; erected and paid for an educational-Sunday School building, and has taken an active lead in young people's work. He has been connected with five camps for young people in the past year.

The selection as minister of the year carried with it a scholarship, including board, room and tuition, at the town and country religious workers' school at Emory University which ran for three weeks in July.

Mickle Speaks at LSU

Dr. Joe J. Mickle, president of Centenary College, delivered the principal address at LSU's summer graduation exercises held on August 5 in the university's open-air Greek theater. The subject of his address, heard by 669 candidates for degrees, was "Pressures on a Free Society."

Lambda Chi's Break Ground

Mayor Clyde E. Fant of Shreveport was the principal speaker at groundbreaking ceremonies held August 7 for the new Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity house at Centenary, and President Joe J. Mickle spaded the first ground.

The house will be of frame construction, 24 feet by 48 feet, and will cost about $10,000. It will contain a large lounge-meeting room, a chapter room, kitchen and lavatory. A principal feature of the house, which will be American colonial in design, will be a big, Roman brick fire place in the lounge room.

The house will be located on East Washington Street which will be paved in the near future.

Recent Alumni Get Around

Centenary's newest members of the Alumni Association—the class of 1949—are really getting around this fall in professional and graduate schools. According to statistics released by Mrs. Nell Brown, registrar, 48 of them are enrolled for higher "higher education" now.

Is This The Title That You Want?

Suggestions have been made by several alumni that the title of this publication, "This Is Centenary," is not entirely suitable. It has been suggested that the title be changed to "Alumni News of Centenary," "Alumni News," or "Centenary Alumni."

The changing of a title of a publication necessitates certain postal changes, and thus the alumni office has been hesitant to act on such suggestions without first presenting the suggestions to the entire alumni for discussion.

Fill out a penny postcard tonight, address it to Alumni Office, Centenary College, Shreveport, La., and let your opinion on the matter be known.

Twelve of last May's BA graduates are in schools. They are: Joseph Bowdon, Jr., SMU; Jose T. Cheek, East Texas State Teachers College; Otis Carl Edwards, Jr., Duke; Bettie Rea Fox, SMU; Joseph Gowan, Tulane; Nathan Joyner, Washington State College; John J. Patterson, Boston Conservatory; Charles Raines, Tulane; Richard Rosenthal, Hebrew Union College; Francis B. Roser, Columbia University; William V. Sirman, SMU; and Henry E. Wilson, UCLA.

Twenty-six of last May's BS graduates are in schools. They are: Joseph R. Brock, LSU; Ira L. Campbell, Jr., Tulane; Jack T. Cappel, Jr., Tulane; Harvey L. Carter, Jr., LSU; James A. Dees, Jr., LSU; Rudolph R. Forbing, LSU; Georgia L. Foster, University of Oklahoma; Jean Robert Gaienné, SMU; Raymond L. Gibbs, SMU; Bettina C. Hillman, Tulane; Robert M. Horne, SMU; Albert E. Hyde, LSU; Sherman Kottle, University of Texas; Thomas G. Lyons, LSU; David V. Middleton, Jr., LSU; Paul R. Noyes, University of Texas; Carl Ratzburg, Loyola; Donelson A. Robertson, University of Illinois; Donald A. Saunders, University of Minnesota; Harry D. Sawyer, LSU; Joseph E. Sedberry, Jr., LSU; James L. Stayton, Jr.,

Hetherwick And Stinson Named VPs

John A. Dixon, Shreveport lawyer and 1940 graduate of Centenary College, has been elected president of the Alumni Association for 1949-50, it was announced following a mail ballot concluded Sept. 15.

Gilbert Hetherwick, '42, and Edna Earle (Richardson) Stinson, '39, were elected first and second vice president, respectively. Norma Stewart, '44, was elected secretary; and Dudley Beene, '47, was elected treasurer.

Ten directors were selected for the Association's board. They are: for one-year terms, Algie Brown, '34; Flavia Leary, '35; Theron Brown, '29; Mary Foster Peyton, '43; and John Shuey, '38; for two-year terms, Walter Hohman, '38; G. W. Pomeroy, '26; Ann Cargil See, '36; John Carstarphen, '37; and George Baird, Jr., '34.

Since his graduation in 1940, President Dixon has taught school at Tallulah, served with the parachute infantry in Europe, taken a law degree with honors at Tulane University, and gone into law practice in Shreveport. He is married to the former Miss Imogene Shipley of Hindsville, Ark., and the Dixons live in Shreveport.

College Plans "Year of Service"

Centenary College is planning a year of service for high schools and civic clubs in Shreveport and the Ark-La-Tex area, it was announced recently by S. D. Morehead, co-ordinator of the program.

Dr. Morehead stated that plans for the "year of service" have not yet been completed, but that in general the program would be developed along two phases. The college is preparing a speaker and program bureau to send Centenary faculty, administration, and students to high schools and clubs with speeches and programs in fields and subjects of general interest.

As a twin feature of the "year of service" program, the college plans to invite high school, college, and civic groups to the campus for business, professional, academic, and religious meets. Among such meets that have already been scheduled is a Miss-La. mathematics conference scheduled for March. Tentative plans are being considered for other meets in the fields of journalism, speech, drama, home economics, commerce, music, and science.

A roster of speakers and programs is being compiled at the college now and will be distributed to high schools and civic groups sometime this semester.

BULLETIN OF CENTENARY COLLEGE OF LOUISIANA

Vol. 2 OCTOBER, 1949 No. 10

Published five times a year in February, March, May, August and October by Centenary College, Shreveport, La.

This Is 125th Year

This is Centenary's 125th year of service. It is a good year to make plans to get back to the campus—or out to the campus—to see what is going on in your school. Like a certain make of car, Centenary's best claim to success in education lies in the "man who owns one." As the possessor of a Centenary education, you are in everything you do a boost or a knock for your school. If you feel that your years at Centenary were valuable for you, look at the old home grounds again and see if they can be valuable to you.

Social Groups Complete Fall Rush Activities

Centenary's four social fraternities and four social sororities completed their rush activities for the fall early this month with over 100 students accepting bids.

The sororities, which completed their rush activities the first week of school in September, had 38 girls join. One bid was accepted to Alpha Omicron, 12 to Chi Omega, 15 to Zeta Tau Alpha, and 10 to Alpha Xi Delta.

The fraternities, who did not complete their rush activities until Oct. 4, had 71 men join. Kappa Alpha had 18 pledges; Kappa Sigma 20; Lambda Chi Alpha 23; and Pi Kappa Alpha 10.

Where Are They Living Now?

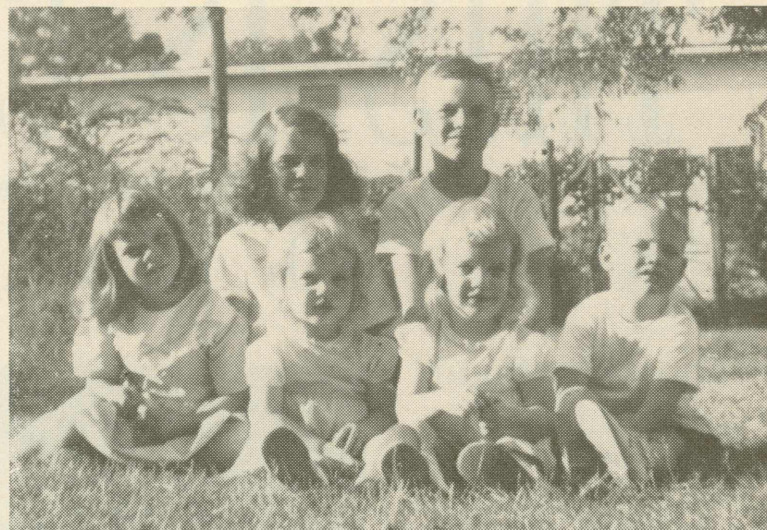

Sixty-two Centenary alumni have gone astray, according to the U. S. mail carriers, who toted back the last issue of "This Is Centenary" to the alumni office with the remark "Address Unknown."

They are: Bertha Alford, Colfax, Texas; Preston Allison, Texarkana, Texas; Anna Marie Barlow, New York city; Emelius G. Barnard, Jackson, Miss.; Ben F. Grads On Centenary Faculty

Two Centenary grads—Mrs. Camp Flournoy (Carolyn Clay, '45) and Edgar E. Burks, '42, joined the college faculty this fall to swell the faculty-alumni group by two. Mrs. Flournoy is teaching journalism, and Mr. Burks is teaching education and psychology.

Their addition swells to 13 the number of Centenary grads listed on the faculty in the 1948-49 catalogue. The other Centenarians on the faculty are: Otha King Miles, on the faculty since 1943; W. Darrell Overdyke, since 1934; Don Brown, since 1934; William P. Fraser, since 1947; Robert Moody, since 1945; Ora V. Warson, since 1946; Amanda Wilson, since 1933; Frances Mary Perkins, since 1947; Mary Frances Smith, since 1941; Thomas Richardson, since 1945; Katherine Turner, since 1948.

Centenary grads do a multitude of duties on the campus. Dr. Miles is in education and psychology; Dr. Overdyke is in history; Don Brown is in art; Mr. Fraser is the newly appointed head of department of Biblical literature; Mr. Moody is in chemistry; Mr. Watson is in sociology; Miss Wilson is in commerce; Miss Perkins is in music; Miss Smith is librarian; Mr. Richardson is business manager; and Miss Turner is dean of women.

What Is Three Cents?

Three cents will not buy a new house, a new suit, a new car. Three pennies don't even jingle enough to give a boy of six a sense of wealth.

Three cents, however, is all it takes to mail alumni news to us. If you have ever been curious to know what has happened to your old friends, you can be equally sure others want to know what has happened to you. Write us frequently, please.

Dean Smith Won't Say Quit; Teaching Bible Evenings

After 50 years of teaching, most men would welcome retirement. But not so for Dean Robert E. Smith, whom alumni classes 1920 through 1950 will remember as keyman in a variety of teaching and administrative positions at the college.

He went to Centenary in 1920, first as a teacher, then as a dean, then as head of the department of Biblical literature, and since 1945 he has held an emeritus rank with the college.

Last spring Dean Smith went into official retirement. Mrs. Smith turned over the gardening duties at their Stephenson street home in Shreveport to him; he continued with his religious work; he continued with his study; he continued with his writing.

Those duties alone should be enough to keep any normal man busy enough to cry for an assistant, but not Dean Smith. This fall he took on a course in Bible at the college's evening division, and every Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7 to 8:30, the venerable Dean with his unaging wit and ever-growing wisdom meets his classes for Bible 101.

Katherine Turner, class of '47, has been catching the education limelight this month. At 22 she is probably the youngest dean of women in the United States. Katherine finished at Centenary summa cum laude in '47; took her master's from Northwestern in August, 1948; started at Centenary as assistant dean of students in September, 1948, and this fall began her career as America's youngest dean of women.

Choir Announces November Concerts

Alumni, students, and friends of Centenary will get an opportunity—in fact five opportunities—to see the Centenary famed choir in action during November, it was announced by A. C. Voran, director.

On Nov. 6—In the afternoon at the Winnfield, La., Methodist Church.

In the evening at the Trout, La., Methodist Church.

On Nov. 14—At the Shreveport Municipal Auditorium, sponsored by the Lion's club.

On Nov. 22—Christmas carols at the Shreveport courthouse, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

On Nov. 20—In the evening at the First Baptist Church in Shreveport.

Schwartz of '49 To Read Paper

A scholarly paper—the result of study and research by two alumni and one Centenary student—was read at the regional meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists at a meeting of that organization in Biloxi, Miss., Oct. 12-14.

The paper, entitled "Surface and Sub-surface Correlation of the Wilcox Foundation," was prepared by Donelson A. Robertson, '49, now a graduate assistant in geology at the University of Illinois; Charles M. Schwartz, '49, now with the Union Oil Co. of California at Jackson, Miss.; and Arthur H. Trowbridge, a senior at Centenary this year.

The work covered in the paper was made on study done by the three in the area south of Shreveport.
